Dutch Retreat; Germans Cut Off North Holland

ROOSEVELT AIDS ALLIED SEIZURE OF DUTCH ISLES

Helps Bring War to American Sphere.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Consequences of the German invasion of the Netherlands and Belgium have served to disclose the effectiveness with which the Roosevelt administration is supporting measures adopted by Great Britain and France for the prosecution of the war.

Arrow locates Dutch islands in proximity to Panama Canal.

In both the Atlantic and Pacific sectors the President is pursuing the policies that the British government deems most helpful at the moment to further the cause of the destruction of Hitlerism which no one has more closely at heart than has Mr. Roosevelt.

British Public Impatient.

Impatience is being manifested by a portion of the British public with American public sentiment opposing participation of the United States in the war again to "make the world safe for democracy." The same type of British mind that coined the term "Uncle Shylock" in exasperation at the suggestion that Britain pay her war debt to America is now wisecracking that "the next war will be between the yellow countries: Japan and the United States."

The President is well aware, however, that this is not the attitude of responsible Britishers. The British government, kept informed by Lord Lothian, the keenest mind that has operated at the British embassy in many a day, is well aware of the state of public opinion in the United States and doesn't expect us to go into the war as the situation now shapes itself.

Point to Island Occupation.

It realizes that America will not go in unless public opinion undergoes a great change as the result of future developments in the war or of such influences as are being quietly exerted by Mr. Roosevelt and Lord Lothian.

The latest demonstration of the support the President is giving to British and French policy affecting America was afforded by the incident of British occupation of the Dutch islands in the West Indies. British and French warships yesterday landed armed forces at the Dutch islands of Curacao and Aruba, ostensibly to prevent German submarines or other warships or German nationals ashore from destroying the oil refineries. The British obtain a large percentage of their oil from these islands.

Approved by Administration.

The seizure of the islands by the allied empires followed a consultation with the Roosevelt administration which readily gave its approval of the move. The British and French sought our consent because these islands are within America's immediate sphere of influence and command the approach to the Panama canal and because there was involved a question of possible violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Under the terms of the Monroe Doctrine the United States would not tolerate the acquisition or occupation of any additional territory on the American continents by a non-American nation. A change of ownership of any American territory from one non-American nation to another would be a clear violation of the Monroe Doctrine. To forestall the occupation of the Danish West Indies by Germany during the world war the Wilson administration bought the islands from Denmark for 25 million dollars.

The British and French governments assured the Roosevelt adminis-

French Forbid Sports in Open; Fear Air Raids

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 12.—To prevent the gathering of large crowds in the open, where they might become easy targets for German airplanes, the ministry of interior today forbade all sporting events in France except those which are held indoors. In consequence, the fashionable Whitsun horse races, which attract thousands of spectators to Longchamp each year, were canceled.

Until further notice this decree prohibits all gatherings in the open air whether political, athletic or what not. Scores of football games were thus called off. "These safety measures are both urgent and indispensable and are taken because of the risks from the air," it was explained.

Early Closing Hours.

All cafés, restaurants, theaters, dance halls and motion picture houses must close their doors at 11 o'clock from now on, according to an order issued by the military governor of Paris. Formerly they were permitted to remain open until midnight.

Additional "thou shalt nots" to be observed by Parisians during air raid alarms were announced by Roger Langeron, prefect of police. They include walking on the public highway "except for the performance of a special mission"; congregating in the streets or on café terraces, and stationing oneself before apartment windows, as many Parisians do in the hope of seeing the excitement.

Customs Barrier Lowered.

For the benefit of refugees from Luxemburg, Belgium and Holland, the customs frontier between these countries and France was virtually abolished today, according to the terms of a decree issued by the ministry of finance.

Such refugees will not be required to pay tariff duties upon goods and property which they bring into France. Further, the restrictions as to the importation of gold bank notes and currency were suspended temporarily for the refugees' benefit.

In ordinary times tomorrow—Whitmonday—would be a holiday thruout France, but with the nation at war the French government has expressed the wish that all persons, except school children, remain on the job as usual.

British Seize 3,000 Germans and Austrians; Fear 'Chute Invasion

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—The spy scare which has gripped Britain since the German invasion of Belgium and Holland resulted today in a lightning manhunt and the internment of 3,000 Germans and Austrians living in the eastern half of the country.

At the same time, every other alien—neutral or friendly—in the area, which includes 29 counties extending from the Isle of Wight in the south to Moray Firth, northeast Scotland, in the north, became liable to daily curfew and other drastic restrictions. London only in this area was excepted.

These measures, aimed at possible fifth column activities in Britain, were announced by Sir John Anderson, home secretary.

Special Permission.

Every male Austrian and German between 16 and 60 years of age in the affected area was believed rounded up by midday. Henceforth, no enemy alien may enter the zone without special permission from the home secretary. All other male aliens, even if they are citizens of an allied nation, now must report to the police every day. They are forbidden to use bicycles or automobiles and must remain indoors between the hours of 8 p. m. and 6 a. m.

The roundup of German and Austrians was carried out on secret orders issued last night. Many of those seized were routed from their beds.

The British public daily is becoming more conscious of the danger of a parachute invasion by German troops. Arrangements to combat such forces should they land have been speedily put into effect.

Mobile Units Formed.

Thousands of small mobile military units, capable of rushing to threatened spots in trucks, and cars with rifles, machine guns, and grenades, have been formed. The war office also was reported to have drawn up a scheme for sending light tanks to any part of the country to deal with invaders.

The suggestion that British world war veterans should set up an anti-parachute brigade was made by Maj. Gen. Sir Frederick Maurice, president, at the annual conference of the British Legion today. "I am certain," he said, "that if the Germans would like to send their parachutists over here the British Legion would undertake to look after them."

Churchill Completes Cabinet.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—Winston Churchill, Britain's new prime minister, today completed organization of his "win the war" cabinet and then took it to Buckingham palace to be sworn in by King George VI.

Churchill sent the veteran Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, to the house of lords as lord chancellor, replacing Viscount Caldecote. Simons' appointment necessitates his retirement from the house of commons and acceptance of a peerage.

Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, was named minister of information to replace Sir John Reith.

Sir Kingsley Wood, who had been air minister and then lord privy seal, was named chancellor of the exchequer to replace Simon. Laborite Herbert Morrison was made minister of supply, replacing Leslie Burgin.

Named Colonial Secretary.

Lord Lloyd, 60 year old expert on foreign affairs, was named colonial secretary, replacing Malcolm MacDonald, who is being mentioned for appointment as food minister. Sir John Anderson was reappointed home secretary, and Sir Andrew Duncan was reappointed president of the board of trade.

The admiralty announced that the minelaying submarine Seal, with 55 men aboard, was overdue and presumed to be lost. The admiralty said that foreign reports suggested that some of the submarine's crew may be prisoners of war. Air raid warnings were sounded both in northern Scotland and northern Ireland when unidentified planes were sighted, but no bombs were dropped in either instance.

BERLIN, May 12 (AP).—All restaurants will cease serving at 11 o'clock at night, starting Tuesday, it was announced today. BRITISH, FRENCH TROOPS ENTER FIGHTING LINES

Netherlands Flyers Bomb Invaders.

BULLETIN.

New York, May 13, Monday (AP).—A French newscast picked up by NBC early today said at least 30 were killed and many wounded during a morning bombardment of Amsterdam. The report said four heavy bombs landed in the center of the city. Previously, there had been 10 air raid alarms, but no bombs were dropped.

AMSTERDAM, May 13, Monday (AP).—The fighting Dutch, mopping up "Trojan horse" traitors and Nazi parachute troops in the interior, fell back in central and southern Holland today before the merciless German pounding which carried Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg veterans across the Maas and Ijssel rivers and deeper into the northern Netherlands provinces.

The Dutch high command acknowledged these reverses in a communique which said the Germans had made their way over the Maas [Meuse] and Ijssel rivers "at various points."

But, the high command added, French troops are fighting the enemy in East Brabant to the south and earlier reports said 20,000 British troops had been fed into the land and flood water defenses of the Dutch.

French dispatches called the German drive "the greatest attack in history," but expressed confidence it could be checked now that the main allied forces were entering the lines.

Dutch Bomb Troops.

The advancing Germans were being bombed by Dutch planes and fresh parachute troops landed in the interior have been "overcome," the communique added.

The Dutch command failed to give the extent of the withdrawal from the frontier lines, but it said that the troops have been "partly withdrawn."

The main part of Rotterdam, the Dutch said, was absolutely in their hands after fighting with the Germans there Saturday, and the bridge over the Maas [Meuse] river, in Rotterdam, likewise was in the hands of home forces.

Clean Up Amsterdam.

Authorities went to work yesterday to clean up Amsterdam with a vengeance. While a sabotaged air raid siren system howled crazily and repeatedly and saboteurs created a water shortage, police and troops rounded up many hundreds of persons in an overnight search which covered every street and building in this city of 800,000. Firing occurred in several sections as soldiers searched houses for parachute troops or fifth columnists.

Hundreds of persons were seized and the high command announced that every house from which shots are fired will be smashed to pieces with shells.

It was reported that Germans, disguised in the flowing black robes and flat hats of Dutch clergymen, had entered Amsterdam in a car.

In The Hague things were quiet

ARM OUR ARMY AT ONCE
(An Editorial)

Perhaps there are Americans who think they have something tangible to show for the 8½ billion dollars spent on national defense in the last 10 years. They are wrong. If our army were to be subjected to such a test as the armies of Europe are meeting today we should suffer a defeat which would be as prompt as it would be ignominious and humiliating.

Little Belgium is far better prepared to meet an invader than we are. We couldn't stand off a first class power on land for a week. We have a population of 130 millions and the greatest industrial organization the world has ever known, but our factories could not begin to produce the necessary supplies for an army in a year and by that time they would not be our factories.

An overstatement? An exaggeration? Well, an army needs rifles. The sluggish minds of the ordnance department finally decided 30 years too late that an automatic rifle was desirable. We ought to have equipment for half a million men, at least. The army staff, in fact, is reckoning on an army of a million at the start of a war. We haven't enough of the new rifles to keep even a division supplied with them. At last reports there were fewer than 8,000 of the guns available and the quantity is being increased by no more than a few hundred a month. It is still far from certain that the new gun is nearly as good as the burocrats say it is, but whether it is good or not so good, this country didn't get a supply of modern rifles for its 8½ billions.

Our lack of modern artillery is even more appalling. Practically speaking, we haven't any. Such cannon as we have would be outranged and put out of action in a few days if not in a few hours of such fighting as is now being seen in Europe. We didn't get artillery for our 8½ billions.

In antiaircraft weapons our deficiency is even more glaring. We have about 50 high grade guns of 3 inch caliber which were obsolete before they were issued. We have perhaps a dozen modern weapons of heavier caliber. And that's all. We didn't get antiaircraft defense for our 8½ billions.

If there is anything to be learned from the war in Europe it is the military value of airplanes. In this department we are hopelessly outclassed. The army today has only 2,700 planes and of these all but 52 large bombers are regarded as obsolete. They would have been all right in the last war or even five years ago, but they would be outfought by the speedier and better armed types which are now flying over Belgium and Holland. We didn't get an air force for our 8½ billions.

And so it goes. Perhaps we have enough flags and bugles, but we are woefully short of arms and much of what we have is so inferior in quality as to be negligible. As matters stand today, we are a pushover for any first class military power which can effect a landing on our shores.

There is, of course, the navy, but nobody can feel certain that it is able to withstand the kind of punishment which a navy must take in the 1940 kind of war. It may well be true that most of it is obsolete and that the cost of rebuilding the ships to meet modern weapons of attack would be so great as to warrant scrapping the whole fleet and starting anew.

A distrust of the designers and builders of our ships appears to be shared by the secretary of the navy himself. Mr. Edison permitted himself to say the other day that he would like to get some civilian brains to assist in the planning of the ships. He could use some, too, in supervising construction in the hope that endless delays would be avoided.

In the world in which we live our country should be strong. In fact, it is grotesquely weak, unprepared, wholly unequal to the tasks which a cautious diplomacy would impose upon it, and our diplomacy is not cautious.

We have paid a fabulous price for next to nothing. We issue grandiose proclamations telling the rest of the world what to do and what not to do, but we haven't the means to enforce our will and we are at the mercy of any first class nation which calls for a showdown.

The situation demands prompt and thorogoing correction. The monopoly of the ordnance officers and the navy constructors should be broken. The army and navy should tell the manufacturers of this country what it wants by way of performance and then leave it to the engineering brains of the country to devise the weapons and to the industries of the country to build them.

The advice of competent men not on the active list should be solicited not occasionally but constantly, and followed. Such men as Rickenbacker, Lindbergh, and Al Williams have repeatedly warned the army and navy of the extent and power of the German air force, but the warning was long unheeded. In truth these three men and a few more like them have more knowledge and experience in the field of aviation than is possessed by the entire burocracy and their judgment and advice are correspondingly valuable. In common sense their recommendations should be set up as a guide. Otherwise we shall continue to spend immense sums for planes and still be unready for war.

America is unprepared and each day finds us falling further behind. We are rich, and fat, and feeble. The confidence of congress in the ability of our armed services to provide us with an adequate apparatus of defense has been misplaced. The time has come for a radical shaking up and shaking out of the uniformed burocracy in Washington. The national danger can be averted only if an aroused country demands from the playboy in the White House the housecleaning which is long overdue.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—The German invasion of Holland and Belgium is proceeding with striking similarity to the invasion of Belgium in 1914, but this time, the Germans asserted tonight, Germany will be the ultimate victor.

The Germans announced that they hold all of northern Holland—from the German border to the eastern shore of the Zuider Zee [Ijsselmeer] and to the North sea at Harlingen. From Harlingen a main road leads to Amsterdam.

The Germans reported they have taken over all of the grand duchy of Luxemburg.

Furthermore, the Germans reported they have broken thru the strong Belgian defense line between Hasselt and Maastricht to the north of Liege.

[Belgian sources admitted the German penetration of the Hasselt-Maastricht line, saying the Germans had reached Waremme, 13 miles to the rear of Liege, in a flanking movement.]

"Important Beginning."

The Hasselt-Maastricht line was part of the elaborate Belgian fortified zone between Liege and Antwerp of which the Albert canal is the backbone. The Germans hailed the reported breach as an "important beginning."

With German assault divisions reported crashing thru the main Dutch and Belgian lines of resistance at breathtaking speed, the Germans declared their forces had advanced a step toward winning "the greatest battle the world ever saw."

In the drive on the flank of Liege, the Germans said they had broken Belgian resistance "with the help of new weapons." It was at Liege that Germany's 42 centimeter [16½ inch] gun was first brought into action in 1914. Now the Germans assert that they have not only new weapons, but that they are confident the tactics they evolved in the campaigns in Spain, Poland, and Norway "will spell victory for us."

Bases Nearer England.

The Germans hope that if they succeed in fighting thru to the Dutch and Belgian coasts at lightning like speed, "England," as Nazis said, "will realize that her position has become untenable with German planes able to take off from airfields in Belgium and Holland which would be less than 100 miles from England." Germans assert the British then will have to come to terms with Germany.

In their rapid progress the German armies have been assisted by the huge German air force which is being thrown wholesale into the battle. The Germans claim to have destroyed approximately 700 allied planes since the invasion began on May 10.

The Germans assert that their guns have hitherto unimagined penetrative power and can pierce even the thickest concrete walls or armored plates.

"For five years we sacrificed our comfort for the fatherland and preferred guns to butter. We now are reaping our harvest," high Nazis said.

Threat to Maginot Line.

DNB, the official German news agency, quoted authoritative military quarters as declaring the new weapons "might put the alleged impregnability of the Maginot line in a different light."

In Holland, the Germans asserted, the progress of their forces has been so rapid that "the orderly retreat of the main Dutch forces is highly endangered." The Dutch were said to be feverishly preparing positions to

CIVILIANS FLEE BRUSSELS; FOE 45 MILES AWAY

British and French Troops Pour In to Aid.

BRUSSELS, May 12 (AP).—There was a general exodus under way tonight from Brussels. Many persons left in comfortable cars, others trudged on foot or rode on trucks. The authorities, however, controled the roads to France to permit an unceasing march of English and French troops into Belgium.

A German blitzkrieg spearhead flanking the fortress city of Liege blasted its way to a point 13 miles to the rear of the city itself today before it was halted by Belgian soldiers entrenched in second line positions, Belgium's premier acknowledged tonight in a report to his invaded nation.

Declare Advance Stopped.

The Germans have been stopped near Waremme, 20 miles southwest of the Dutch border at Maastricht and about 45 miles east of Brussels, Premier Hubert Pierlot declared.

[British and French troops, it was announced in Paris and London, are advancing thru central Belgium according to schedule. It was said they had "gained the advantage in initial encounters with the Germans." Concerning the German attack across Luxemburg and into Belgium, Paris sources said the Germans attacked heavily to the north of Neufchateau, Belgium, thru the Belgian Ardennes. Heavy fighting is still going on there. The Neufchateau sector is north across the border from the French defense point Montmedy. The Neufchateau attack was seen as part of a move to encircle Liege.]

Pierlot told the hard pressed Belgians that their troops were successfully resisting new German attacks north and east of the Albert canal after being driven back from some first line defenses along the waterway.

Field of German Corpses.

"In spite of many [frontal] attacks against the fortifications of Liege, the enemy is unable to make any advance," Pierlot said. Approaches to the east of the vast Liege forts are "covered with German corpses," he added.

The Germans who reached Waremme first blasted a hole in the Albert canal forts just outside Maastricht. They reached Maastricht by cutting across the Dutch "appendix province" of South Limburg. The Albert canal forts are the northern extension of the Liege zone, and the ones opposite Maastricht are about 15 miles north of Liege itself.

Faced with losses admittedly terrible, the government prepared for the eventuality of flight from Brussels, but decided to stay for now. Thousands of refugees from outlying areas were pouring into the capital, while others were leaving the city.

Many Alarms in Brussels.

With Brussels subjected to numerous air alarms during the day, Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said the government as yet "seriously doesn't dream" of leaving the capital.

Spaak told a press conference the situation was "stabilized," even in the worst part of the front.

Fighting continued fiercely in the new positions, the Belgian war communique reported tonight, with the defenders "standing their ground in spite of the action of the armored units supported by aircraft which attacked our columns on the ground."

That the French troops now are in the front lines with their new Belgian allies was revealed in the communique.

"A French counterattack against the enemy motorized units was successful," it said. "A great number of enemy tank. was destroyed."

Repulse Troops in Boats.

"One attempt to cross the [Albert] canal by means of boats failed owing to the fire of our defense," the communique said.

It was not reported where this attempt was repulsed, but the Germans already had crossed the Albert canal, Belgium's first line of defense, at least at Maastricht and perhaps elsewhere.

The advance unit which pushed to the southwest from Maastricht thru Tongres [Tongeren] to Waremme had crossed the canal in the Maastricht sector.

Premier Pierlot said the advance unit had fought its way thru Tongres despite fierce resistance "and in the evening were standing near Waremme."

Pierlot's war report was punctuated by the shriek of an air raid alarm. The Belgian capital had been attacked six times from the air during the morning before he spoke, and in Louvain, to the east of Brussels, air alarms came every ten minutes.

Antwerp was heavily attacked from the air yesterday and a large number of casualties was reported.

New masses of parachute troops were dropped during the night, many carrying dummies to throw the defenders off their guard. They also carried miniature radios. Some fell in the royal park.

Hardly a community was left untouched as German planes worked incessantly for a lightning cleanup of the area between Antwerp and Brussels.

The Belgian people were called upon to give blood for transfusions as military and civilian casualties mounted.

In what he called a frank and truthful account of the military situation, Premier Pierlot said the Germans were unable to penetrate on any considerable scale on Friday, when the Blitzkrieg began, because of "thoro demolitions immediately carried out."

Key Officer Is Killed.

Saturday, he said, the Germans crossed the Albert canal. The officer in charge of the destruction of two bridges near Maastricht was killed by an aerial bomb and the second in command hesitated to carry out the prearranged orders.

During the interval, Pierlot said, German motorized units streamed across the bridges.

Later, a Belgian officer in a suicide dash thru the German lines blew up himself and one bridge.

British Engage Germans.

LONDON, May 13 [Monday] (AP).—A communique issued by the British general headquarters early this morning said that British troops advancing into Belgium had made contact with the German forces and gained the advantage in initial encounters. The communique said:

"The successful advance of the British expeditionary force into Belgium in conjunction with the French forces is continuing as planned. Minor encounters between our cavalry [motorized forces] and the enemy have ended to our advantage."

The air ministry reported that 45 German planes have been shot down since Saturday morning and that "it can be safely assumed that as many again have been destroyed or damaged."

Damage Rails and Roads.

The ministry also said German railway communications have been interrupted by British air fighters and that "important road and railway damage also was caused in Germany between the Rhine and the Dutch frontier, including damage to supply trains and a railway station."

Earlier reports from correspondents with the British air force told how Britain's Blenheim bombers hammered German troop concentrations in dawn raids in Belgium.

Thirty-five British planes so far have failed to return, but some are known to have made forced landings in Belgium and France, it was said.

the rear for the reception of retreating forces."

The Germans claimed that two of Holland's most important defense lines were pierced by German divisions. One of these was said to be the Peel line which stretches along the Maas [Meuse] river from Nijmegen on the north to Roermond in the south. Thus the formidable barrier formed by the Maas river was reported completely overcome.

Smash Ijssel River Line.

The other defense line said to have been pierced was the Grebbe line. It runs roughly in a westerly direction from Amersfoort, south of the Zuider Zee to Rhenen. The German assault divisions penetrating thru this line thus were claimed to have smashed the Dutch defense line formed by the Ijssel river. It was said the German thrust here has carried her troops to within a few miles of Utrecht.

Approximately 5,000 Dutch border troops which sought to hold up the German advance on Friday were taken prisoner, it was announced.

In northern Holland, the German troops were said to have walked right thru the provinces of Groningen and Friesland until they reached the Zuider Zee and Harlingen. This part of Holland has no fortifications worth speaking of, nor is it protected by floodable areas.

Penetrate Fortified Zone.

In Belgium, the German troops were stated to have "penetrated deep into the forefield of the fortresses of Liege," after one of its strongest outlying forts, Eben Emael, surrendered to the Germans on Saturday.

In the southernmost sector of the Belgian front, the German forces which crossed Luxemburg were said to have crossed the Ourthe river. They were said to be attacking in the direction of the Semoy river, which runs approximately parallel to the Franco-Belgian border, and behind which lies the formidable French bridgehead of Montmedy. It was not mentioned whether German forces met French troops in that area.

Despite the furious bombing and aerial fighting since the invasion of the Low Countries began, no enemy planes have been sighted over Berlin and there have been no air alarms here.

However, with unabating fury, thousands of German warplanes of all types continue their attacks on allied forces on land, sea and in the air. Wave after wave of the dread dive bombers hurl their deadly missiles against the Dutch and Belgian fortifications while low flying raiders machine gun allied marching columns, troop concentrations, and positions.

Raid Foes' Airfields.

Again and again scores of German bombers have raided French, Dutch, and Belgian air fields, bridges, and railway lines. Other bombing squadrons are reported to have inflicted further heavy losses on the allied fleet in the North sea and on the Dutch coast.

German troop transport planes escorted by German pursuit planes are busy carrying troops and supplies of all kinds to the isolated groups which have been landed on a number of Dutch and Belgian air fields.

This morning alone the Germans claimed to have shot down in air combats 58 allied planes, including 20 British Spitfire fighters.

BRUSSELS HEARS THUNDER OF GUNS, MANY AIR ALARMS

Refugees Stream In from Frontier Provinces.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 12.—Belgium was in a difficult situation today, with the Germans making gigantic and frantic air assaults to prevent the allies from bringing up assistance.

In Brussels the muffled explosions of distant cannonading were heard during the day. These blasts were said to come from heavy artillery shells being fired from the second, or Rocade, Belgian line somewhere between the Scheldt and Meuse [Maas] rivers. This line covers all approaches from the west.

The Belgians are rallying to close the gaps made in their lines by the first big shock of the German invasion. Bombing from the air has been general and heavy all over the country and the list of civilian victims was expected to be large.

Louvain Hit by Bombs.

Among the places which suffered badly from the air were Liege and Louvain as well as other districts near Brussels. Alarms have been frequent in the capital.

There were eleven air raid alarms in Brussels between 4 a. m. and 10 a. m. today. Each one was followed by the sound of heavy explosions and the plump of exploding antiaircraft shells.

Travelers coming into the city said that all roads leading to Brussels are targets of the blasting. The same is true along the Louvain-Liege highway an one motorist from the French border reported heavy bombing at Tournai and Charleroi.

It is now clear that the Germans are using the same general tactics in Belgium as they adopted for their Polish campaign—a systematic air coverage of the entire country in an effort to break up troop concentrations, disrupt transport and public services, and to demoralize the population.

Initial Drive Terrific.

Unofficial reports here told of the whirlwind which broke loose on Belgian soldiers in the Maastricht sector. It is reported that 400 bombers attacked at once on a narrow front, pounding at the Belgian lines with high explosives, machine gunning and grenading trenches and other defense works.

This attack was followed, as in Poland, by masses of tanks. It appears that the full weight of the German drive is being put on Belgium, notably along the Albert canal toward Liege and in the Belgian province of Luxemburg.

Refugees from the fighting areas are pouring thru Brussels in increasing numbers. They presented the same melancholy spectacle as in Poland—bewildered, simple people dragging along children and the few belongings they were able to tie up in sheets or other large pieces of cloth.

Most of them have come from the zones only a few miles from the battle lines. It is estimated more than 200,000 of them are on the move. In a number of instances German bombers swooped low over roads near Brussels and machine gunned automobiles.

COL. BECK, POLISH EX-MINISTER, WILL STAY IN RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 12.—Col. Josef Beck, former Polish foreign minister, returned to Brashov today and has resumed his internment. It was reported yesterday that he was leaving Rumania, presumably for France, and there are conflicting stories about the cause of his change of plans. It is generally assumed that German pressure was exerted, but it is known that the Polish government in France expressed disapproval of the proposed trip.

HITLER'S SECRET WEAPON MAY BE KEY TO VICTORY

Conquest of Fort Has the Experts Guessing.

BERLIN, May 12 (AP).—An amazing secret weapon, or "Angriffsmittel," by use of which the German high command says its airforce subdued Fort Eben Emael, one of the strongest in the Liege-Albert canal defense zone of Belgium, tonight had foreign observers conjecturing as to whether Adolf Hitler has found the tool with which to win the war.

A handful of airmen evidently landed by use of this weapon in the center of the fort, if official news agency reports can be interpreted correctly, and the surrender of a thousand bewildered Belgians ensued.

What was it? No one who knew would tell—but here are three guesses heard tonight:

1. The mysterious bomb which the Germans are credited with using in Barcelona during the Spanish civil war, one projectile exploding square blocks.

A Flame Thrower?

2. An unchallengeable flame thrower.

3. A secret device magnetically, or otherwise, to render guns or ammunition impotent.

The high command and other official sources, naturally, declined comment.

It is known, however, that the fortress is a high walled block of masonry at the juncture of the Maas [Meuse] river and the Albert canal, on the Dutch-Belgian border near Maastricht.

It bristles with light, heavy, and antiaircraft guns.

It is about a mile in circumference with an open court perhaps 600 to 800 yards in diameter.

Here, DNB indicated, the little air detachment under one Lieut. Witzig landed, employing the mysterious weapon, and made the powerful fortress an easy mark for the attacking column from the north. It swarmed in.

Said DNB: "Lieut. Witzig steered his machine into the center of the fort area. After immeasurable surprise and despite heavy defense measures, a thousand Belgians were taken prisoner."

"Nerve Gas" Mentioned.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 12 (AP).—Neutral military attachés to Switzerland, who handle much of the war's military information, reported today that the "new weapon" which Germans used to capture the powerful Belgian fort of Eben Emael and break thru the Albert canal line was believed by them to be "nerve gas."

Some such gas is known to have been developed in Germany and studied elsewhere in recent months. It affects the nerves of those inhaling it and brings lassitude and inability to coördinate the muscles, these sources said.

Discussed by Americans.

New York, May 12.—One chemical which may be similar to the "nerve gas" reportedly used by Germans has been discussed by American chemists. It is acetyl choline—a compound that appears naturally in the human body. It plays a part in the work of the nerves when they transmit impulses to the muscles.

When a little acetyl choline is placed in a scratch in the skin, it causes speedy unconsciousness. This kind of use of acetyl choline, it was suggested at the meeting of the American Chemical society two years ago, would make a soldier unconscious for as much as one hour. But he would recover without any bad effects.

AUDIT DEMANDED ON HUGE OUTLAYS FOR U. S. DEFENSE

Lawmakers in Challenge to High Commands.

Washington, D. C., May 12 (AP).—Army and navy requests for multi-million dollar increases in next year's budgets led some members of congress to demand today that the services give an accounting of the billions spent for military and naval purposes in the last few years.

There also was increasing speculation that congress might remain in session continuously as the result of the Nazi invasion of Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg.

Representative Patrick H. Drewry [D., Va.] expressed his belief that the lawmakers will not be able to adjourn while the European war continues. He suggested they may only recess for the national political conventions, instead of quitting in advance of them, as originally planned.

Fear Reflection on Roosevelt.

Republicans previously had proposed that there be no adjournment this year, but Democratic leaders had been cool to the idea for fear it would be construed as evidence of a lack of faith in the ability of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull to conduct foreign affairs alone.

Many members still assume that congress will adjourn sometime before the 1941 session begins next January.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] told reporters that taxpayers are entitled to a "comprehensive and exhaustive survey" of national defense machinery. He proposed that when congress adjourns, it leave behind a committee to delve into defense deficiencies and make recommendations on which the legislators might act at the next session.

Demands Official Explanation.

La Follette said he is "willing to support any appropriation that is demonstrated as necessary for our national defenses," but that congress and the country should receive "an explanation for the sudden claims of deficiency by both the army and navy despite the huge appropriations that have been granted."

The senator added that he referred to recent testimony by war department officials that the army is woefully lacking in such critical equipment as antiaircraft batteries, anti-tank guns, and other supplies for its initial protective force.

Expressing a similar viewpoint, Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] said "I think it is up to the army to account for the expenditure of the funds."

Backs "Reasonable" Requests.

Belief that the administration will find strong congressional support for any "reasonable" requests for additional defense funds was expressed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.].

On the other hand, Senator Clyde M. Reed [R., Kan.] said he thought that "a lot of eminent men, including some senators, are losing their heads and sense of balance over national defense." He contended that the end of the European war will find all participants so exhausted that there will be little, if any, possibility of attack on the United States.

Recommendations for an expansion of the army air force were expected to form an important part of a report scheduled to be laid before the senate military appropriations subcommittee considering the $785,000,000 army supply bill tomorrow by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

DEFENSE IN U. S. LIKE PAPER DOLL, SAYS LAWMAKER

Lyons, N. J., May 12 [Special].—Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.], a member of the house military affairs committee and of the Dies committee, asserted today that the United States, with "its paper doll defense," is as unprepared for war today as it was in 1917. He urged every American citizen to plead for preparedness so that this country will become so well prepared "that no nation in the world will dare get into war with us."

Mr. Thomas spoke at a veterans' Hospital day celebration before 8,000 persons.

"We do not want to become embroiled in any situation which would result in our army going on the march," Thomas said. "One way to keep out of war is to build up a strong and impregnable defense. There are not as many antiaircraft guns in the whole United States and its possessions as there are in two or three large cities in Europe. It takes eight months to build mobile antiaircraft guns and almost two years to manufacture the necessary equipment for these guns.

"If one large bomber should raid Fort Monroe it would wipe out this fort, which is the main defense protecting our nation's capital. We must prepare in this country as we have never prepared before, or we will find ourselves in the same sort of a position as we were in a little over 20 years ago."

The chancellery of the American legation in The Hague was struck by nine bullets during the fighting, which finally ended with the Dutch shelling a house into which the Germans had sought refuge. Those Germans not killed in the bombardment surrendered, the Dutch said.

British Planes Active.

The British claimed wide success for their planes which Saturday attacked Dutch airdromes used by the Nazis to land troops. Waalhaven airport, near Rotterdam, was bombed the most vigorously. Fourteen of 16 German planes observed at one airport were badly damaged, the British said.

British bombers likewise struck at German roads and railways between the Rhine river and Dutch frontier, doing considerable damage, according to the British version. In all, 45 German planes have been shot down by flyers since Saturday, the British said.

RICH FOOD PRIZE AWAITS NAZIS IN LOW COUNTRIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Germany's lightning attack on Norway and Denmark not only gave her a firm strategic footing on the North sea, but also filled Nazi larders and gas tanks for months to come.

Military circles today revealed that in taking Denmark the Nazis became masters of some 3½ million head of dairy and beef cattle, which can be employed to fill the stomachs of German soldiers with something besides ersatz food.

1¼ Million in Norway.

Norway has about 1,500,000 cattle now available to the German cause. The two countries together had about one-fourth as many cattle as Germany possessed at the outbreak of the war.

In addition the Nazis seized hundreds of thousands of barrels of precious oil, which will enable their blitzkrieg engine to roll into the Low Countries and perhaps the Balkans. It was reported in military circles that Germany confiscated enough oil in Denmark alone to keep her army supplied with fuel thru the summer.

Norway was reported to have yielded even more than her Scandinavian sister, because the Norse had been arming and storing supplies against an attack which came too soon.

5 Million in Low Countries.

The Nazis have a rich prize before them in Holland. The Netherlands, which along with Denmark had been the German dairy, has almost 3,000,000 head of cattle. Belgium has another 2,000,000.

Both of the Low Countries have vast oil stores. Because of the food and oil in the nations subject to the latest German attack, military experts here believe the campaign to have been dictated by a desire to fill stomachs and keep engines going, as much as to reap military advantages.

HUNT DISGUISED AERIAL INVADERS, HOLLAND WARNED

Claim Parachute Troops Pose as Peasants.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, May 12.—Isolated from those regions in which the Dutch are defending their country, life in Amsterdam today was one of constant concern. Residents found encouragement in an official communique which said Holland's resistance is successful.

There were seven air raid alarms between 4:35 a. m. and 6 p. m. Explosions in the south indicated the Schiphol airport was the target, as it was yesterday. Those who obeyed the warnings and rushed to shelters must have spent half the time between the first alarm and the seventh at 5 p. m. in shelters or in crowds jammed together under archways or rooms whose actual security against bombs was imaginary.

Following yesterday's radio announcement that Britishers could leave, several hundred today embarked for London. They were advised they may be subject to enemy attacks by U-boats or airplanes. Most British newspapermen and photographers availed themselves of this opportunity to get home.

Mop Up Fifth Column.

Mopping of the German fifth column and its parachutist aids in The Hague, where street fighting wa sgoing on yesterday, seems to have been accomplished successfully. The city tonight was absolutely calm, according to reliable American sources which obtained telephone communication over the official wire.

All residents of the Netherlands have been warned repeatedly to be on the alert for German parachutist troops, many said to be in disguise as peasants. A broadcast communique yesterday also warned the public against the Germans residing in the Netherlands, who, it is charged, are aiding the "troops from Mars."

Captured and slain parachutists were said to have carried the addresses of Germans living near where they landed, and to have had instructions to go to these persons who would act as guides. Dutch troops were reported to have been fired on from houses in which Germans lived.

The peasant disguise of the aerial invaders was discovered when, without warning, unsuspected peasants opened fire on Dutch troops. A communique related that in one instance a soldier who was fired upon dropped to the ground as if wounded, and when his assailants came toward him he shot and killed two of them. A third ran away. In a nearby farmhouse the soldier found arms and ammunition, and later it was discovered the "peasants" were German soldiers.

Broadcast Plane Positions.

Regular broadcasts were interrupted to announce the positions, heights, and directions of enemy airplanes and also the landings of parachute troops at various places. Several of these alarms referred to Breda, about 55 miles south of Amsterdam. Local authorities were warned by radio that ammunition was being dropped in the neighborhood of Nooddorp.

Captured parachute troops, according to official quarters, revealed they had been deceived by their commanders as to the fighting qualities of Dutch soldiers. Documents containing official instructions found on them were said to state that altho the Dutchman is a good engineer and his defense positions must not be discounted, his abilities to defend them under fire are questionable.

German suspects and even many Jewish refugees, 20,000 of whom are said to be in Amsterdam and some of whom it is feared may be Nazi spies disguised as refugees, are under surveillance. Thirty thousand Germans have been arrested. Others have been ordered to remain in their homes.

Dutch civilians showed no sign of fear, only a resolute determination to fight to the last ditch. I saw no tears in the eyes of the sad spectators standing near blocked off houses where residents and passersby were killed and injured by a German bomb. It was as if their emotion was too profound for tears.

It is almost impossible to secure press credentials here. The press bureau informed me it had no right to issue them. There is no authority here to make it possible for the press to pass thru police lines.

A police station, where in a futile effort to obtain press credentials I waited more than two hours, was filled with an endless stream of refugees and persons cut off from their families, friends and homes only a short distance from here. Many were here for only a day's visit when they were caught by the surprise attack, and are unable to get word to their families.

Swiss on Guard

(Story in adjoining column.)

Heavy German troop concentrations were reported yesterday in Baden, Wurttemberg, and Bavaria, north of Switzerland's frontier. Observers saw the possibility of a drive from a line between Basel and Lake Constance thru Switzerland toward Geneva and Lyons, flanking the Maginot line.

GERMANS CLAIM AIR BOMBS SINK BIG TROOP SHIP

BERLIN, May 12 (AP).—The German air force sank a troop transport off the Netherlands coast this afternoon and set afire six other ships, DNB, the official German news agency, reported tonight.

The text of the announcement follows:

"The German air force scored an extraordinary success this afternoon against enemy ships before the Holland coast. DNB learns a large troop transport of 15,000 tons was sunk by the German air force. Six other ships burned brightly as a result of bomb hits."

Red Cross Urges Civilians Be Spared Bomb Attacks

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 12 (AP).—The International Red Cross committee tonight appealed to all belligerents in the Low Countries to refrain from bombing civil populations and from attacks "against persons who, by their inoffensive character, should not be subjected to acts of war." It also thanked President Roosevelt for his appeal on behalf of civil populations.

GERMANY MOVES TROOPS NORTH OF SWISS FRONTIER

May Be a Real Threat, or Only a Bluff.

BASEL, Switzerland, May 12 (AP).—Large troop movements in Germany north of Switzerland's frontier were reported by foreign military observers tonight, but whether they constituted a real threat or only a bluff remained a mystery.

In any case, the Swiss stood on war footing, with between 500,000 and 600,000 citizen soldiers mobilized and even Boy Scouts and aged women standing in rear guard posts.

The German troop movements observed in Baden, Württemberg, and Bavaria were reported to involve even more than the 21 army divisions reported concentrated in that area just before the German smash into the Low Countries. Twenty-one divisions would number about 294,000 men.

Route of Drive.

Some observers saw a possibility that Germany merely was holding her reserves in this region and moving in newly mobilized troops for training, but using them at the same time to force the allies to keep part of their own reserve on the eastern Jura front instead of hurling them into Belgium and Holland.

However, if the massed divisions plan real action their drive would start from a line between Basel and Lake Constance and sweep down thru Switzerland toward Geneva and Lyon, flanking the Maginot line, experts believed.

Allied forces have been reassured by the prompt Swiss defense action.

Ready for Chute Troops.

The little confederation's generalissimo, Henri Guisan, not only called every able bodied citizen between 20 and 60 to arms, but issued 40 bullets to every owner of a rifle who was not called and organized the Swiss to repulse parachute troops and crush possible fifth column action.

Japanese Army Reported Routed in Central China

CHUNGKING, China, May 12 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman said today Japanese lines had collapsed and been broken into small units wildly retreating in central China, in the Honan and Hupeh border areas. The Chinese captured 64 armored cars and more than 300 trucks and inflicted upward of 20,000 casualties, the spokesman said.

JUGO-SLAVIA SEEKS BALKAN ECONOMIC TIEUP WITH MOSCOW

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 12 (AP). — A Jugo-Slav proposal for economic coöperation with soviet Russia by the four powers of the Balkan entente was reported today in authoritative quarters.

They said the project would be given close study when experts of the entente members—Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Greece, and Turkey—meet in an economic conference here May 27.

Jugo-Slavia, counting on political and military understandings with Russia to follow the trade agreement signed last night at Moscow, was reported to have urged the entente partners to take all possible steps toward making the Balkans economically self-sufficient with soviet support.

CHICAGOAN SEES BOMBED GERMAN CITY OF FREIBURG

Nazis Claim Allied Flyers Hit Hospital.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—Wayne Chatfield Taylor of Chicago, European delegate of the American Red Cross, returned to Berlin today after the Germans refused to let him cross the border into Switzerland at Basel.

Taylor, four Swiss, and one Dane were removed from the train by a border guard at Weil, on the Rhine, a German town within sight of Basel. They were told the border had been closed following the German attack upon Belgium and the Netherlands and were advised to retrace their steps to Freiburg and wait there until the border was reopened.

Taylor had arrived in Freiburg Friday afternoon just after the town was bombed. The Germans have charged that French bombs killed 24 civilians in the raid and have made the claim that Freiburg is an open town. German authorities charged today that French planes last night dropped bombs on the military hospital near Emmerich, on the German-Dutch border south of Arnhem. Three civilians were killed, it was said.

Death Toll Put at 40.

Taylor said tonight that, according to figures from the Swiss consul in Freiburg, the death toll from the raid there has risen to 40, in addition to 150 wounded.

"I saw three twin motor bombers flying away from the town as the train pulled in," Taylor said, in recounting his Freiburg visit.

He related that he and his companions reported to Freiburg police, as they had been ordered to do by the border guard, and then went to a hotel for the night. There were three air raid alarms next morning, but no bombs were dropped, he said. During one of these alarms Taylor was in the police station, where an officer was filling out a permit for him to leave the town, which he had been told was unsafe for a neutral.

Saw One Bomb Crater.

"The policeman stopped writing in the middle of a sentence and led the way to the cellar, where we remained 35 minutes," Taylor asserted.

He added that he did not see the market place where one of the bombs was alleged to have fallen, but that as he departed for Berlin he saw a bomb crater near the railway tracks about 400 yards from the station. The corner of a nearby house had been torn off.

Taylor, former assistant secretary of the treasury in the Roosevelt administration, left Berlin tonight for Switzerland by way of St. Marguerite.

Belgians Hear Coffee Ad Was Really Map for Nazis

BRUSSELS, May 12 (AP).—One of the many rumors flying about this capital city tonight said a certain coffee advertisment posted on billboards in many sections of Belgium months ago contained maps for the use of the Germans. It was said people told each other to rip them down.

BOLSTER ALPINE FORTIFICATIONS, DUCE COMMANDS

Hint Italians May Defy British Sea Control.

ROME, May 12 (AP).—Premier Mussolini today ordered further strengthening of Italy's Littorio line of fortifications on the western Alpine frontier. His order was given to Generals Pietro Pintor and Alfredo Guzzoni, whom he received along with Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, army chief of staff, and Gen. Ubaldo Soddu, undersecretary of war.

The army chiefs in command of zones along the French frontier reported to Mussolini on military questions concerning their armies, an official announcement said.

Details of the fortified Alpine line, which Mussolini demands be further strengthened, have been kept secret, but the fortifications are believed to extend thru the Brenner pass—Alpine gateway between Italy and greater Germany—and along the German border as well as along the French frontier.

Mussolini Continues Flights.

Mussolini, piloting his own trimotor bombing plane, continued for the second day what were called training and observation flights over railroad centers and lines all along the Italian coast, where he observed the movements of ships. He flew for two hours, first over the Pontine marshes to Circello, and then over the Tyrrhenian coast near Rome and out over the open sea.

Italians, meanwhile, turned their propaganda against the allied contraband control in a new anti-British campaign enlivened by street incidents among Italians. It was reported that there is a difference in Italian opinion over the German invasion of the Netherlands and Belgium, and the new outburst of newspaper hostility was considered in some neutral quarters as another attempt to aid the German army.

May Defy Contraband.

The belief was expressed generally that Italy, not yet ready to enter the war, was trying to disconcert the British and French and divert allied attention while the Germans were pushing ahead.

There was talk in unofficial quarters of the possibility of some Italian move to defy the contraband control. Luca Pietro-Marchi, chief of the economic war office of the foreign ministry, reported to Mussolini Saturday that the contraband system was becoming ever more vexatious.

The return of the Italian liner Rex from New York was watched closely to see if the Italians would try to escape or defy the blockade at Gibraltar, perhaps refusing to submit to search. The Rex sailed Saturday from New York and is due this week at Gibraltar.

Burn Vatican Paper.

The temper of Italian opinion was reflected in reports of several incidents in which copies of L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, were snatched from the hands of Italians by Black Shirt Fascist groups last night. The paper was the only one in Rome reporting Pope Pius' messages of support of the rulers of Belgium, Holland, and Luxemburg.

Spectators said students seized copies of L'Osservatore Romano from news stands in railroad stations and burned them while other groups took copies from buyers in other parts of the city.

A woman who defaced an anti-British poster in the Piazza San Silvestro was reported by bystanders to have been pummeled by a crowd. She was taken into a pharmacy, away from the crowd, and questioned.

Britain Wants Explanation.

LONDON, May 12 (AP). — Authoritative sources said today Sir Percy Loraine, British ambassador to Rome, had asked the Italian government for an explanation of an assault on members of the British embassy staff in Rome yesterday. It also was said that the ambassador had been instructed by the government to draw attention of the Italian government to the "unfortunate impression likely to be created by posters of an anti-British character."

HOLLAND'S QUEEN SENDS THANKS TO KING OF ENGLAND

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—King George VI. of Great Britain today received the "heartfelt thanks" of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands for the message he sent her yesterday decrying the "brutal and wholly unwarranted attack" upon her country.

The queen's message to her ally said:

"I desire to express to your majesty my heartfelt thanks for your kind message, proving that in this moment of grave tribulation your majesty and your majesty's people thruout the British empire are ready and anxious to give us all possible moral and material support.

"I wish to tell your majesty how happy I am that our peoples' fleets and armies are fighting side by side against ruthless aggression. I feel certain that the cause of freedom and justice will triumph in the end."

NAZIS HAMMER 40 MILE SECTOR OF MAGINOT LINE

Attack After Heavy Guns Pound at French.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, May 13, Monday (AP).—An air raid alarm, the second since midnight, sounded in Paris this morning at 6:35 o'clock (12:35 a. m. Chicago time). The German planes which were driven off in the first hour-long alarm just after midnight, apparently returned. However, the antiaircraft guns which fired heavily on the first occasion did not go into action immediately in the daylight alarm. The second alarm ended in 35 minutes. (One reason for this might be that planes could spot gun locations by daylight, so the guns would not be used unless absolutely necessary.) Sirens sounded alarms also in western and central France.

PARIS, May 12 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's gray clad troops hammered at France's Maginot line along a 40 mile front today.

Large German forces attacked between Forbach and the Vosges mountains after heavy artillery preparations that began before dawn. It was not immediately determined whether the assault meant prolonged attack on the Maginot line or was a feint to divert French troops from operations to the north.

Infantry and trench mortar fire was strong in the regions of Forbach, Sarreguemines, and Bitche, with continuing attacks by an undetermined number of German troops.

Luxemburg Fight Goes On.

The British-French high command said tonight:

"Combats have recommenced on the Luxemburg frontier.

"The enemy also attacked our advance positions between the Warndt forest and the Saar.

"Nothing of importance to report on the eastern part of the front between the Saar and the Swiss front.

"German aviation has been very active notably over northeastern France. French antiaircraft defense and allied airplanes have combatted this activity. Thirty enemy airplanes were shot down during the day. It is to be noted that among German airplanes destroyed Friday and Saturday, 30 were shot down by our antiaircraft artillery."

Four Air Raid Alarms.

Three air alarms were sounded in northeast France and one in central France but they were without incident.

At Mezieu, antiaircraft batteries brought down an enemy plane. The crew of four bailed out. One was arrested but the three others disappeared.

Paris newspapers reported that German planes dropped 100 bombs in the Nancy region yesterday. Eleven other French towns were reported visited by the Nazi raiders. The population of Nancy remained almost continuously in air raid shelters again today as alarm followed alarm. Several points near Nancy were reported bombed but the city was not touched. The death toll in the bombing of Nancy on Friday was announced as 22. Forty others were injured.

Trains are reported to have been machine gunned by planes.

TROOPS JAM BERLIN STREETS; OLDER MEN ARE CALLED TO ARMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—Streets near government buildings today were crowded with soldiers of all ages. The blue-gray uniforms of the air force predominated. Boys in groups of 20 to 30 were seeing the sights under the guidance of an older soldier who lectured them at important street corners. There was little other activity on the streets. Automobile traffic was almost nonexistent. Only an occasional army, state, or press car rushed by.

Mountain soldiers brought thru northern Germany for the battlefield in Norway strolled in large groups. Older men, evidently called up within the last 10 days, were out in force calling on friends and relatives to display themselves in their new uniforms. Air raid protection wardens have distributed leaflets thruout Berlin reminding the population what to do in case of air attacks.

BOMBER CAPTAIN REPORTS HITS ON GERMAN COLUMN

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—The captain of one of the British bombers which attacked strategic roads behind the German lines told today of making direct hits on the roads along which long lines of German transport trucks were moving.

He said a blazing airdrome in the vicinity lighted the attack, and the sky was pierced by so many searchlights that they looked like lattice work.

"When the first bombs struck," he said, "all the lights on the vehicles went out in a kind of run from one end to the other."

SWEDEN ORDERS BLACKOUT; LAYS NEW MINE FIELD

Hears German Troopships Are Moving.

STOCKHOLM, May 12 (AP).—Heavy German troop transports were reported passing thru the Kiel canal tonight, and Sweden, suddenly alarmed, ordered a complete blackout of the whole country for an indefinite period. Lighthouses were darkened on the east coast, and it was announced a mine field had been laid in a section of the Oresund channel.

Kiel canal and southwest coast of Sweden.

The mines were placed near Malmo in the narrow channel which separates Sweden from German-occupied Denmark.

Air Attack Rumors Heard.

The precautions led to rumors that a sudden air attack is feared by Swedish authorities, but they were silent as to the significance of their orders.

The government's blackout order included all areas not heretofore blacked out, and came as a surprise because most sources considered that Sweden's position in the European war had been eased. The Germans are occupied in Holland and Belgium and control most of Norway; altho a small force of Germans still is besieged at Narvik, far northern Norwegian ore port.

The blackout particularly affected the Swedish capital, as Stockholm has been brightly lighted, except for one or two practice drills, since the start of the European war.

Press Is Pessimistic.

The press generally expressed pessimism.

The conservative newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, commenting on the situation, declared: "In Sweden one would like to believe that our position has been eased, but the indefinite blackout which now has been ordered does not seem to indicate any bright optimism for our country."

WILLIAM N. WEBB, TRAFFIC HEAD OF CELOTEX, DEAD

William Nelson Webb, general traffic manager for the Celotex corporation, died early yesterday in his home at 4940 East End avenue. He suffered a heart attack a week ago while returning from a trip to New Orleans, La. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Webb began his career as a telegraph operator on the Milwaukee railroad. He later became chief clerk for that line. Still later, while associated with a paper company at International Falls, Minn., he met B. G. Dahlberg, and joined Mr. Dahlberg in 1921 when Mr. Dahlberg formed the Celotex corporation.

Surviving Mr. Webb are his widow, Miriam, and a son, Roderic. Services will be held at 4:30 p. m., today, in the chapel at 5200 North Western avenue. Burial will be in Minneapolis, Minn., tomorrow.

ASKS AMERICAS TO STRENGTHEN POSITION ON WAR

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 12 (AP).—Declaring neutrality in present circumstances is a "fiction" and a "dead conception," Foreign Minister José Maria Cantilo tonight proposed that the Americans adopt a "nonbelligerent" attitude instead.

The foreign minister's statement was made after a conference among Cantilo, President Ortiz, United States Ambassador Norman Armour, and the Brazilian ambassador.

A dispatch to La Nacion from Washington had stated earlier that consideration was being given by the Americas to a new declaration of solidarity which would scrap the declaration of Panama for something resembling Italy's nonbelligerent status.

A situation in which belligerents do not recognize the rights, as well as the duties, of neutrals, and the "aggressive methods" in Europe, Cantilo said, show the need for a "stronger hand" than neutrality. He denied it would "mean bringing us nearer to war."

Van Drunen.

PLANES SINK 2 MORE WARSHIPS, GERMANS BOAST

Hero Tells How Battleship Was Sent Down.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—German bombers were credited tonight with having sunk a British light cruiser of the latest type in the North sea and a destroyer off Narvik, Norway. In addition, it was said, they damaged another destroyer and a cruiser in Narvik operations. Not a plane was lost in the attacks, the Germans said.

The disclosures were made soon after foreign correspondents had been called to the propaganda ministry to meet Lieut. Martin Moebuf of the air force. He has been awarded Germany's highest war decoration, the knight's cross of the Order of the Iron Cross, for sinking a British battleship off Namsos, Norway, on May 30.

[The German claim that a British battleship was sunk on May 3 was denied by Britain.]

Fire of 900 Guns Braved.

Moebuf told how he braved fire from "900 antiaircraft gun and machine gun barrels" to attack the battleship. He said he was flying with two other Stukas dive bombing planes when they sighted a British naval formation steaming in two lines 25 to 30 miles off Norway.

"I saw one larger than the others," Moebuf said, "and told myself, 'That's the one for me.'

"My two comrades dived first and planted bombs just alongside. Then I dived from a height of 10,000 feet. When I was about 1,000 feet above the ship I let fly.

"A pillar of fire shot up from the ship, which disappeared in the smoke. When the smoke cleared, nothing was visible except widely scattered wreckage on the water."

"Sunk in one Minute.

Three other officers who were present at the sinking corroborated Moebuf's story that the battleship sank within a minute after it was hit. Continued losses suffered by the allied fleet blockading Narvik.

BANK RATE CUT, FARM CREDITS ARRANGED IN GERMAN HELD NORWAY

OSLO, Norway, May 12 (AP).—The administrative council for that part of Norway held by the Germans today announced reduction in the bank rate and other measures for bank credits designed to aid trade and effect industrial reorganization. It said the arrangements were made in coöperation with the Bank of Norway, the Norwegian Bank association, and the Norwegian Savings Banks association.

Among the measures are: Lowering of the bank rate from 4½ to 3 per cent, the lowest rate since 1889. Granting of a 2,000,000 kroner credit to farmers for reconstruction in war damaged districts, the credit to be free of interest or repayment of principal for three years.

[At the exchange rate prevailing before the German invasion, 2,000,000 kroner would represent about $470,000. Since the invasion no rate has been available.]

ZION GRASS FIRE TWISTS RAILS, BURNS PROPERTY

A grass fire which spread over the area south of 27th street in Zion between Edina boulevard and the North Western tracks yesterday resulted in several thousand dollars property damage. Heat from the flames twisted rails of a siding into S shapes. Trains on the main line, including the high speed "400" were flagged down to 10 miles an hour.

The fire destroyed the quarters of the Western Boarding and Supply company, occupying the larger part of a former North Western freight shed, a rambling Zion landmark. Pillows and bedding and 1,400 cots used by railroad construction and maintenance gangs were burned. A $1,000 carload of oak flooring on the siding went up in flames.

Chief Alven Ruesch and the Zion fire department, aided by volunteers from Gurnee, battled the blaze for six hours. Hundreds of motorists stopped to see the fire. Chief Ruesch was investigating to determine how the fire started.

NAZI INVASION DRAWS PROTEST FROM DE VALERA

Premier Warns Ireland Against 'Scorpions.'

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, May 12.—In a speech at Galway today Premier Eamon de Valera protested against "the cruel wrong being done to two small nations, Belgium and the Netherlands." It would not be worthy of Ireland, he said, if he did not take the opportunity to say this while these little nations were fighting for their lives.

Turning to the possibility of attack against Ireland, De Valera said that if one were made from any quarter a united people would resist it. There is a generation of Irish which did its part in securing freedom, he added, and there is a younger generation that is equally prepared.

Warns of "Scorpions."

Present conditions are dangerous, De Valera said, and Ireland's geographical position will not save it from being affected in many ways. It is doubtful, he said, if any country in Europe, including this island, will have the same system of life when this war ends as it had when the war began.

He urged fullest production of food for man and beast to make the country self-sufficient. Persons who have known what it was to be scourged with whips should do their utmost to insure that they aren't scourged with scorpions, he said.

He referred to good relations with Britain and regretted there still is an outstanding cause of difference between Ireland and Britain.

Deal for Ports Denied.

De Valera has denied statements published in an English newspaper to effects that Irish ports had been purchased by another power, presumably Britain.

"Not an inch of this land is for sale," he said. A statement issued by the official information bureau described persons circulating such stories as liars.

The implication of such a transaction, if it were made, would be that Ireland had ceased to be neutral. In this connection the information bureau recalled that as early as May, 1935, De Valera announced it was not part of the policy of the country to be used for purposes of an attack against Britain.

BELGIAN STAFF LEAVES BERLIN; BOY SHOUTS HIS IDEA OF 'GOOD-BY'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—Members of the Belgian embassy staff and their families left Berlin for Switzerland at 6:35 o'clock tonight on a special train provided by Germany.

As the train moved from the station two boys about 7 or 8 years old leaned from a window and shouted in French, "Long live Belgium!" One added an uncomplimentary remark about the Germans, but was hastily silenced by his mother.

Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, saw the Belgians off. The American embassy will look after Belgian interests.

Arrangements for the departure of the Dutch legation staff have not been completed. All Dutch subjects have been ordered to report to German police within 24 hours.

WOMEN GATHER FOR CONFERENCE ON UNEMPLOYED

Washington, D. C., May 12 [Special].—Several hundred self-styled "Daughters of the American Depression," representing women's clubs the Y. M. C. A., Workers' Alliance locals and union auxiliaries, and who are on relief, on WPA, or wives of men on WPA or relief, assembled here today for a conference on unemployment.

The delegates, who claim to be a cross-section of the 3,000,000 unemployed women of America, will tell in open hearings of how the families of 11,000,000 unemployed live.

The women hope to obtain restoration of a $5 to $9 per month wage cut made to women WPA workers last year and to stop WPA layoffs.

BERLIN, May 12.—If the Germans have continued to advance into the Netherlands as rapidly as they did on the first two days of their invasion, Doorn, the exile retreat of former Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany should by now be in German hands. Germans refused to confirm or deny the rumor that German soldiers are around the former kaiser's property.

FRANCE ORDERS DISGUISED CHUTE SOLDIERS SHOT

Charges Germans Don Enemy Uniforms.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 12.—Any German soldier caught in France wearing a uniform other than that of his army will be immediately shot, Prime Minister Paul Reynaud's office announced tonight.

"During the savage aggression against the Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxemburg," said the communique, "the German armies made use of parachutists who were frequently attired, contrary to international law, in Dutch or Belgian uniforms and sometimes in civilian clothes. The French government wishes to declare publicly that any and every enemy soldier captured in France who is not wearing his national uniform will be immediately shot. The French armed forces have received instructions to this effect."

Radio Warns Public.

No German aerial infantrymen have landed in France but the French radio broadcast precise suggestions as to how they should be treated in case Adolf Hitler repeats in France the tactics his army used in Norway, Holland, and Belgium.

Gen. Hering, military governor of Paris, appealed to Parisians to be vigilant. The landing of parachutists, he stated, should be reported at once to the nearest police station. He also urged Parisians to be on the lookout for mysterious persons loafing near military establishments, factories, and bridges.

Civilians were warned by radio not to approach German airplanes that fall on French soil because of the danger of time bombs and delayed explosions. Automobilists were told that during air raid alarms they must stop and seek the nearest shelter.

Germany Warns Enemy.

BERLIN, May 12 (AP).—Authoritative German sources warned the enemy today that every "ill treatment of parachute soldiers and every act against them in violation of international law will result in prompt, sharpest countermeasures.

The German statement was issued, it was said, because enemy propaganda not only urges civilians to act against parachutists by every means possible, but also shows that "certain officials" are considering treating them as spies.

Authorities emphasized that parachute soldiers are regular troops of the German army and that the units were formed in peace time and have paraded before foreign military attachés. They also stressed that the troops have a special uniform suited to their task and that it is in no way camouflaged.

Insignia on Uniform.

"The uniform is not to be mistaken for civilian clothes or the uniform of a foreign army," a statement said. "Parachute soldiers often are sent into action far ahead of their own front and must carry out certain security work on their own resources."

The uniform is a one piece gray-green coverall and a special lightweight metal helmet. Both display the insignia of the German air force.

CHURCH LEADER FOUND DEAD NEAR CAR IN EVANSTON

Mrs. Florence May Simpson, 54 years old, active in church affairs, was found dead yesterday of carbon monoxide poisoning in the garage attached to her home at 1411 Church street, Evanston. She was chairman of the home committee of the women's guild of the First Congregational church in Evanston.

Her body, lying on a blanket on the floor near the exhaust pipe of her car, was found by her husband, Thomas Stanley Simpson, Chicago district sales manager for a tack manufacturing company.

Policemen William Miller and Fred Eichler said the ignition of the family car was on, but the motor had stopped running and was cold when she was found. Neighbors said Mrs. Simpson had been suffering from nervousness recently. Besides her husband she leaves a son, Donald S. Simpson of Philadelphia, Pa.

Hudson, N. Y., May 12 (AP).—One person was drowned and another injured critically today when the airplane in which they were following the annual Albany-New York outboard race hit a high tension line and crashed into the river. Pilot Louis Hatfield was taken to a Catskill hospital. His passenger, Georgette Gaydoul, sank with the plane in 30 feet of water. Police with grappling hooks recovered Miss Gaydoul's body. Hatfield was thrown clear as the plane fell.

REFUGEES RELATE HOW DUTCH FIGHT 'CHUTE INVADERS

Battle Germans at Street Corners.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—Stories of the Netherlands' grim fight against German invaders were told by refugees arriving today at a British port. Many children were among the refugees and they were battened below decks during the voyage. The ship was attacked with air bombs and machine guns, but was not damaged.

"Every man and every woman in Holland will fight and fight until they drop," declared a woman who witnessed Friday's assault on Rotterdam. "I saw them crying, but they were tears of rage and not of terror. The Dutch aren't despairing. They got past that."

Planes Swarm in Sky.

A British seaman said: "The Dutch were fighting like men who know they must die, but that in dying they will take with them 10 of the enemy. They are fighting on the assumption that every Dutchman must fight until he is killed, and that after that the Dutch women must fight."

The arrivals said the sky over and around Rotterdam literally swarmed with German planes and parachutists, who poured into the city and made every street corner a battlefield. They declared that some of the parachutists wore civilian clothes.

Germans Driven from Bridge.

An English woman gave a graphic description of the fight for a bridge in Rotterdam.

"The Germans held one bank of the Maas and a bridge. A Dutch ship came up and fired 30 rounds at the bridge, setting it afire. The ship was hit and retired, but came back soon and again drove the Germans from the bridge as bombers roared overhead.

"Dutch civilians were in the fighting now, and they were vicious. When finally they took the bridges there were no Germans alive."

Red Cross Boosts Order to 150 New Ambulances

Washington, D. C., May 12 [Special].—The Red Cross has ordered a total of 150 fast, air-conditioned ambulances for service in Europe, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced today. This represents a 50 per cent increase over the number ordered late last week. Arrangements also are being made to buy 100 auxiliary hospital trucks, 10 field hospitals, and large quantities of surgical instruments, Davis said. The current campaign to raise $10,000,000 is meeting a "marvelous response," the chairman said, and he predicted that it would succeed in a "reasonably short time."

A POOR TIME (SUNDAY) AND A BAD SPOT (ELGIN LAGOONS) TO BE A FISH

Yesterday was no time to be a fish in the lagoons in Lord's park, Elgin. Seven hundred boys and girls, all under 15 years of age, entirely surrounded one pond and part of another and dropped their tastily baited hooks into the water for two straight hours.

While adult fishermen looked on jealously, the youngsters pulled fish from the water faster than you could say Izaak Walton. Most of them were brook trout, since the lagoons were stocked with 2,000 of that specie a couple of weeks ago, but there also were a number of other kinds. Prizes were awarded for the largest string and the biggest fish.

John Zimmerli Jr., parks commissioner, and E. W. Dower, an official of the local Izaak Walton league, which sponsored the contest, announced that the event would be repeated on each of the next three Sunday afternoons. The trout were provided by Max McGraw, and were taken from the stream on his nearby Clearbrook farm.

Does Your Breath Broadcast—
"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?
Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing may not prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists and users. Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

CAPPER WARNS OF PERIL TO U. S. RUBBER SUPPLY

Washington, D. C., May 12 (AP).—Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] suggested today that the United States use some of its gold to develop the rubber industry in Brazil.

Senator Capper.

In an address prepared for broadcasting, the senator discussed the possibility of European war developments shutting off United States' access to essential stocks such as rubber and tin from the Dutch East Indies.

"We would be better off if we were getting our rubber from Brazil than to have to continue to depend on the Dutch East Indies," he said.

If either Germany or Japan should attempt to seize those islands, Capper predicted, Britain undoubtedly would call upon the United States to send the Pacific fleet to protect British rubber interests there.

Coincidental with the senator's address, the commerce department published a report showing that the United States took 45 per cent of the Netherlands Indies' direct shipments of rubber during 1939.

Thomas Stapleton, 33 years old, who has been sought since Oct. 19 on a fugitive warrant charging burglary and assault in Milwaukee, was seized yesterday in the lobby of the Commonwealth hotel, 2757 Pine Grove avenue, by Detectives Frank Doherty, Marshal Pidgeon, and John Lundon of the detective bureau. Photographs of Stapleton and Jack London, who is fighting extradition, were identified as those of two of the burglars who tried to rob a restaurant in Milwaukee. One of the burglars was killed and another was captured. London was indicted for the murder of Eli Daiches, an advertising executive, in 1934, but never was tried.

ALLIED LANDING IN WEST INDIES EXCITES JAPAN

Says Dutch Pledge in East Is Unreliable.

TOKIO, May 13 [Monday].—The Japanese press was greatly excited today by the landing of British and French troops in Curacao and Aruba in the Dutch West Indies.

The press declared the landings showed that Holland's guarantees of the status quo in its colonies were not reliable. It was stated that the Dutch minister to Japan informed the foreign office on May 5 that the Dutch West Indies as well as the Dutch East Indies would refuse external assistance in case Holland was forced into the war, which it was.

Betrayal of Pledge.

Altho Japan pretends to have no interest in the Dutch West Indies, the Dutch action in permitting allied troops to land was considered by Japanese officials as "betraying the Dutch government's pledge," making it impossible for Japan to rely on the Netherlands' statement alone.

These views were expressed at a conference of foreign office officials which met hurriedly yesterday, according to the newspaper Asahi. Nationalist opinion already has leaped to the conclusion that the time has come when Japan must act.

"The Japanese government's policy regarding the Dutch East Indies no longer remains within the sphere of mere expressions of will, but requires actual measures," the newspaper Kakumin said. Full countersteps are being considered.

Won't Intervene: British.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—An unofficial assurance was given today that the British would not intervene in the Netherlands East Indies.

"His majesty's government," a British source said, "have previously expressed their interest in the maintenance of the status quo in the Netherlands East Indies.

"This attitude remains unchanged and they have no intention whatever of intervening in the East Indies nor has any suggestion been made from any quarter that they should do so."

SNEEZE VICTIMS IN FOR A NASTY TIME THIS YEAR

The Chicago Allergy society offers a depressing bit of news for hay fever sufferers: They're in for a nasty time of it this summer. Records which the society has been making for display at the centennial meeting of the Illinois State Medical society May 31 in Peoria show that the ragweed pollen count jumped from 5,433 grains per cubic yard in 1938 to 9,500 in 1939. Basing their prediction on past records, the society says the count should be even higher this year.

At that, society experts say, you can be thankful you live in Chicago rather than at some spot farther from the lake, because when the wind is off the lake the city has practically no pollen in the air. There are three distinct hay fever seasons here, the society says. March to June snuffles are caused by pollen from trees. From late June thru July the grass is to blame, and from August to cold weather pollen from ragweed is the chief irritant.

The society suggests injections for sufferers.

GUNFIGHT LEAVES 3 DEAD IN IN FEUD; DEPUTY IS JAILED

Pineville, Ky., May 12 (AP).—Three men were killed early today in a roadhouse gun fight between members of two southeastern Kentucky mountain families. Deputy Sheriff Leon Nuckols said the families had been involved in previous shootings which cost six lives.

The deputy identified the dead as Caleb Blanton, 25; his brother, Walter, 40, and Clint Thompson, 25. He said Thompson apparently was struck by a stray bullet as he stood outside the roadhouse.

Deputy Jailer Willie Ball said Sherman Hensley, 32, a deputy constable, had been surrendered to jail attaches by his father, Constable Ceph Hensley, 54.

Constable Hensley said his son admitted shooting Caleb Blanton after the latter fired three shots at him, but denied responsibility for the deaths of Thompson and Walter Blanton.

Body of Girl, 15, Found in an Indiana Creek

Marshall, Ind., May 12 (AP).—The body of 15 year old Mary Sprague of Carbondale, Ill., was found today in Sugar creek, five miles west of Turkey Run State park, where the body of T. W. Willingham Jr., 16, of Olivet, Ill., was discovered on Thursday. They disappeared May 4 during a school picnic. Parties of Civilian Conservation corps youths and volunteers had conducted an intensive search. Searchers theorized the boy and girl had fallen into the creek. Neither could swim.

Abandons Baby

Nurse at St. Vincent's orphanage holding Robert Uribe, 17 month old infant whose father abandoned baby in alley.

Maxwell street police yesterday arrested William Uribe, 1206 South Damen avenue, after a 17 month old baby boy abandoned in an alley at Roosevelt road and Ashland avenue had been identified as his son, Robert. Uribe, police said, told them he had been drinking Saturday night and took the baby and another child, about 4, for a walk. He said he remembered setting the child down in the alley, but nothing more. Uribe fled after Nick Rusthoven, 1618 Washburn avenue, and his daughter, Christine, saw him leave the baby and Christine screamed. Police were told that Uribe's wife died six months ago leaving him with four children.

HORSE TRADER CHEATS DEATH IN 11 STORY FALL

Des Moines, Ia., May 12 (AP).—They're talking of a "believe it or not man" in this city following the 11 story fall of a 42 year old Iowa horse buyer from a downtown hotel window yesterday.

His name is Keith Bown and, according to physicians, he's apparently going to be all right.

A depression fracture of the fore part of the skull is his most serious injury. He is to be operated upon, probably Tuesday, to remove the pressure on his brain.

Since his 130 foot dive to a parked car and then into the street, he has not lost consciousness [except to go to sleep], speaks rationally, and sleeps and eats well.

tration that their occupation of Curacao and Aruba involves no transfer of Dutch sovereignty to Britain and France. The Dutch flag will continue to fly over the islands, they stated, and the British and French soldiers and marines merely would assist the Dutch governor in coping with any depredations attempted by the enemy.

The British and French representations to Washington also included the statement that the Dutch government had requested the allies of Holland to assume protection of these islands.

The Roosevelt administration gave its consent to the action, the state department declaring no infringement of the Monroe Doctrine was involved because there was no change of sovereignty and because Holland had requested the step.

Senator Lundeen Protests.

Senator Ernest Lundeen [F.L., Minn.], sponsor of proposed legislation looking to the acquisition of European owned islands in the West Indies, denounced the action of the Roosevelt administration in permitting the seizure of Curacao and Aruba.

"Can you imagine a policy of the state department permitting the French and British to seize those islands in violation of the Monroe Doctrine?" the senator articulated.

"At the same time our government tells the Japanese that it will not recognize a Monroe Doctrine in eastern Asia. But when our dear friends, the French and British, want a couple of islands we permit their seizure instead of negotiating for the transfer of sovereignty to the United States.

"My resolution introduced in the senate proposed that we embark upon a policy of negotiating the acquestion of all the West Indies islands owned by Eurpean nations and of applying the value of the British and French islands on the war debts. My proposal envisaged our getting there first. Our government has permitted Britain and France to get there first. It is a highly un-American policy to pursue. I intend to deal with it in some remarks in the senate."

Issue When War Ends.

The status of the islands will become an issue of interest to the United States at the end of the war. If Germany were to gain the islands or they were to pass to any other non-American power a violation of the Monroe Doctrine would be involved.

The cession of the French and extensive British archipelagoes in this hemisphere to the United States in part payment of the British and French war debts has been agitated for several years. The British and French governments, however, have declined to consider the proposal seriously and the Roosevelt administration has acquiesced in their view.

When it was reported that the Roosevelt administration was considering acquisition of some of these islands for bases to protect the Panama canal the President pronounced the suggestion silly.

With Britain too busy elsewhere the Roosevelt administration has undertaken the policing of the Pacific region. Mr. Hull's warning to Japan to keep hands off the Dutch East Indies is in line with the burden of Lord Lothian's speeches that British and American sea power combined can maintain world peace, the British in the Atlantic sphere, the American in the Pacific.

Ambassador Lothian is probably the most adroit of British propagandists. In his speeches he deftly points out by indirection what it would mean to America to have democracy in Europe blotted out by Hitlerism. The President takes the same line in his Friday night speech, in which he said:

"Can we continue our peaceful construction if all the other continents embrace by preference or by compulsion a wholly different principle of life?"

Then the President proceeded to throw out a hint of the possible necessity of getting into the war "to protect and defend by every means our science, our culture, our freedom, and our civilization."

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts 5 points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. Which of the following is used as a lubricant
   Sawdust Camphor Graphite Fuller's Earth
2. A "foil" should remind one of Polo Fencing Badminton Pinochle
3. Which of the following animals wears a beard
   Pig Cow Horse Goat
4. To figure your approximate auto speed in feet per second, simply multiply your speedometer reading of miles per hour by 1½ 3 5 10
5. If you are traveling at 40 miles per hour, therefore, your speed per second is approximately 60 feet 120 feet 200 feet 400 feet
6. If the pedal arrangement on the floorboard of our automobiles were such that the driver always had his foot on the brake, it would save at least one-half second of precious time now wasted in moving the right foot from the throttle to the brake pedal. At a speed of 40 m. p. h., this saving equals 30 feet. Such a simple improvement would equal the reduction obtained by lowering 40 m. p. h. speed limits to .... 35 m. p. h. .... 30 m. p. h. .... 25 m. p. h. .... 20 m. p. h.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. Note: The last question counts 5 points.

Hindsight and Foresight

By HOLGAR J. JOHNSON

President, Institute of Life Insurance

MRS. L. of Pittsburgh says: "My husband makes $2100 a year and we have two small children. We have $8000 in life insurance. Some of my friends think this is too much and others think it's too little. What do you think?"

I have other letters asking questions similar to this and wish that I could give an answer to fit all cases. Unfortunately there isn't any one "right" answer.

One of the reasons why we have life insurance agents in the place of selling life insurance in drugstores or over the counter is that each man's needs differ. For example, if Mrs. L. has or will inherit some money of her own, Mr. L.'s insurance needs might be far different from what they would be if she had to depend entirely on Mr. L.'s income.

If one of the children were an invalid so that it would require care as long as it lived, this would add another complication. If there are parents or other relatives who are likely to become dependent, the situation again changes. Furthermore, $2100 in Pittsburgh will buy quite a different amount of living from what it will buy in Augusta or Green Bay.

I could go on adding or changing conditions for one family for an hour, but you get the idea. The decision about how much insurance to buy simply has to be an individual decision.

Therefore, the only answer I can make to Mrs. L.'s question is a very general one. If her husband spent the amount of time on his insurance planning that its importance justifies, if he told his agent pretty exactly what he had in mind, what premiums he could afford and what the family needs were, he probably ended up with about the right kind and amount of insurance.

I WILL SAY THIS. If he is like most people, he probably has a little less than he ought to have. That is because there are so many irresistible things for sale in the stores these days—and only one man who actually gets out and sells the idea of thrift and protection to people in competition with these things. That—in case you haven't noticed—is your life insurance agent.

NOTE: In this regular Monday column, paid for at advertising rates, the Institute of Life Insurance has asked its president to discuss questions of interest to life insurance policyholders. Inquiries may be addressed to 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

TEST PILOT HOMER BERRY LIKES ALL THE SPEED HE CAN GET IN A PLANE, BUT HE LIKES HIS SMOKING S-L-O-W! SLOWER-BURNING CAMELS ARE HIS CIGARETTE

"FASTEST PLANE off the production line today!" That's how Homer Berry describes the Bell Airacobra, amazing new speed plane. He should know. This veteran speed test pilot started flying in 1913...started smoking Camels the same year. "No other cigarette ever gave me anything like the pleasure of a Camel," he says. "They burn slower, smoke milder and cooler. Camels don't irritate my throat and their full, rich flavor doesn't tire my taste. In 26 years, that slower burning has given me a lot of extra smoking." Before you take it for granted you're getting all the pleasure there is in a cigarette, try Camels. Enjoy the advantages of Camel's slower-burning costlier tobaccos. Penny for penny your best cigarette buy!

TEST PILOT HOMER BERRY SAYS:

"No fast burning for me in my cigarette. I've smoked Camels ever since there have been any Camels. They burn slower and give me more pleasure per puff and more puffs per pack. 'I'd walk a mile for a slow-burning Camel!'"

FREE OF SCALISE YOKE, UNION HEAD LOOKS TO FUTURE

Overthrow of Gang Rule Elates McFetridge.

William L. McFetridge, newly elected president of the Building Service Employés' International union, was back in Chicago yesterday, speaking as tho he scarcely dared believe the days of racketeer domination of the union were over. Memories of the gangster rule of George Scalise, his predecessor, cropped up in the conversation as he talked of starting off with a clean slate.

The yoke of Scalise, a New York ganster who started as a white slaver and became a czar over 70,000 men and women employés of apartments and office buildings in many cities, was finally thrown off at Atlantic City, N. J., last Wednesday, when McFetridge was elected. A start had been made to that end a short time previously when the international union's executive committee suspended Scalise, who thereupon resigned.

Indicted on 52 Charges.

Scalise was indicted last month in New York on 52 charges of extortion from hotel owners and building contractors. He was accused of shakedowns aggregating $100,000, and then it was learned he had drained $1,500,000 from the treasury of the internation union in three years.

"I don't like to talk about the past," said McFetridge last night. "I believe the future outlook for the unions is very bright. I have a lot of hard work to do to bring every possible benefit to the membership."

McFetridge also is head of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union and the Chicago School Janitors' union. His union career began when he was a flat janitor and his first union office came after he organized the school janitors in 1928.

Founded by His Uncle.

William Quesse, an uncle of McFetridge, founded the flat janitors' union and organized the international union here to prevent being "muscled" out of office during the Capone reign in the prohibition era. After Quesse's death in 1927, the locals and the international union passed into other hands and then, in 1937, Scalise, the New York ex-convict panderer, was appointed president to fill a vacancy.

Soon thereafter it became known that Matt Taylor, president of the Chicago Elevator Operators union, was terrified because he would not turn his union over to Scalise. Scalise sought to replace him with Thomas J. Burke, who is head of the Theatrical Janitors' union. Taylor finally made peace with Scalise.

Tells of McFetridge's Fear.

Next it was reported that McFetridge feared Scalise, who, it was said, had a friend he wanted to appoint as president of the flat janitors' union. The indictment of Scalise last month changed the picture.

The election of McFetridge brings control of the international union back to Chicago. Sharing the rule with McFetridge as members of its executive committee are Gus Van Heck, Paul David, Miss Elizabeth Grady, and Burke, all of Chicago; Jesse Fletcher of Seattle, Wash.; William Cooper of Milwaukee, and Timothy Dyer of St. Louis. The last three named are new members.

"The new members came up from the ranks of labor," McFetridge said last night. "I think everything is going to be all right from now on."

Sailboat Capsizes; Two Rescued by Coast Guard

A Jackson park coast guard crew directed by Chief Boatswain Carl Howell rescued two men about 300 feet off 67th street when their 20 foot sailboat, the Susie-Q, capsized yesterday. The two were Rody Biggert, 2616 East 74th street, owner of the boat, and Lawrence Krise, 7331 Coles avenue. They clung to the craft until help arrived, and later assisted the coast guard in recovering the boat.

130,000 Visit New Orang-utans

Crowd at monkey house of Lincoln park zoo yesterday as W-G-N broadcast about antics of the two new orang-utans from Sumatra. In all, 130,000 saw them. Arrow points to Broadcaster Pierre Andre.

EVER-GROWING THRONGS VISIT ORANGS AT ZOO

130,000 Pass Cage in Lincoln Park.

A throng of 130,000 visitors was evidence yesterday that two auburn haired orang-utans—the youngest in the country—have captured the place in Chicago's affection formerly held by the late Su-lin, baby giant panda. The throng filed thru the small animals house at the Lincoln park zoo thruout the day to see the new arrivals and chortle at their antics.

Crowds already dense became even thicker after the goings on of the orang-utans were described from 2 to 2:30 p. m. in the first sponsored broadcast about them over W-G-N. A furniture company is sponsoring a series of cageside broadcasts.

Tells Animals' History.

Zoo Director Floyd S. Young told how the pair had been captured in Bengkoeloe on the west coast of Sumatra, shipped to New York City, and flown by The Tribune's airplane to Chicago to speed the journey for the sake of their health.

"They have a sense of humor and in actions are amazingly like humans," Young said. "In the morning they are groggy and out of sorts at first, not becoming friendly until they are fully awake—like so many of us."

Edgar Robinson, the feeder, said the "wild men of the woods" [Malayan meaning of orang-utans] eat all varieties of fruits and vegetables in captivity. The male, 4 years old and weighing 36½ pounds, has gained a pound and a half since arrival. The female, half as old and half as heavy, has gained a pound.

Bushman, the 450-pound gorilla also caged in the small animals house, is jealous of the popular pair now stealing the show from him, Robinson said. Bushman is "not on speaking terms" with the feeder any more, evidently blaming him for the new situation.

The male orang-utan takes morning exercise with a dumbbell.

Both Frolic About in Cage.

Between naps totaling two hours during the day, the baby apes did not disappoint their spectators. They frolicked about the cage and up and down the bars. A dumbbell and Indian club Director Young has had made for them were swung and carried in unpredictable ways to add to the entertainment.

"If the male gets a chance he'll bang you over the head with the Indian club," Young said. "Not that he's vicious—merely mischievous."

Children, comprising about 75 per cent of the spectators, were interviewed on the broadcast. Among the names suggested by them for the orang-utans were "Andy and Min" and "Goofy and Woozy." Prizes of $75 and $25 have been offered to winners of the name contest.

DRIVES 2 DAYS WITH SLAIN BOY IN TRUNK OF CAR

Reports Victim Killed in Holdup Attempt.

Hillsboro, Ill., May 12 [Special].—Robert Grear, 20 years old, confessed here today to participating in an attempted tavern holdup in which a companion was killed and driving around for two days with the victim's body in the trunk of a car before he hid the body in a well.

Sheriff Leo Gilliland of Montgomery county said that Grear told him the dead youth was his townsman, Bernard Nelson, 17, and that he had hidden Nelson's body in a well in a school yard near Tower Hill, Shelby county. Gilliland and a deputy went to the well and found the body, head first in five feet of water.

Fired On by Tavern Man.

According to Grear's confession to the sheriff, Grear, Nelson, and Virgil Brackenhoff, 31, also of Nokomis, made an attempt last Monday to rob the tavern of Raymond Delarche in Witt, five miles from their home. Delarche was awakened by the sound of a window breaking and fired at the intruders.

Delarche told Sheriff Gilliland he believed he had hit one of the three men, and a check of hospitals was made. Delarche said he could not see the men clearly in the dark and was afraid of being shot if he went outside.

Grear said Nelson, who was shot in his face, died within a few minutes. Then he and Brackenhoff returned to Nokomis after placing Nelson's body in the trunk of Brackenhoff's automobile.

Tells of Hiding Body.

Grear said Brackenhoff gave him $10 and told him to take Nelson's body out of the state and hide it. Grear then drove to the home of a relative in Champaign where he visited Tuesday. On Wednesday he drove back south to Ramsey to visit a girl and that night drove to Tower Hill to dump the body in the well.

Grear drove most of the time from Wednesday night until late yesterday when he returned to Nokomis and was picked up. He said he had covered 800 miles in central Illinois in the five days and nights.

Sheriff Gilliland said Grear and Brackenhoff would be arraigned tomorrow on charges of attempted burglary. They also are accused of having robbed a junk yard office a few days before the attempt to loot the tavern.

BOY BICYCLIST INJURED.

Duquoin, Ill., May 12 [Special].—Tommy Summers, 13, was critically injured west of here last night when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an auto driven by Joe Scoffic. Scoffic told authorities the bicycle did not have a tail light and that he did not observe it until to late to avoid an accident.

AMONG THE FOLKS IN HISTORY

Reprinted from The Tribune's collection of Gaar Williams cartoons

To Robinson Crusoe, on his uninhabited island, some saplings and thatch were home. The beach at low tide was his self-service market, and the nearest thing to a newspaper that ever came his way was a footprint in the sand.

To Mrs. Robinson Crusoe, on her densely inhabited island of Manhattan, a footprint calls for the vacuum cleaner, she shops at a dozen different stores every day, and her home contains a thousand things that make for modern living.

She, too, has done a first-class job of setting up shop on an island, only her job is never finished.

And that's where The New York Times comes in.

For Mrs. Robinson Crusoe depends upon a reliable morning newspaper for daily help at her job. She has a home to run, children to raise, a whole family to do the buying for every day . . . and The Times helps her to buy intelligently, as well as to think intelligently. She is only one of 221,840 women in the Profit-Half of New York City who begin each week-day with The New York Times. . . . And she is only one of 414,180 women in the Profit-Half of the city who begin each week with The Sunday New York Times!

These housewives of the Profit-Half belong to the high and medium income groups. Research—by the Government and by The New York Times—shows that these women buy from 60% to 70% of nearly all classes of advertised merchandise sold in the entire city of New York.

Naturally, therefore, it is important for advertisers to know that in the Profit-Half of New York City alone, as many women read The New York Times every day as there are housewives in the whole city of Cleveland . . . and as many of these Profit-Half women read The Times every Sunday as there are housewives in the entire city of Philadelphia!

414,180 women in the Profit-Half of the New York market read The New York Times on Sunday . . . 221,840 on week-days

And these women readers of The New York Times do the buying for an average of over a million persons every day!

This is one of the richest women's markets in the world, and the facts about the readership of The New York Times in this market came directly from the women themselves!

They told the whole story to the interviewers of an independent research organization, the Houser Associates, who went out into the Profit-Half areas of New York City and suburbs. There they stopped 50,194 shopping housewives coming out of stores, and asked them what newspapers they had read in the past 24 hours.

It was this survey that provided the vital facts about the preference of Profit-Half housewives for The New York Times. The findings of this survey are now available to advertisers and advertising agencies upon request to The Times Advertising Department.

BEATIFY NUN WHO MAY BECOME 1ST AMERICAN SAINT

Mother Rose Duchesne Venerated by Pope.

VATICAN CITY, May 12 (AP).—Mother Philippine Rose Duchesne, who may become the first American saint, was beatified today in St. Peter's. Mother Duchesne introduced the Society of the Sacred Heart to the new world in 1818.

The beatification ceremony, usually the first step toward sainthood, was the first of a series of five to take place on successive Sundays.

Pope Pius XII. visited the basilica with traditional pomp in the afternoon to venerate the nun following a morning ceremony.

St. Peter's was brilliantly lighted. Two paintings depicting miracles attributed to Mother Duchesne hung from balconies within the basilica and another picture of her was over the altar. Exposed on the altar was a bone from one of her feet.

American Envoy Attended.

A large crowd attended, including a dozen cardinals of the congregation of rites and many other prelates and members of the papal court. Myron C. Taylor, personal representative of President Roosevelt at the Vatican, was among members of the diplomatic court who attended.

Many nuns of Mother Duchesne's order, including a delegation from the United States, were present.

Msgr. Alfonso Carinci, secretary of the congregation of rites, read the declaration that Mother Duchesne should be honored as one of the blessed. Then the bells of St. Peter's were rung and the picture over the altar was unveiled while a choir chanted. Pontifical mass then was celebrated.

In his visit to the basilica in the afternoon the pope was carried into the church on his portable throne while the crowd cheered. Prayers were said and the pontiff imparted benediction after receiving a biography and a picture of Mother Duchesne, as well as a bouquet of artificial flowers, a customary gift at beatifications.

Pioneer of Oxcart Days.

Mother Duchesne, a French nun, introduced the Society of the Sacred Heart to the new world after she landed at New Orleans, La., with four other sisters. The sisters established their first school at St. Charles, Mo., then a shanty village.

By oxcart Mother Duchesne traveled nearly to the Rocky mountains, establishing schools and convents and tending the ill and injured. Some of her cures were considered acts of Divine intervention, and it was upon the testimony of persons involved that the congregation of rites acted. She died at St. Charles in 1852 and was buried there.

Tho born in France, Mother Duchesne would be classified as an American saint, as would Mother Cabrini, the Italian nun who organized the missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus in America and was beatified in 1938.

YOUTH IS TARGET OF POLICE GUN AS HE FLEES QUIZ

A young man being questioned by two park policemen broke away from them last night in front of 1127 Jackson boulevard and escaped in spite of several bullets that whizzed near him.

He was riding in a car with John Adomaitis, 23 years old, 2038 Coulter street, when they were curbed by Policemen James Hickey and M. F. O'Neill. Search revealed that each was carrying two $10 bills and a pocketful of dimes.

As one of the policemen began searching the car the companion of Adomaitis ran away. Policeman Hickey fired three shots at him, one of which he believes took effect. The suspect escaped. Police know his identity, however, and expect to arrest him. In the car was found a coin bank. The dimes in Adomaitis' pocket totaled $12. He said he got the coins from a bank given to him by his companion.

3 Shove Plank to Boy, 5; Save Him from River

Theodore Poshwinchuk, 5 years old, 1636 West 44th street, was none the worse yesterday for an unexpected dip into the Chicago river near 40th street and Ashland avenue Saturday. He owed his life to three youths who saw him roll down the steep embankment into nine feet of water. The youths, Warren and Ralph Johnson, 3413 South Oakley avenue, and Richard Murphy, 3533 South Honore street, found a plank, shoved it to Theodore, and pulled him ashore.

Cost to Be 11 Millions

A concrete sewer tube large enough to form an automobile roadway was opened for inspection yesterday at Ashland avenue and the Calumet Sag canal. Thomas D. Garry, city superintendent of sewers, said the sewer, which extends from the canal to 112th street in Beverly Hills, is 17 feet wide and 13 feet high. It will form a main outlet for the $11,000,000 Beverly-West Calumet sewer system now under construction. The system will serve 13 square miles of the south side containing 55,000 persons.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 311 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 238 were killed in Chicago, where 7,558 were injured during the same period.

MOTORIST TURNS POLICE LOCKUP INTO STUDY HALL

A University of Chicago student spent his time in the Hyde Park police lockup last night poring over a notebook boning for university examinations two weeks hence.

He is Rea Allison, 18 years old, 5700 Drexel avenue. Motorcycle Policeman John F. McNulty arrested him and signed four complaints accusing him of [1] driving without lights, [2] passing two stop signs, [3] making an improper turn from 57th street into Drexel avenue, and [4] driving without a driver's license.

Allison said he [1] didn't realize it was dark enough to call for lights, [2] slowed almost to a stop for the signs, and [3] had no intention of wrongdoing in making the turn. He conceded he didn't have a license.

Bail on the four charges came to $55, which Allison did not have. He was locked up pending arraignment, and he sent out for his notebook. His parents are Presbyterian missionaries at Tenghsien, Shantung province, China. He is attending the university on a scholarship and earns money by typing. He was born in China and speaks the language fluently.

The train was standing in the station here when the special directly behind crashed into it.

Most of the injured resumed the trip on another train after being treated at hospitals, physicians' offices, and drug stores.

CURACAO AND ICELAND.

British and French forces have landed at the Dutch West Indian islands of Aruba and Curacao off the Venezuelan coast, not far from the Caribbean entrance to the Panama canal. The contingents were landed at the request of the Dutch authorities who feared sabotage, particularly at the oil refinery at Aruba, which is said to be the largest installation of its kind in the world.

Our state department has been announcing to the world, and to the Japanese in particular, that we will countenance no change in the status of the Dutch East Indies. These islands are half way around the world, and whether we have the force to back up our declaration against Japan, should she challenge us, is questionable. While we have been taking the strongest of lines so far as the oriental islands are concerned, we made no parallel announcement about the status of the Dutch islands off our own shores where there is no question about our ability to make our will effective.

The Dutch authorities at Curacao, feeling themselves in danger of internal disorder, called in the British and French to aid them. It would be interesting to know whether any overtures were made by the Netherlands to our government. It would be interesting to know, also, whether our government foresaw the contingency, and if so, what steps were taken to meet it.

As a matter of long term policy, the United States should seek to terminate the European hold on islands in this hemisphere. Perhaps the situation at Curacao was such that we could have advanced toward our goal without injury to Dutch national and private interests. Whether a solution of this sort was sought in Washington, as it should have been, remains to be determined.

It may be well in this connection to review other recent happenings in connection with islands off our shores.

Even before the actual invasion of the Low Countries, which it seems obvious the British government expected, that government found time to send a force to Iceland.

The British have given their pledge that the occupation is only for the duration of hostilities. While there is no doubt that pledge will be kept, providing only that the end of the war finds a free Britain to restore sovereignty and a free Denmark to accept it, American policy would have been better satisfied if the task of guarding Iceland had been delegated to our Canadian neighbors.

Iceland is a stepping zone to the American continental zone in which we maintain the Monroe Doctrine. The announced purpose in dispatching the British protective force was that otherwise the island, possessing no defense force of its own, might be seized by the Germans as an air and submarine base which would have threatened Canada.

That more Americans do not appreciate this threat is due to the maps in our school geographies. Drawn on Mercator's projection, they give a false impression of infinite space in the polar and subpolar regions that is dispelled by the inspection of a terrestrial globe. Greenland, whose shores come within 130 miles of Iceland at one point, is within the American continental zone, and Iceland borders upon it.

We must revise our ideas of Greenland as an icy, impenetrable barrier. Recent explorations, as Earl P. Hanson reports in the current issue of Harper's Magazine, have shown that flying weather is better over interior Greenland than over the Atlantic farther south. The interior ice cap forms what is virtually a great landing field. Far from being a bulwark barring attacks on the American continent, Greenland is actually a gateway to it, Hanson maintains.

That gateway we should control. Henrik de Kauffmann, the Danish minister at Washington, apparently has adopted the policy of doing what his king would order done if the king did not have a Nazi pistol at his ear. Mr. De Kauffmann has hinted that the establishment of an American protectorate over Greenland would not be unwelcome to the Danes. The hint should be enough.

It is possible we would now have Greenland if Secretary Seward had not met so much ridicule over his purchase of Alaska in 1867. He wanted at that time to purchase Greenland, Iceland, and the Virgin Islands from Denmark, and the reports prepared under his direction show that he appreciated their strategic value at that early date. He did arrange for the purchase of the Virgin Islands, but the country-wide cry of "Seward's icebox" over Alaska prevented his carrying out his plan as to Greenland and Iceland.

Time has long since vindicated Secretary Seward's purpose of taking every opportunity to eliminate by peaceful means the outposts of European nations in the new world.

That policy the Roosevelt administration has neglected, despite its attempts to extend the Monroe Doctrine, to which the European outposts furnish aggravating complications, despite the increased range of weapons that make such acquisitions more desirable than ever, and despite the situation in Europe that repeatedly has raised the question whether those possessions will remain in friendly hands.

HAIL AND FAREWELL.

A new organization has been born, known as the National Conference of Real Estate Taxpayers. It no doubt will hold annual conventions and have a lot of committees and vice presidents. It will have headquarters, a secretariat, and an annual banquet, and from time to time brochures will be published, embellished with tables and charts, to prove that real estate taxation as imposed in most states and localities in this country is destroying real estate values and is inequitable in the bargain. Speeches will be made and resolutions will be passed unanimously denouncing the extravagance of government in the roundest of terms and demonstrating that this kind of thing can't go on much longer without producing a catastrophe.

It's all true and perhaps the new association will remedy matters, but unless this organization is materially different from most of the national societies for improving local government the gain will be small in relation to the cost in time, effort, and money.

Real estate taxpaying is essentially a local matter, controled by local governments. If real estate taxes are excessive, unjust, and destructive the remedy lies not in forming a national association but in improving the quality of local government. Practically speaking, the way—and the only way—to do that is to nominate and elect competent and honest men to public office in counties and cities. Nominations are made by political parties, not by National Conferences for This and That.

It is, of course, easier and pleasanter to organize a national association than to organize for effective political action in a locality. Politics, and particularly local politics, are regarded by most citizens as too dirty for clean hands to touch. Accordingly, we go on having wasteful and extravagant government of our cities, the gangsters and racketeers generally get along nicely with elected officials, and real estate taxation is excessive. Because the people who hate graft and corruption spend their organizing talents where they do little good and refuse to assume partisan responsibilities in their own communities our political parties are run as they are.

Consider Chicago, for example. The best opinion is that something like 25 per cent of the taxes collected in this community for its local governments is wasted in the sense that it is not spent for community services. Some of the excess is graft; more of it, probably, goes to support a political machine by the employment in the public services of incompetent, unneeded, and overpaid help. These pay rollers draw salaries at the taxpayers' expense, but devote their time and attention largely to the service of the party organization to which they owe their jobs.

Real estate taxpayers who want to end these abuses can do so by organizing for control of a political party, contributing to its support, working in it and thru it to see that it nominates the right kind of candidate.

Practically speaking, again, it would be a waste of time and effort to seek to gain influence in the Democratic party in most of our metropolitan cities. There the machine is so strongly intrenched that the chances of overcoming it are poor. The obvious course is to use the Republican party—join it, pay dues to it, and precinct by precinct and ward by ward organize the voting power of those who want honest and efficient government.

That is a difficult job, requiring a great deal of time, and thought, and some money, as well as a talent and taste for political action. It is not an easy task and progress would probably be slow at the start, but any other approach to the problem of excessive real estate taxation is impractical and almost certainly doomed to futility.

WHEN SPEECH IS FREE AND WHEN NOT FREE.

If the labor relations board has heard of the Supreme court opinion read by Justice Murphy affirming the right of strikers to argue with nonstrikers, no evidence of it is to be found in the new order given the Ford company to stop distributing pamphlets to its workers, this time at its St. Louis plant. Twice before the board has ordered the company to desist. The board has held that an expression of opinion by the company management to its workers constitutes coercion and intimidation and is not protected by the freedom of press and speech.

These constitutional rights, in the board's theory, do not exist when the employer faces his employés. They do not exist when he undertakes to present his views to them, and he is barred from taking any part in a discussion of labor organizations.

Justice Murphy's opinion on a state law and a city ordinance prohibiting pickets from accosting workers and endeavoring to persuade them was based upon finding that the rights of free speech had been denied. It is fairly common knowledge that when strikers accost nonstrikers and endeavor to persuade them, intimidation is the first argument. It is not assumed in the court's opinion that the plausibility that there would be some menace in the expression of opinion is sufficient to deny the broad right to the individual. He exercises his right as a right and if offenses attend it that is another matter for other treatment. The possibility that there will be offense does not in itself cancel the right.

The labor board reverses this and holds that the employer necessarily undertakes to intimidate and interfere when he exercises the right possessed by his employés. One of the amendments to the Wagner labor act in congress would correct this restriction of privilege by conferring on one element of citizenship the same privilege conferred on the other. That may be one way out. The Ford company has applied to the courts for relief and the question may be settled there, where the judiciary has never been insensitive to the preservation of this fundamental guaranty of free government.

CORNER RIGHTS.

[Indianapolis News.]

Auto collisions at corners where neither intersecting street is preferential continue to mar the safety records. Obedience to an ancient rule of the road would, however, reduce these collisions. This rule has been incorporated into the state traffic code. It provides that "when two vehicles enter an intersection from different highways at the same time the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield the right of way to the vehicle on the right." Every intersection where no signals have been installed is a dangerous corner. The rule is a simple and easily followed method of avoiding collisions. It should be as generally observed as the custom of driving on the right hand side of the road.

"CAISSONS ARE ROLLING"—FINAL.

This column's quest for the best possible set of words to "The Artillery Song" has led us back to its source—the verses written by its composer, Col. Edmund L. Gruber, when a lieutenant on service in the Philippines in 1908. We have received dozens of parodic additional stanzas, but the true creative work seems to have been done for all time by the original author. After all, a song is a song, as Gertrude Stein might say, and this spirited soldier chant cannot be taken out of its "caissons" groove.

Our study of the song and its background brought out a curious fact: The published song sheets which we examined fail to credit Col. Gruber as author-composer. The caissons song rolled along for some years in folk song style, by oral communication, uncopyrighted; and when the publishers got hold of it extraneous names were slapped under its title—arrangers and copyright claimants. John Philip Sousa's arrangement as a march carries a slightly corrupt version of the lyric [one stanza and chorus] but no evidence relating to Col. Gruber. In fact, it suggests that the "March King" himself was entitled to the laurels of authorship.

Col. Gruber's words differ in a few minor points from the verses on the song sheets that are knocking around; but the difference is in his favor. Moreover, his lyric has five stanzas instead of the conventional two of the music publishing business; and thus offers material to satisfy any choral gathering.

This is the version that will be used whenever the W-G-N double quartet sings Henry Weber's new arrangement of the score. These words have been authenticated by Col. Gruber, and were first published in full in the Field Artillery Journal, July and August, 1926.

ANY PERSON TO ANOTHER.

How can you stand there,
arrogant man,
and tell me sagely you know best?
Have you been given a neat A plus on some tremendous final test?
Are you so unimpeachable or do you find me teachable?
Pursue your course,
puff out your chest, continue stating
you know best.
Outwardly I'll be so meek you'll think I've turned the other cheek, but all the while beneath my breast
I'll go on knowing
I know best!

Seems tha concern handles a small side-line of paint called Lemonall or Ruinitall or sumthin cause one bleary-eyed egg pesters me 9 times a-wanting to know if I'm gonna paint my barn this year. After 8 or 10 or mebbe 12 heists I notice a lotta wall-flowers sittin around, and me, that last word in the art of terpsicore [polkas an 2 steps a specialty] braces a bimbo an asks her if she'd like to dance. The pretty reply is, "Yes, but not with tha likes of you, scram."

About 4 a. m. a well-oiled foreigner tried to introduce himself to tha gang at our table, but nobody could understand his language. It sounded to me like Scotch, but then a gain it might of been Rye. LADY, IN WAITING.

He was tall and strong and handsome
(As Prince Charmings always are)
And he said that he would meet her
At first glimmer of a star.
But he did not come at sundown,
Nor at starlight time, and yet
She said aloud, "It simply couldn't be
That he'd forget!"
But her echo answered softly,
"—he'd forget!"

"No, he wouldn't!" she responded,
"And he'll be here yet, I know.
O, why do the tiny minutes
And the seconds linger so?
Surely some one must have kept him;
He's delayed as like as not!
Because I know it simply couldn't be
That he forgot!"
But her echo answered sadly,

A Feast of Antiques.

"You must go to Williamsburg, Va.," urged my friends, "and see colonial America restored. There is tradition, history, and taste. It will give you food for thought."

So I went to Williamsburg and saw rooms replete with rare bits. Wing chairs and Dressing tables on Turkey rugs. Bureaux inlaid with Oyster Walnut, and numerous Pie-crust tables. A Joint stool and a Kidney desk, with various things in Fruitwood. And a room completely lined in Pickled Pine. Much else.

A feast indeed and excellent in taste.

SKIN BLEMISHES: WARTS, WENS, AND MOLES.

Of all the growths that appear on the surface of the body the most common is the lowly wart. But these excrescences differ in origin from other blemishes because the origin is an infection—a true virus. This explains why they are likely to be exhibited anywhere and why they may spread. With some persons they come and go at will—defying every form of treatment except surgery. Regardless of what method of eradication is used, a few weeks later they may blossom in another region.

Those that invade the bearded areas of the face render shaving difficult. Razor cuts cannot be avoided and bleeding may be annoying. In addition, the causative agent may be scattered in this fashion and the number of protuberances increase appreciably.

For the most part, however, warts will be found on the hands and scalp. Those which infest the soles of the feet may feel like small shot just beneath the skin. But now and then they are large in size and require either X-ray or radium. In many instances the whirlpool bath—with water as hot as can be borne—will cause them to soften and swell, whereupon they will protrude and may be lifted out of their beds easily.

A single, solitary affair may be eliminated by the application of a chemical such as nitric or glacial acetic acid, or the cells may be coagulated [frozen] with carbon dioxide snow. Laundry employés may observe that when their hands are immersed in soapy or chlorine solutions—after a week or so relief will come. Sometimes the electric spark [fulguration] is utilized.

Quite different are the brownish or yellowish, flat elevations known as seborrheic warts. Irregular in outline—they may be noted in great profusion chiefly on the chest and backs of those with greasy skins. Rough and pitted on the top, a soaplike substance can be expressed by gentle scraping. Occasionally they will be encountered on the abdominal walls of those who are elderly. The electric needle offers the best treatment and each lesion must be attacked individually. Only an expert should be permitted to attempt extirpation.

Another tumor that may become a veritable deformity is the sebaceous cyst or wen. While many may be of pea size, others will attain the dimensions of an orange. We have all seen examples of these shiny knobs on the scalp or the neck. Far more frequent in middle age, women are affected more often than men. Ofttimes the contents consists of cheesy, whitish to yellowish material which is foul smelling. While these swellings may disappear spontaneously should they become infected, the ensuing inflammation will usually destroy them. But under ordinary conditions they will refill and continue to grow until the lining membrane [the secreting structure] is excised.

Moles are readily resognized, as they generally foster a few hairs. Some are deeply brownish—even purplish in shade—while others can scarcely be distinguished from the surrounding epidermis. With these "humps" particularly, irritation must be avoided—that is, any type of stimulation that will lead to multiplication of the cells. This means that any lesion of this sort which—because of its location—is exposed to rubbing or pressure—should be removed. The reason is that occasionally one of these baby tumors will take unto itself the urge to travel. While this may not occur routinely, we must all be alert to the situation, as getting rid of these masses is so simple. Those on the face may be treated with fulguration, using a high frequency current, or an electric needle in the hands of a trained operator may be employed.

Naturally, a good cosmetic result is desired and—rather than undertake the home application of a caustic—we may save ourselves immediate complications as well as many years of embarrassment by seeking skilled aid. A well trained skin specialist should be in charge.

PARALYSES.

C. T. writes: What is the difference between spastic paralysis and infantile?

REPLY.

The spastic form is characterized by marked rigidity of the muscles. The tendon reflexes are also greatly increased. The cause is frequently an injury to the brain—possibly during birth. This obliges the patient to get about in a jerky fashion. Infantile paralysis, or poliomyelitis, is an infection resulting in inflammation of the gray substance of the spinal cord. All too often atrophy [wasting of the muscles] ensues.

X-RAY FOR SINUS.

L. S. writes: Are X-ray treatments of any value in sinus trouble?

REPLY.

Good results have been reported in some cases of chronic, long standing infection. Raising the body resistance is the best answer, however, provided the drainage outlets are free.

HOT AND COLD.

C. K. writes: I know that cold hands indicate poor circulation, but what do hot hands mean?

REPLY.

Dilatation of the capillaries in the skin. A nervous reaction which relaxes the blood vessels may be responsible.

GOLD CURE.

T. T. writes: What is the gold cure for tuberculosis?

REPLY.

Salts of the metal [gold] have been employed for this purpose, particularly in the Scandinavian countries. Results, however, are not encouraging.

DISORDERED STATE.

J. Z. writes: What is a psychosis?

REPLY.

Any disorder characterized by mental aberrations. The malady may involve anxiety, depression, and physical exhaustion.

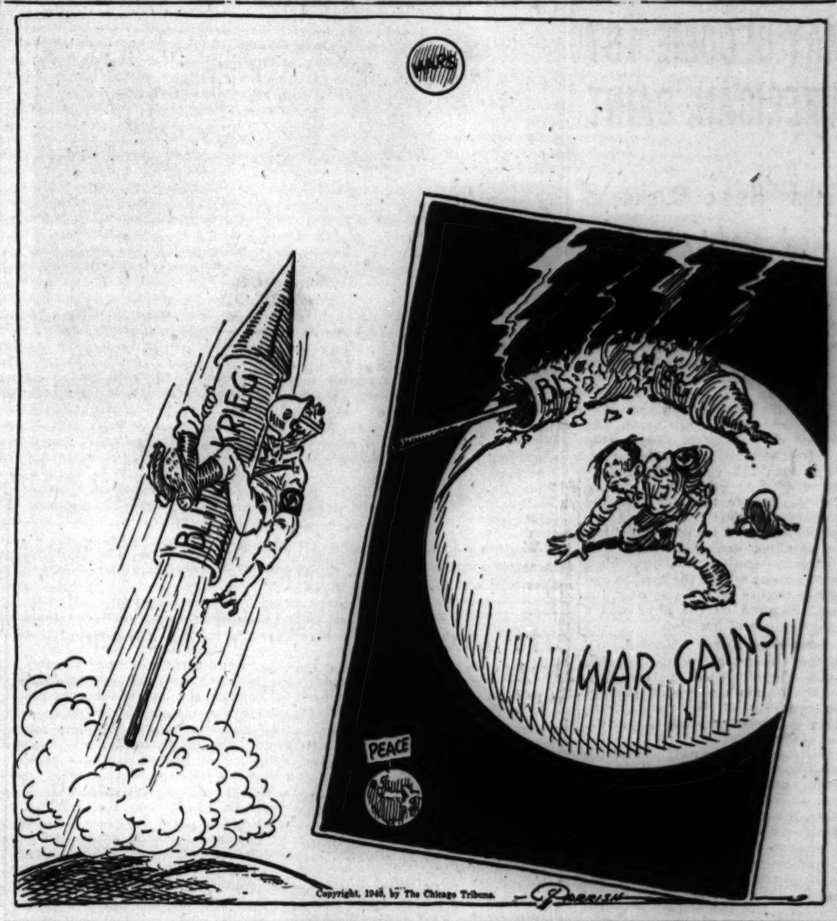

TODAY IN HISTORY

May 13, 1865

Last battle between union and confederate forces fought at Palmito, near Palo Alto, Tex., more than a month after peace had been agreed upon at Appomattox. As in the war of 1812, communications were too slow to prevent further bloodshed. Texas had seen little military activity during the war, altho the pro-slavery feeling had been strong and the state had formally seceded from the union in 1861.

WHAT NORTHWEST SIDE NEEDS.

Chicago, May 10.—I read with rising indignation the proposal to expend some three and one-half million dollars for tunnels and fill-in at Oak street and the Outer drive.

I live in Chicago's fastest growing section, the northwest side, and drive to the loop every day via Foster avenue and the Outer drive. Traffic on Foster from the northwest side has reached the point of congestion; on arriving at the Outer drive it clears up and speeds merrily to the loop. All east and west thru streets that connect the northwest side with the Outer drive are congested, but are the fastest routes to the loop. If the engineers want to relieve traffic congestion on the Outer drive let them construct a northwest highway, and when the northwest side traffic is taken care of the Outer drive will be adequate for a generation or two.

A northwest superhighway is needed now, not only to relieve congestion from the north but to provide an efficient way to reach the recreational areas, subdivisions and towns northwest of Chicago and to provide a route for cheap rapid transit bus service.

Is it strange that the far northwest side votes Republican? It wants traffic relief now! JOHN W. TAUCHEN.

PASS THE FARMS AROUND.

Elgin, Ill., May 9.—If our government had taken the $20,000,000,000 [or thereabouts] that it has spent, or rather wasted foolishly during the last seven years on the 10,000,000 unemployed, and given each of these a $2,000 five acre farm with house, we would today have no relief problem, but in its place we would have instead of a PWA or WPA, 10 million self-respecting, self-supporting, high-grade American families.

It would mean 4,000 such small farms in every county in every state. Some would be popcorn kings; some horseradish producers; other strawberry growers; many would raise fruit from which to make preserves for sale, and this is one of the greatest of opportunities for thousands of small farms.

NEED LANES FOR CYCLISTS.

Chicago, May 10.—The recent tragic death of young Joe Termini, brilliant freshman athlete of Crane Tech High, killed while riding a bicycle, forcibly brings home the need for suitable cycling lanes.

Joe, one of the finest basketeers of the school team, suffered a day before he died of a broken neck—a fractured skull.

Put an extra curbing down the streets that would allow, say, four to five feet for the cyclists.

Maybe this isn't the answer. Then let's have a better one. And let's have it before more Joe Terminis are killed.

A JOB FOR MME. PERKINS.

Niles Center, Ill., May 11.—Labor unions are interstate in character and should come within the purview of the United States department of labor. The federal government should see that members of labor unions know when their officials are ex-convicts, etc. Also, members should know how dues they contribute are being spent.

How many members of labor unions receive yearly financial statements from their organizations? Is there a labor official who can answer this in the affirmative for his union? J. B.

PAGING THE CENSUS TAKER.

Chicago, May 10.—We're still waiting for the census taker. F. B. G.

THE BUSY BUS DRIVER.

Chicago, May 11.—Pity the poor fellow who drives the north side motor buses. He helps the kiddies and the old folks on and off the buses, he takes your fare and the passenger gets sore if he hasn't got change for a $10 bill. He punches transfers, answers a million foolish questions, has to keep track of certain streets that people want to stop at, has to keep a time schedule, watch traffic, stop lights, etc. He is supposed to know if there are seats on the upper deck of the bus and must point out the outstanding buildings and homes to strangers. He has to carry matches for the gals who smoke cigarets . . . and now they have posted a sign on the front of the bus, "Win a Hundred Dollar Prize" . . . name the orang-utans [monkeys to you] at the Lincoln park zoo. Ask the driver for information?"

"O, for the life of a bus driver." In New York they have a driver and a conductor on every bus and no standing room at any time. JONAS PERLBERG.

SEEK AN HONEST BUTCHER.

Chicago, May 8.—Answering the letter from A Reader, who complains of low visibility in butcher shops, I suggest that if he or she deals with an honest butcher the trouble would be solved. I am working as a meat cutter over 15 years and always wrap the meats a customer buys without dropping some alongside.

JOHN MOLITSCH.

FOR HONEST ELECTIONS.

Chicago Heights, Ill., May 8.—Referring to the vote frauds in Cook county, I believe the balloting can be greatly safeguarded by slightly changing our existing election law.

Do away with absentee voting. If a voter does not think enough of his country to make arrangements to visit the poles on election day he is not worth bothering with. Next, do not allow any assistance in voting, and I believe the illiterates would greatly shrink in numbers, but all that are worthy of voting could do so. A person does not have to be able to write in order to vote. Also, if a ballot is not marked in the square with pen and ink it should not be counted; and last do away with the circle at top of ballot and indicate by crossing square in front of candidates' names whom they wish to vote for. I think this would be a big help. C. J. H.

WPA BRIDGE TEACHERS.

Chicago, May 10.—The WPA maintains bridge teachers at the fieldhouses. Of all the useless occupations! A group of veteran players has formed clubs meeting at the various fieldhouses. They furnish the equipment, also a director from among their number. I have yet to see the "teacher" [no credentials] do anything but fill in for an absent member. Surely these men and women teachers could be assigned to something useful. They seem able bodied.

HOMESTEAD RIGHTS.

Oak Park, Ill., May 8 [Legal Friend of the People].—A man and woman are married for over 18 years. The husband leaves the home, taking all his personal property, never making any attempt to return for over two years.

1. The home was purchased with the wife's money which she had before she married this man. The wife remained in the home.
2. Has this woman a homestead right?
3. What is a homestead right?
4. Where can a client get advice concerning attorney conduct?

1. You do not state in whose name the title was taken. If in the husband's name, the wife's chances of proving that he holds as trustee would warrant going over the facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

2. Yes, in the sense that the husband could not convey without her joining.

3. Every householder having a family, has an estate of homestead of value of $1,000 in land and buildings thereon, owned or possessed by lease or otherwise and occupied as residence, which is exempt from attachment, levy or sale for payment of debts or other purposes. [52-1].

Exemption continues after death of householder for benefit of surviving husband or wife so long as he or she occupies homestead, and for benefit of children until youngest child becomes 21 years of age; and in case husband or wife deserts family, exemption continues in favor of the one occupying premises as resident. [52-2].

Homestead not exempt as against taxes or assessments or debt or liability incurred for purchase or improvement thereof. [52-3].

Release or conveyance of homestead must be in writing signed by householder and his or her husband or wife and acknowledged. [52-4].

In case of divorce, court may dispose of homestead estate according to equities. [52-5].

Proceeds of sale of homestead property to extent of $1,000 exempt from execution for one year and may be reinvested in new homestead. [52-6].

If creditors believe homestead premises are worth more than $1,000 officer holding execution must summon three commissioners to appraise property, and if in their opinion property may be divided without injury they must set off to debtor so much of said premises, including dwelling house, as shall be worth $1,000, and residue may be sold. [52-10].

When premises cannot be divided, and in opinion of commissioners value is more than $1,000, unless execution debtor pays to officer the excess value within 60 days, premises may be sold and out of proceeds $1,000 must be paid to debtor and the balance applied on execution. [52-11, 12].

LIVING ANGELUS RINGS IN W-G-N SYMPHONIC HOUR

Song and Music Interpret Famous Painting.

An interpretation in song and music of Millet's famous painting, "The Angelus," highlighted the Chicago Tribune Symphonic hour presented last night over W-G-N and the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system. The program, the third of the new Sunday evening series, was dedicated to Mother's day.

A full color reproduction of "The Angelus"—which portrays two work-worn peasants reverently bowing their heads as they listen to the distant evensong—was presented yesterday on the first page of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE drama section. Last night the 600 studio guests and radio listeners were invited to turn to that picture as it was brought to life in a dramatization by William A. Bacher, director of the Symphonic hour.

Chorus Joins in Song.

On the studio stage Judith Lowry and Herbert Butterfield portrayed the peasants, broken by toil. Softly, from far across imaginary fields, came music from "The Angelus" of Jules Massenet, played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra. Voices of the chorus joined in as the song grew louder.

As the couple bowed in prayer the voice of Soprano Marion Claire came from afar. Softly she sang the "Ave Maria."

"This is His hour, that He shares with us," said the peasant Jean to his tired wife. "Here in the cool of the evening He bids us rest and give thanks. When the Angelus rings even the soil gives thanks."

Orchestra Presents Program.

Later in the program the orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, presented the First Movement from the D minor symphony, the great mystic symphony of Cesar Franck. Other selections by the orchestra included the "Overture Coriolanus," by Beethoven, the "Bridal Song Serenade," by Goldmark, and "The Joy of the Hunters," by Von Weber.

In another feature of the symphonic hour Miss Claire and the chorus joined in presenting the Lord's Prayer in song. Miss Claire also sang Brahms' "Wie Bist du Meine Koenigen" and Carpenter's "The Sleep That Flits on Baby's Eyes."

The Rev. John Evans, religious editor of THE TRIBUNE, was the speaker of the evening. He dedicated the program to mothers the world over.

The invited guests who filled the studio were members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and their families. Oscar G. Mayer, president of the association, was guest of honor.

WM. M'GUFFAGE, CIVIL WAR VET, IS DEAD AT 99

William McGuffage.

William McGuffage, a civil war veteran, died yesterday in his home at 7843 Euclid avenue. He was 99 years old. Born in Hampton, England, he came to the United States about 1850.

He enlisted in 1861 in Duryea's Zouaves, the 5th New York volunteers, Company F. He was discharged from the army Dec. 24, 1862, after being wounded in the second battle of Bull Run. He also took part in battles at Hanover courthouse and Malvern hill, in Virginia. He was a member of Old Glory post, No. 798, of the G. A. R.

A sail and tent maker by trade, Mr. McGuffage retired about 20 years ago. He had come to Chicago in 1880, after spending some time here 20 years earlier. At the time of his death he was living with a son, William J., and a daughter, Miss Mary McGuffage. Two other sons, John, of 6030 Blackstone avenue, and George, of Denver, Colo., also survive, as well as eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Peace church. Burial will be at Mount Olivet cemetery.

Crisp, Smart Cotton Clothes Arrive for Summer Wardrobes

BY REA SEEGER.

So far, there's never been a cotton crop failure in the summer fashion showings. Welcomed every season with tumultuous acclaim by young and not so young, cotton clothes are big time favorites for any wardrobe. Gadabouts vote smart, slim cotton suits of either seersucker or chambray the best of the travel togs.

Costume accessory collectors spend every available penny for the crisp looking hats, belts, bags, gloves, and footgear fashioned of cool, colorful cotton. Career girls wear comfortable, spotlessly clean cotton suits, dresses and lingerie all summer long because it stays that way thru the most sultry weather.

Active and spectator sports wardrobes are all of cotton—white pique, poplin or broadcloth tennis dresses, checked gingham play outfits of wrap-around skirt and underlayer of shorts with blouse cut in one piece; beach coats, swim suits. And this summer are featured "ditto" fashions in cotton—mother and small daughter in exactly matching aprons over matching simple daytime dresses, in cotton housecoats and in the newest cotton swim suits.

Cotton corduroy jackets in bright colors—red, yellow, blue and a few creamy whites—are tagged with modest price marks and may be worn with these spectator sports and beach outfits.

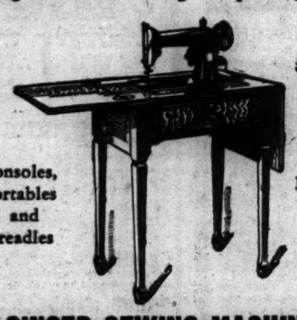

Summer party dresses are lovelier than ever, made of sheer cottons with ruffles, with lace trim or made of trim, precise printed or plain cotton piqué. Stripes, checks, plaids, and the allover printed designs flash against cool white or delicate pastels.

Cotton weddings are picturesque, flattering and easy on the allowance. Fluttery organdies, dimities, embroidered swiss, eyelet embroidery, old fashioned mull and muslin, and cotton nets are used for bridal gown and bridesmaids' gowns alike.

Separate jackets of cotton piqué for tailored daytime wear as well as frosting for evening sheers, are snappy in outline, brief of sleeve or made with long fitted sleeves. They have plenty of chest pockets and a shallow vee so that with a dark skirt they can combine as a distinctive street ensemble.

Jacket blouse effects come in checked gingham, in striped piqué, and in chambray ready for accent duty with a plaited skirt, or with a simple cotton dress. It's official cotton week around the country, the stores and shops are crammed with enough fashion loot in cotton to justify a regular shopping binge for the summer wardrobe. Early shoppers snap the best buys while the showings are complete.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., May 12.—The movie village is particularly interested in pictures or picture making as the war news crowds page 1 and fills the radio sets. Most vitally concerned are the Englishmen and Englishwomen of the colony, who have had a pretty wretched time of it in the last six months due to the irresolution of Chamberlain and those close to him.

Most concerned of the producers probably is Charlie Chaplin, whose "The Dictator" has been affected seriously by the new developments in Europe. It is one thing to construct a satirical comedy about dictators, but when one of them seizes half of Europe, the subject no longer may be considered comical. It is this reporter's guess that Chaplin may be forced to alter his story to keep in step with the headlines, but that is only a guess.

"Waterloo Bridge," on the other hand, with Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor, is perfectly timed for release. It is Taylor's grandest performance; vindicates his decision to withdraw from "Northwest Passage." Miss Leigh, in her first start since "Gone With the Wind," scores again solidly.

Mary Benny's sister, Babe, weds Myrt Blum at Las Vegas in a few hours. . . . Joan Crawford's honey is supposed to be an eastern writer. . . . Friends are trying to patch up the Tony Martin-Alice Faye rift. . . . June Preisser is wearing a ring from Jack Hopkins. . . . Katharine Hepburn's kid sister, Peggy, is hot and bothered over a classmate in her drama school. His name is Coles. . . . Garson Kanin making passes at Betty Field. . . . Zanuck previews his "Lillian Russell" tomorrow. . . . The Roger Pryors [Ann Sothern] will adopt a baby.

David O. Selznick planning a gigantic reorganization of his setup. . . . Cary Grant and Julie Colt running a temperature. . . . The Bob Hopes off for Chicago tomorrow, and then to White Sulphur Springs. . . . Martha Scott and Owen Davis Jr. a twosome. . . . The Arthur Pedersons have adopted a daughter [she penned "All This and Heaven, Too"]. . . . Louella Parsons will be a grandmaw when the King Kennedy baby arrives.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

We, who have been happily accustomed to viewing Walter Pidgeon as a nature's nobleman, experience something of a shock as, in "The Dark Command" he assumes the mantle of a prince of darkness and villains all over the place.

It is his mission, in the screen personality of Outlaw Cantrell, to detail the misdeeds of Kansas' civil war guerrilla. And so you see him pillaging, committing ruthless arson and murder, commanding a band of desperadoes who make the countryside unsafe for the innocent bystander.

The hero? The cowboy known as John Wayne. And speaking of cowboys, the cast features another, second in popularity to Gene Autry. His name—Roy Rogers—and he plays brother to the heroine [Claire Trevor], a sweet maiden hailing from the south. Father of the two is the town banker.

Locale is in and around Lawrence, Kas., circa 1860.

When you meet Cantrell he is teaching school in the small western town. His heart is set on marriage with Mary McCloud, who, somehow, just can't see him as a husband.

Arrives Bob Seton, assisting Ol' Doc Grunch, a traveling dentist. When he spots the banker's daughter he decides that his roving days are over and that he and the doc will settle down right there. They do.

Rivalry for Mary's hand AND for the office of sheriff make enemies of the two suitors. . . . When Cantrell loses out at election, he turns gall bitter. He is determined to be a somebody, good OR bad. And he turns out B-A-D!

If you like pictures of this type, you should go in a big way for this well acted, staged and directed western.

Indiana Painter, 27, Wins $4,000 Prix de Rome Award

New York, May 12 (AP).—The New York offices of the American academy in Rome announced today that Loren Russell Fisher, 27 years old, of Needham, Ind., had been awarded the annual Prix de Rome fellowship in painting. The estimated value of the two year fellowship is $4,000. Fisher's main entry was "Chicken Market," a painting done with terra verte underpainting and color oil glazes on an oil panel. Fisher studied at the John Herron Art school of Indianapolis.

Shirley Temple Quits Movies; Buys Release from Contract

Hollywood, Cal., May 12 (AP).—No longer "a cute little girl with dimples and twinkling feet," Shirley Temple is leaving the studio where she rose to stardom.

Shirley is growing up. Now 11 years old, she has lost the position of No. 1 star of the screen, which she held from 1935 to 1938, inclusive.

Shirley at age 3.

On her 7th birthday.

The Shirley of today.

Twentieth-Century Fox, for which Shirley is reported to have earned $20,000,000, was willing to give her up. So Mr. and Mrs. George Temple paid for their daughter's release, altho her contract ran to July 1.

"We feel that it is not a question of Shirley's personal appeal," said Mrs. Temple, "but rather a matter of stories. Admittedly greater discernment is required in the selection of material for Shirley today than when she was just a cute little girl with dimples and twinkling feet.

"We feel that Twentieth-Century Fox has made an effort toward finding proper and suitable material, but the results have not been satisfactory to suit the new growing-up phase in Shirley's life."

Altho Shirley slipped to third place last year as a box office attraction, she still was the first feminine star, with only Clark Gable and Tyrone Power ahead of her.

The terms of her contract never have been disclosed, but she has earned one of the top salaries. Mrs. Temple also was paid to be with her at the studio. Shirley's earnings have been invested by her father, a business counselor and former bank employé.

Mrs. Temple said she did not think it wise to deprive her daughter "of those normal, natural benefits that may be derived from mingling and competing with a large number of children."

"Shirley's education has been complete, but she has lacked the full companionship most children get thru their school years," Mrs. Temple said.

"This does not mean that if an opportunity comes which will spell advancement for Shirley in a professional way, that we will ignore it. We are constantly aware of Shirley's love for her work. She never has regarded it as work. It always has been play.

"That spark was born in her and it is our duty to see that it is nurtured, not crowded, or stifled."

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the 20th Century-Fox board, disclosed Shirley will receive bonuses totaling $300,000 from a trust fund which the studio had created and had been adding to since the fall of 1936.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

[Copyright: 1940; By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Millicent Dunham's mother dreams of marrying her off to Dick Shard, who is kind, distinguished and rich. Dick lives in New York, but Mr. Dunham had worked for the Shard firm in Kansas, and after his death Dick had given Mrs. Dunham a job. On a business trip to New York, Dick invites Mrs. Dunham to a theater party, and after the show she is killed saving Dick from being hit by a car. While she is dying she makes Dick promise to marry Millicent. Tho Dick is in love with Constance Stewart, whose husband Aleck is an invalid, he feels obligated to keep his promise to Mrs. Dunham. Millicent, who has been left penniless and untrained, realizes she doesn't love Dick, but she thinks he loves her, and upon the advice of Dr. Ogden, a family friend, she marries him. On their way to New York, following their wedding, Dick confesses the reason he married her. He tells her she can get a divorce, but advises her to live with him for six months, during which time she will be free to do as she pleases. She is humiliated but sees no other way out, so agrees to this arrangement. Dick tells Constance how badly his wife is dressed, and she gets Millicent a personal maid who chooses Millicent's clothes for her. Dick returns home the first evening after he is back at work, expecting to find Millicent tearful, but instead she is entertaining Michael Curley, a young man she has met that day at the Metropolitan museum. Constance gives a bridal dinner for Dick and Millicent, planning to show off her own beauty in comparison with dowdily dressed Millicent, but instead Millicent is exquisitely dressed and very beautiful and makes quite an impression on all the guests. Donald Eaves, a suave worldling, is one of the guests and goes into his usual rôle of flirting with the neglected wife. He is all eyes for the bride and warns her against Constance. When they get home that night Dick admits his love for Constance to Millicent.

INSTALMENT XIX.

A VISITOR.

Dick began to think that perhaps it was his duty to warn Millicent more seriously than he had done before—that he owed that to her mother's memory—not to let the child get mixed up with an unscrupulous bounder like Eaves. Constance was right—Eaves would be very likely to attempt revenge thru an innocent child like Millicent.

Driving home in the car—the Andrews lived in 94th street, so the drive would be long—he asked her if she had enjoyed herself.

"O," she answered, with a gasp, "so much . . . I never enjoyed anything as much. I'm afraid I kept you too late, but that first time you asked me if I were ready to come home I couldn't tear myself away. Are you annoyed with me?"

"Of course not. I want you to enjoy yourself."

"I am enjoying myself—more than you can imagine." He saw in the passing flash of a light that a smile which she had intended to be polite and grateful had passed out of her control and become a little laugh.

"Good. I want you to be happy and enjoy yourself, and to look back at this time of your life as one of the best holidays. . . ."

"Something tells me there is going to be a 'but' in the sentence eventually."

"I resent that—eventually. I haven't been so long winded. . . ."

"I'm sorry, Dick. I didn't mean that."

"Yes, you did. You meant exactly that. You meant that you didn't want to be lectured."

"Well," said Millicent, and paused. "Well, if we're going to be perfectly candid, I suppose I don't want to be lectured much—this evening particularly when I've been so happy."

"I'm not going to lecture you. I'm going to tell you that, wanting you to be happy, I think there is one of your new friends who won't help much."

"I hope you don't mean Mr. Curley."

This was most disingenuous. "No, I don't mean Curley. I mean Donald Eaves. He is a man for whom the saying might have been invented—that a married woman's greatest charm is her husband."

"You mean that if I weren't married to you he wouldn't notice me? Really, Dick, you do say the most depressing things to a girl——" She gave a slight schoolgirl giggle that he found irritating.

"I mean that any woman who has ever let herself get fond of Eaves has repented—and with reason."

"How do you prevent yourself getting fond of a person?"

"If you see that he's no good and that no good can possibly come of your friendship——" He stopped, for he saw that Millicent was shaking her head.

"That's no use," she said. "You must have told yourself that often and often when you were first falling in love with Mrs. Stewart."

Shard stiffened at once. "I certainly couldn't have told myself that Constance was no good."

"O, well, you must have known that no good could come of it."

"Good has come of it. I have been able to help her—to smooth her life in some small way, and I have had the happiness and inspiration of knowing her."

"Well," said Millicent, "inspiration apparently comes from queer places—maybe I'll get some from Donald."

"I'm afraid I doubt that."

"I'll let you know which of us is right," she said, and yawned frankly.

"Look, young woman, be as annoying as you like, but listen to me. That man will make you unhappy if you give him the chance."

"He hasn't, so far."

The car was stopping as Shard answered: "Well, when he breaks your heart don't come to me for sympathy."

As the man opened the door and she stepped out, she said over her shoulder: "I shall, tho, because, as he says, 'you're so dependable.'"

They went up in the elevator in silence and parted without a word. This was a new aspect of Millicent, Shard thought—not an agreeable one. He had only been trying to do his duty. What really did he care about the happiness of Miss Dunham from Kansas? He certainly wouldn't interfere again. Even a husband in name only could be made to look like a prig if he offered advice and guidance—well, he wouldn't offer it.

He felt more justified in neglecting this Millicent—not that his conduct changed but his conscience was clearer. Every day he left for the office before she was awake and came home only just in time to dress for dinner. They dined out almost every night. Of recent years Shard had given up dining anywhere except with the Stewarts, but in old times—in the first days of his coming to New York, he had eagerly accepted any invitation to a house where there was a chance of seeing Constance. Now he returned to this earlier manner, snatching at even such scattered moments. Milly, of course, wanted to go everywhere she was asked. "After all," she said, "it may be the only six months I shall ever spend in New York. I want to see all I can."

He noted that she was no longer lonely. Coming home even as late as seven he often found people with her—both men and women—or he could see by the rifled condition of the tea table that people had just left.

The name of Michael Curley kept coming into her conversation—he had taken her to the museum of natural history—he had told her about Atlantis. Eaves was never mentioned, but Shard, who had once been very familiar with his technique, was aware of it now.

Eaves didn't spring to Milly's side as she entered a room. He let several minutes pass before he found himself, as it were, accidentally at her elbow. Then, drawing up his shoulders, he would bend a little to her and say something in his low voice, and presently, like automatons actuated by the same force, they would move quietly out of the group—and be alone. Also Shard noticed that Milly often wore white orchids. White orchids had become poisonously familiar to him in the days when Eaves was courting Constance.

One morning in his office he had just finished a long conference with a copper magnate when his secretary came in to say that a young man had been waiting almost an hour to see him—a Mr. Curley. Shard sent for him at once and greeted him warmly: "I had given orders not to disturb me, but if I had known it was you . . ."

Curley interrupted. "I suppose I oughtn't to be here at all," he said. "In fact, I nearly ran out without saying what I came to say." He gave a little nervous laugh.

"Sit down and have a cigaret and let's hear what it is."

The boy obeyed—took the cigaret and forgot to light it. "You'll believe I wouldn't have come to you if I could have thought of any other earthly thing to do. . . . I haven't been to bed. . . . I spent the night wandering about the riverside, trying to think what I ought to do. . . ."

Shard thought: "Merciful powers, he's going to ask me for Millicent's hand—he's going to urge me to get a divorce . . . what has she told me? . . . what ought I to tell him?" Nothing of this showed in his manner.

Tortes are cakey desserts, usually put together in layers with a jam filling, and topped with meringue or whipped cream and nuts. Most of them start with a sponge cake base. Now that we can buy sponge layers and lady fingers in grocery stores as well as bakeries, it isn't necessary to bake the sponge cake at home.

PARTY TORTE.

Bake a sponge cake in the usual tube pan. With a very sharp knife, cut it into four layers. It's better to do this the day after the cake is baked. Place the bottom layer on a cake plate and spread rather thickly with a mixture of cream cheese and currant or raspberry jelly, beaten to a smooth fluff. Add the second sponge layer. Spread with orange marmalade and top with the third layer. Spread with plain currant or raspberry jelly and sprinkle with silvered almonds. Add top layer. Frost the whole cake with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle with finely shredded nuts.

Similar desserts may be concocted from angel cake or white layer cake, splitting the layers. Any delectable kind of jam or preserves may be used, or cream fillings with sliced fresh fruit or berries or chopped nuts may be used between the layers.

Orange Pecan Torte.

7 eggs, separated
1½ cups sugar
Grated rind and juice of one orange
1 cup shredded pecan meats
1½ cups crumbs from any plain cake
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg yolks until thick and light. Add half the sugar, ¾ cup gradually and continue to beat the mixture until creamy. Add grated rind and juice of orange, nuts and cake crumbs. Stale sponge cake crumbs do nicely in this dessert. Or crumbled lady fingers may be used.

Beat egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar, and beat until they stand in peaks. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating until the mixture is glossy. Fold into the crumbs. Add vanilla. Bake in two layer cake pans [ungreased, lined with waxed paper] in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Spread raspberry jam, cake icing or whipped cream between layers and over top of the cake. Sprinkle with more shredded nuts and chill before serving.

RASPBERRY RUM TORTE.

Bake sponge cake in two layers and sprinkle the layers while they still are warm with rum. Put layers together with raspberry jam and top with sweetened whipped cream. Chopped nuts may be sprinkled over the top of the cake if desired.

Any sweet wine may be sprinkled over cake in this way to make a similar dessert. Fresh fruit may be used for the cake filling. Cake layers sprinkled with port wine and with a filling of fresh or frozen sliced peaches, topped by whipped cream, are delicious!

The Housewife

It's fun to clean your fine rings at home if you provide yourself with a little jewelry cleaning kit that is as harmless as it is effective. It consists of a bottle of liquid, a tiny brush and a small piece of velour for polishing. You scrub the rings with the solution, rinse in lukewarm water, dry, and then polish with the cloth. They will sparkle so beautifully that you will decide to repeat the process often. EDITH WEIGLE.

Cathedral Open Forum.

William F. Clarke, dean of the De Paul university college of law, will speak this evening at the Cathedral Open Forum in the Knickerbocker hotel, 162 East Walton place. His topic will be "Crisis in Our Civilization."

Consult Physician if You Need Medicine to Reduce Weight

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We hear some women say that they cannot reduce because they are "glandular cases," which they've decided on their own diagnosis, understand. If a doctor had told them they were glandular that would be entirely different. They would have no right to reduce in any other manner than that prescribed by a physician, his instructions followed to the letter.

Incidentally, there is a grapevine reducing system we hope you women will give no ear to, much less body and health, without first asking your doctor about the advisability of your taking thyroid. It's serious business if you proceed on your own or a friend's advice when you attempt your reducing course on the products offered in these whispering campaigns.

Yes, we do know of cases in which reductions have been accomplished on the type "medicine" of which we speak, but the successful ones have been prescribed by physicians and operated under medical surveillance the whole period thru.

Know whether you are a glandular case or not by interviewing your physician. He is the only one who can tell you. If you turn out to be one, then submit your overweight problem to him. But if it is only an alibi, don't expect folks to believe you who eat with you and observe your appetite for every forbidden fruit.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

It isn't always convenient to hie yourself off to an exercise salon to solve a silhouette problem. But three round disks—and a phonograph—will bring the salon to you.

One of the best beauty authorities, noted for the successful exercise routines of her salons, now offers a home exercise course in an album of three phonograph records.

The course consists of 20 fundamental exercises for posture, breathing, limbering, and reducing. With the album comes a folder illustrating each exercise in double exposure. By placing the folder in front of you when you go thru the routine you can see how each exercise should be done and the voice of the invisible instructress tells you how it must be done. You may concentrate on the ones which you need most.

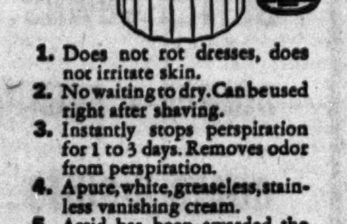

Exercises are a lot more fun when done to music, and this is an efficient way to do for your figure, what symphonies and concertos often do for your nerves—keep them under control. If there are youngsters about get them to exercise with you.

Carry the album and a portable phonograph with you if you're going to be away for the summer months. Go thru your daily dozen on the sand before you take your morning swim.

Arts Club Sees Animated Show by Its Members

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The grand finale each year to Chicago's art season is written at the Arts club with the hanging of the annual exhibition by professional members. This exhibit opened yesterday with a formal reception to members and guests and opens today to the public to be on view to June 5. It is a good show, interesting colorful and animated. One of the finest of the pictures is the glorious "California" by Charles P. Killgore. It is a stunning landscape.

Cecil Clark Davis, who is rarely seen in Chicago except at this show, has a charming portrait with a Spanish flavor, "Sonia Flis." Paul Trebilcock, whose New York studio has a north window 30 feet long and two stories high, is represented by a decorative portrait of Mrs. Donald Bowey, the pose a bit awkward, but the general effect striking. Webster Stokely, Alice Mason, Helga Haugan Dean, and Beatrice S. Levy show smaller portraits, each different, each of merit—that by Miss Dean, "Alice Ann," very attractive.

The outstanding figure painting in the show is "Clown Triste" by George Melville Smith. This is exquisite in color and beautiful in composition. The limp pose is fascinating and the 'clown-ness' of the figure grows upon one. By all odds this is one of the finds of the exhibit.

The least attractive figure painting is the nude Negro girl by Macena Barton whose title "Barbaric Madonna" is extremely misleading, the model being far from both barbarism and madonnahood.

"Still Life" by Averil Courtney Conwell is one of this artist's most successful canvases, a stunning still life. Nina K. Griffin has a beautiful still life in "Chinese Horse" and Agnes Potter Lowrie another in "La Viennoise." Clay Bartlett is piquant, gay original and French with his "Hat Fantasy," which skims the surrealist by a brim.

Ethel Crouch Brown gives us a bird's-eye view of Chicago in the spring with her decorative "Jackson Park." May H. Gilruth continues her list of sketchy successes with "Study." an old gentleman reading a newspaper; Miss Gilruth says more with less paint than seems possible.

The "Fountain Figure" by Sylvia Shaw Judson is a charming piece and Warner Williams' bas-relief, "Joan," is most attractive. In water colors we liked "Starboard Tack" by Clark J. Lawrence, "Watercolor" by Milo Winter and "Old Tapestry" by Ruth Van Sickle Ford.

Pattern Possesses Versatility

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The versatility of this pattern recommends it to women who like tailored, practical dresses for everyday wear and for the home. The design today fashions either a shirtwaist dress for office and informal social occasions or a trim, pretty house frock. Both versions make up well in plain, figured, and striped cottons, linens, and washable silks. Sketched at the left, the street frock that makes ingenious use of striped fabric to enhance the lines of the dress. Right, a collarless house frock with novel pockets and interesting button arrangement.

Style No. 3153 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved dress; 3¼ yards for short sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the summer Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Mexican Sojourn.

Acapulco, Mexico.

The blue-green Pacific breaks on the cliffs beneath our windows, the air smells of sea and salt mingled with the fragrance of tropical blooms in the garden: We have spent most of the day on a white coral beach with a panorama of mountain and palm trees. And we have, curled up in an overturned wastebasket on the tile floor of our dressing room, a baby fox for a pet. The baby fox was purchased in the town to effect his release from a Mexican who was holding him on display in the hot noon sunshine. What his future will be is uncertain, but surely his address will not be Chicago.

It was a quick trip from spring in Chicago to the heart of tropical summer. The prairies were brown beneath us as the plane sped southwest, and the oil well derricks in Wichita and Oklahoma City rose from bleak, grassless land. But in Dallas rambler roses were blooming in profusion and the Texas bluebonnet bright in the meadows. Wild roses bloomed at the airport in Austin.

A pretty stewardess had served our luncheon 5,000 feet in the air. "An ingenious sky pantry enables Braniff hostesses to serve full course dinners aloft," said the pamphlet in the chair rack. The Lewis Carroll version of "Twinkle, twinkle little star" came to mind "like a tea tray in the sky." Carroll probably never envisioned a pantry in the sky.

At Brownsville, where we spent the night, hibiscus and bougainvillaea bloomed. Mexico lay just across the bridge, a two minute walk, but it was noon the next day when we set down at the airport in Mexico City, after a long flight over the coast of the Gulf of Mexico and the salty marshes. A hot Mexican noon in the oldest metropolis on this continent; noon in the handsome Paseo de le Reforma, lined with eucalyptus trees, and laid out by the order of the Empress Carlotta; noon in Chapultepec Heights, where stands the old castle that was the home of Maximilian and Carlotta and of Mexican presidents until Cardenas, who prefers living more simply: noon in Mexican markets, in fine new residential districts. Noon in the Ritz bar where Mexicans and visitors were gathered and a tall, dark man chatting with friends was Chuchu Solorsano, popular bullfighter, a relative of the wife of Mexico's president.

Lake Shore Business Club to Give Card Party Tonight

The Lake Shore Business and Professional Women's club will sponsor a carnival card party at 8 o'clock this evening at the Stevens hotel. A. F. Lorenzen, chairman of the Illinois division of the New York World's Fair, will be a guest.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are certain departments of play which, even in this advanced age of bridge, have not been thoroly explored by the great majority of players. Take the department of holdup plays, for example. The most painstaking analysis is required to bring out the full potentialities of these plays which, perhaps better than any other coups, demonstrate the enormous importance of timing. How many declarers, I wonder, would have brought home the contract in the following deal?

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♥ A Q 9
♦ Q J 10 7 4

WEST
♠ K Q 9 7 5
♥ K 6 2

EAST
♥ 7 5 4 3
♦ K 6 5

SOUTH
♠ A J 10 2
♥ J 10 8
♦ 9 3 2
♣ K J 10

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

West thought for a long time over his opening lead. Not that he had any intention of opening a suit other than spades. This problem was which spade to lead. There is a difference of opinion among authorities as to whether the king or the fourth highest should be led from a five card suit headed by the K-Q-9. Sometimes one lead works out better; sometimes the other. The "percentage," in my opinion, distinctly favors the fourth best lead, and apparently West agreed with me, because he selected the seven spot. Declarer won with the ten, and since nine tricks could not be run without establishing at least one diamond, immediately returned a diamond toward dummy. West properly ducked, East won with the king, and returned a spade. Declarer soon found that his remaining A-J-2 were inadequate defense against the spade suit. It mattered little at this point whether he played the ace, the jack, or the deuce, because West was sure to establish the suit, get in with the diamond ace, and cash enough spades to defeat the contract. Actually, declarer ducked East's spade return entirely. West won with the nine and cleared the suit by laying down the king. From that point on declarer was helpless.

It would have taken considerable vision and the shrewdest sort of analysis for declarer to have brought home this contract, but nevertheless success was well within his grasp. The winning play was to concede the first trick to the enemy! Notice the vast difference that this would make in the subsequent play. Assuming East covered West's seven spot with the eight and returned the spade six [the best defense] declarer would merely duck again and West would be back on lead with the queen. Now declarer would hold the A-J of spades against West's K-9-5, and East would be out of the suit. West could not lead a third spade to any good purpose and declarer could clear the diamonds without fearing another spade lead thru his tenace.

Had West originally selected the spade king instead of the fourth highest as his opening lead, the same sort of holdup play would be required of declarer. That is to say, he would have to allow the spade king to win the trick. Later, when East won the lead with the diamond king and returned a spade, declarer would again play low, which would bring about the same position that should have been achieved against the actual opening of the fourth highest spade. The crucial point is that against either opening lead South must refuse the first trick so as to exhaust East of spades. A close study of this hand is recommended to those readers who are anxious to learn the niceties of declarer's play.

Bach Program Closes U. of C. Concert Series

Concert in Mandel hall, Sunday evening, May 12, 1940, by the Collegium Musicum of the University of Chicago, Siegmund Levarie, conductor.

The program:

Brandenburg Concerto No. 1, F major ..... Bach
Brandenburg Concerto No. 5, D major ..... Bach
Brandenburg Concerto No. 4, G major ..... Bach

BY CECIL SMITH.

Music by Johann Sebastian Bach absorbed the attention of the University of Chicago Collegium Musicum in the final concert of the academic year. Three of the six "Brandenburg" concertos were presented, not because their musical material is wholly unfamiliar, but because these works are so seldom heard as chamber music.

When the orchestral compositions of Bach are played by a large modern symphony orchestra, much of the original clarity is lost in favor of sonority and richness of tone.

The Collegium Musicum presented the music with no larger resources than a string quartet, piano, double bass, and any solo instruments demanded by the score. The largest group employed last night, in the first concerto, consisted of 12 players. In the fourth concerto there were only nine performers.

In this delicate and discreet context, the value of the individual solo parts was greatly enhanced. The first concerto, with its almost fantastically difficult parts for two solo horns, possessed the naively archaic quality of music written before the sophisticated era of the balanced and augmented orchestra of Haydn's time. Far from sounding crude, the instrumental texture had great charm, for details of embellishment and movement of contrapuntal lines were not buried beneath a mass of instrumental tone.

Dr. Levarie presented the music with well schooled restraint, arriving at happy decisions about most of the tempi, and avoiding any temptation to romanticize the expression sections. The student performance, tho it suffered from a few of the inevitable ambiguities of amateur playing, was brisk and accurate.

Jean Williams played the piano obbligato of the fifth concerto with brilliance and taste, and with an expert feeling for tonal balance with the rest of the ensemble. Helen Kotas and Reid Poole were especially felicitous in the tricky horn solos of the first concerto.

Soprano Draws Program from Six Countries

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Marion Schroeder, soprano, presented in the Civic theater yesterday a program drawn from six countries and from nearly every musical period from the early eighteenth century to the present day. She ranged widely, but wisely, and did not offer a single hackneyed item.

Starting with Durante, Bach, and Mozart, she moved on to Russian, German, French, and English songs. Altho the composers were for the most part familiar, the works which she chose were nearly all from the more obscure part of their output.

The performance stamped Miss Schroeder as an artist who is definitely limited, but who is very good when she recognizes her limitations and keeps within them. She does not invariably succeed in making florid or dramatic music convincing, for her voice quality suffers and her ease of delivery disappears. With more lyrical things it is quite another story.

Here her voice takes on a beautifully luminous quality, her phrasings become highly musical and extremely expressive, and her ability to lose herself in the music [without keeping tense to meet technical hurdles] makes her work vital and personal and moving.

Edgar Nelson played superb accompaniments.

In Kimball hall yesterday Claire Menard Schulte, soprano, and Giovanni Polifronio, violinist, shared an afternoon recital.

There was an attractive gravity and sincerity in Miss Schulte's approach to her music. Her voice quality was rich and dark and expressive. However, she has not yet started to exploit her natural endowments fully, for her work yesterday was often marred by tentativeness and lack of conviction. She will have to develop a good legato, and give her phrasing a more musical quality.

Mr. Polifronio lapsed from correct pitch and tonal smoothness too often.

Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will direct the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra in New York Tuesday in a concert designed to honor the memory of his colleague and frequent artistic collaborator, Ernest Schelling. Lily Pons, soprano, and Rudolf Serkin, pianist, will be the soloists.

Handsome Scatter Rug

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There is hardly a crochet worker who has not made at least one rug. The rectangular article made from castoff rags creates a good looking scatter rug to be used in any part of the house. If a single color is desired, the rags may be cut in strips and dyed before being worked up. Approximately five pounds of rags are required for a small rug three by four feet.

For instructions in crocheting the rectangular rag rug, No. X-259, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Child Often Surprises by Rapid Change

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Not long ago a young mother wrote to me in great distress about her small boy who was so attached to his pacifier that no means she had used had any effect in breaking him of the habit. He couldn't go to sleep without it, and if she took it out of his mouth at night, he woke up and cried until it was restored to its rightful [?] place. Some one had started him with it as a baby, and as his mother worked all day, she was handicapped in her efforts to cure him.

Naturally, the pacifier problem isn't as common as it once was, but I replied suggesting a number of indirect and direct approaches to her problem, among them substituting something else, distracting his attention, and so on.

The acknowledgment of my letter I am sure will interest any one with a small son or daughter:

"I have just recently moved to a new house where I have a small room for my little boy, instead of having him in my room as previously. I anticipated a little trouble with this arrangement, believing it might be hard for him to get accustomed to sleeping in a room by himself. Instead of that, he was so delighted with his room, and so proud of it [showing it off to every one who came in] that he very willingly relinquished the pacifier in order to be 'allowed' to occupy his new room. Here I was expecting to find another dragon to be slain, instead of which they seem to have slain each other!"

Much of a child's behavior that we worry about clears up of itself. This, because growth brings change, and much behavior that we call undesirable is only a sign of a child's growing and adapting himself to the world he lives in.

SOX WIN, 4-3; CUBS BEAT PIRATES ON HOMER

YOUR NEIGHBOR IS NORMAL, BUT HIS GOLF ISN'T

So He's Preparing to Take Lessons.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

If you happened to see that next door neighbor of yours—the one who never played golf in his life—swinging a broomstick or other implement out in his back yard yesterday, don't think he had gone daft. He was just one of the thousands of Chicagoans who plan to enter THE TRIBUNE'S eighth annual free golf school, opening tomorrow night on the four courses of the Chicago park district.

Ralph Carlson.

Many another citizen in these parts was doing likewise yesterday, preparing for his first free lesson in the game's largest and oldest system of group instruction. By the end of the first 1940 class tomorrow night the total lessons given since the inception of the school in 1933 will be well over 200,000. Last year's lesson aggregate of 73,000 raised the seven year total of instructions given by members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association to 198,000.

No Fee for Lessons.

The school's plan is the same as it has been thru the last seven years. There is no fee for the four lessons. The teachers make every effort to reduce the grip, the stance and the swing to their simplest forms. The only qualifications for entrance are a willingness to learn the game, one golf club, and the student's prompt presence at that park district course nearest his or her home or work.

Prime purpose of the instructions is to interest beginners in the game and to acquaint them with its fundamentals. This is not to say that a man, woman, or child who has played golf before is barred from entering the school. Modern tournament professionals take lessons and tips from their colleagues when they find some part of their game gone sour. THE TRIBUNE school always has endeavored to help playing golfers as well as novices.

Schools and Pupils.

Many former students have profited directly from the lessons given by the P. G. A. members. Those who had been playing the game trimmed their scores by from 10 to 15 strokes. Beginners who had never before swung a club are now doing so regularly.

At least two former prize winners in the school have gone on to tournament successes. One, Louise Johnson, has held the Illinois state women's public parks championship, and another, Ralph Carlson, was runner-up to George Dawson for last year's Illinois amateur crown.

The locations of the four park district courses on which the lessons will be given are Jackson park—63d street and Stony Island avenue; Columbus park, Jackson boulevard and Central avenue; Marquette, Marquette road and Kedzie avenue, and Diversey, in Lincoln park, at Lake Michigan and the foot of Diversey boulevard.

Lessons Start at 7 P. M.

Each of the four regular lessons will start promptly at 7 p. m. Every prospective pupil is asked to appear at the course nearest him about 15 minutes before that time to facilitate the opening of the class. Each lesson will last about one hour, altho in recent years a number of the teachers have been conducting question box forums for their pupils, which usually run another half hour.

The dates of the lessons are tomorrow night, Thursday night, Tuesday, night, May 21, and Thursday night, May 23. Following the conclusion of this final lesson on May 23 the head teacher at each course and his associates will name the man, woman, boy, and girl who have progressed most rapidly during the lessons, and those ranked second to them.

This judging will make for a class of 32 finalists, eight from each of the four courses. These will meet Sunday afternoon, May 26, at one of the four courses, to be announced later. A special jury at this session will examine the swings of the finalists. The four pupils with the best swings will be given golf bags and sets of clubs, while each of the other 28 finalists will receive a dozen golf balls.

WHITE SOX STRIKE IN FIRST INNING TO BEAT TIGERS

Ted Lyons Does the Rest; Tied for Fifth Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—The White Sox ended a successful road trip this afternoon with a 4 to 3 victory over the Tigers. When Ol' Ted Lyons retired the last Tiger for his second success of the season, the Chicagoans started homeward with a record of seven favorable decisions in a dozen games in five cities.

On the road this year the Sox have split two game series in St. Louis, Cleveland, Boston, New York, and Washington and came out with 2 to 1 margins here and in Philadelphia. They haven't won a game at home, but they are now prepared to win many and forge into immediate American league pennant contention.

Knock Out Nelson in First.

They left home on April 28 a poor last with two victories and seven defeats. They return tied for fifth place, not far from any of the front runners, including their next foes, the league leading Boston Red Sox, who pace them by 6½ games.

The Sox did some early thumping today at the expense of Lynn Nelson, knocking him out with three runs in the first inning. They picked up their last run off Dizzy Trout in the third. Thereafter only nine batsmen faced Trout before he gave way to John Gorsica, who had to pitch to only 11 men in the last three sessions.

The game was the seventh in the last eight played in which the Sox, American league fielding leaders, did not make a misplay. They have made only one error in their last eight games, which probably is some sort of a fielding record.

The Sox Are Bolsterous.

Bob Kennedy opened against Nelson with a single to left, after which Joe Kuhel popped to Charley Gehringer. The first of Mike Kreevich's two extra base smacks was a double to left, which scored Kennedy. Mike reached third on Earl Averill's faulty return and scored on Taft Wright's single to right. Luke Appling kept it up with a single to right, Wright reaching third. Nelson was excused and Trout entered the arena. Larry Rosenthal grounded to Rudy York and Wright was headed off at the plate and run down. Eric McNair's double to left scored Appling, but Rosenthal was out when he tried to follow Luke home.

There was a lot of action in the Sox third, tho only one run was chalked up. Kreevich tripled with one down and again Wright drove him home with a single. After Ap-

Once a Hero and a Star, Now—

Add another chapter to the once spectacular, now tragic, story of Dizzy Dean. The great Diz sits in the Cub dugout, disconsolate and dejected, wiping his brow after being taken out in the second inning of yesterday's game in Wrigley field. Once the bellicose, confident, unbeatable Dean, who pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a world's championship and himself into the hall of fame, Diz now is only an old ball player with a heavy heart—and a headache. The Texas Thumper

Story of Lew Jenkins' Fistic Rise Begins in Army Camp at Fort Bliss

[This is the first of a series on Lew Jenkins, Sweetwater, Tex., boxer, who recently knocked out Lou Ambers for the New York lightweight championship.]

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Five years ago Lew Jenkins, a spindly legged youth of 18 years, quit his studies at Sweetwater High school to become a member of the 8th Texas cavalry outfit, with barracks at Fort Bliss, near El Paso.

One day, shortly after joining his company, Jenkins, whose duties included shoeing mules, was almost kicked in the head by one of them. The story goes that this infuriated the lad to such an extent he let go with his right hand and hit the mule on the rump and knocked it off its feet. Fellow soldiers looked on in amazement.

Jenkins Boasts He Can Punch and Then Proves His Point.

The tale may be a little far fetched, but the fact remains this wiry little fighting man has proved his right to be called the best punching lightweight since Benny Leonard was in his heyday 20 years ago.

"I'm the hardest hitting fellow for my weight in the world," Jenkins once solemnly confided to a buddy, "and any one I hit goes down."

When the story got around the boys were shocked speechless at this apparent display of cockiness. Subsequently, however, they learned Jenkins was not trying to show off; that his attitude was due to confidence in his ability and nothing else.

This ever present self-assurance, combined with good luck, is an important factor in Jenkins' meteoric fistic rise.

Starts Pugilistic Career as Soldier at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Jenkins started his sensational climb by engaging in 27 army bouts. He won 24 of them, 17 by knockouts, and lost only three. These successes gave Lew his first vision of earning money with his fists and while on a furlough early in 1938 he appeared in his first professional fight. He collected $16 for knocking out some unknown. After this unrecorded achievement, whenever the opportunity presented itself, the young cavalryman could be seen flooring a nondescript opponent for the count in Corpus Christi, his present home.

When his purses totaled $120, Jenkins used the money to buy his way out of the army and started a campaign which has created tremendous new interest in the little fellow thru the power in his right hand, now designated the deadliest weapon in the 135 pound class.

[The second article will appear in tomorrow's TRIBUNE.]

CHICAGO WOMAN BOWLER FIRST IN 3 TOURNEY EVENTS

Syracuse, N. Y., May 12 (AP).—Tess Morris, star of the Logan Square team of Chicago, today continued a strike rampage begun last night when she paced her team to first place in the Women's International Bowling congress tourney with a total of 2,689.

Dean, Broken, Barricades Self in Clubhouse

Dizzy Dean took his longest walk yesterday. It was from the mound in Wrigley field to the Cubs' clubhouse. There the man who for years has sought the spotlight fled behind the wings.

He wanted to be alone with his misery after the Pittsburgh Pirates sent him trudging from the field in the second inning of the game in Wrigley field.

A tearful Dean clumped up the cement ramp to the Cubs' quarters. Inside, he locked the door, a solitary prisoner with his grief, safe from interviewers to whom he had given so many newsy items in the past. For yesterday—batted out for the fourth time in five starts this season—Dizzy apparently realized what others have suspected for several years—he's at the end of the trail.

Gabby Says Little.

Even the clubhouse boy was locked out, so there was none present to record that the one time pitching star sobbed in sorrow.

Yesterday may have been the last game for the great Dean as a starting Cub pitcher.

"It looks like I may have to find another starter," was the extent of Manager Gabby Hartnett's comment on the big right hander's fourth failure.

Faces Four Teams.

The four teams that have had a look at the nothing ball, which replaced the high hard one of Dean's winning years, rolled up 18 runs on 31 hits and 12 walks. Diz's labors in the five games amounted to 24⅓ innings. He was the pitcher of record in only two games, beating the Reds and being charged with a defeat in his opening test against the Cards. Dean's pitching ledger for 1940 follows:

Date.	Team.	I.P.	R.	H.	B.B.
May 12	Pirates	1⅓	2	3	2
May 6	Phillies	4⅓	4	8	3
April 29	Cards	4⅓	5	8	2
April 25	Reds	9	2	5	4
April 21	Cards	4⅓	5	7	1

HERMAN'S DRIVE SCORES 3 RUNS, TRIUMPHS, 7 TO 5

Dean Does Another Nose Dive.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Ol' Dizzy Dean, the man who can't come back, took another nose dive yesterday, but his Cub mates refused to accompany him on his perilous journey to nowhere. He almost got them to go along, shackled as they were by a five run deficit as the result of his brief appearance before 17,955. They sat tight, tho, and finally were rewarded for their patience. They exploded a four run eighth inning, made possible principally by Billy Herman's second homer of the season, and trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates in the series final, 7 to 5.

Ol' Diz's fifth start in his 1940 series of comebacks was a lightning affair, with the enemy providing the lightning. Diz was in and out again so quickly that he could not maintain his pace of four innings established on his four other appearances. His exact term was one and one-third innings, nine batters facing him to collect three runs, two passes, one home run, one triple, and one single. He also was charged with the two runs the Pirates made off his immediate successor, Vern Olsen, the freshman lefty. The Pirates regretted seeing the battered war horse leave so soon.

Olsen Stops Pirates.

After Dean had vacated by request, the Pirates made an unhappy discovery. Their bats refused to function. Olsen, who remained until a pinch hitter supplanted him in the decisive eighth, couldn't be budged from his course after the second inning. But there was a trace of trouble in the ninth. Ken Raffensberger endeavored to finish, but his southpaw aim was bad, and when he walked a pair with one out he was recalled to make room for Claude Passeau, who stopped two batters to save the verdict for Olsen.

Until the eighth, the Cubs had nothing to show for their batting efforts except a three run splurge against Truett Sewell in the third and in the next inning Sewell yielded to Dick Lanahan, a southpaw. The latter's difficulties in the eighth started with Al Todd's infield hit after one was out and a pass to Bob Mattick. Manager Gabby Hartnett named himself to bat for Olsen and singled past Arky Vaughan, scoring Todd. Bob Collins batted for Stan Hack and fouled out, but Herman took care of everything by slapping the first pitch into the left field seats for victory.

Tee Off on Ol' Diz.

Dean's brief contribution to the day's entertainment opened with a pass to Handley, the Pirates' lead off man. P. Waner couldn't do any better than force Handley on a tap to Herman, but the next two fellows took care of Diz. Vaughan walloped a liner against the right field bricks for a triple, Waner scoring. Fletcher hit another liner, on the first pitch, but it went considerably farther. It dropped in the right field bleachers for two more runs. Then Diz rallied and the remainder of the inning was uneventful.

Dean started off the second by getting Davis on an infield roller. But a single by Gustine, who immediately stole, and a pass to Sewell fixed up Diz's walking papers. Olsen relieved Diz and was greeted by Handley's single, which Russell knocked down.

Detroit Man Takes Long Walk; Wins A. A. U. Title

Cincinnati, O., May 12 (AP).—William Mihalo of Detroit won the 50,000 meter [37 miles] walking championship of the national A. A. U. today by marching from Neville, O., to Cincinnati in 5 hours 7 minutes and 25 seconds. John M. Deni of Pittsburgh was second, seven minutes behind the winner. Leo Schnepel of Roselle, N. J., was third; John Rakkonenen of New York, fourth, and William Lusby of Baltimore, fifth.

MOTISI, BENNETT MEET TONIGHT IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organization welterweight, who is undefeated in 13 fights, will engage in one of his hardest 10 round bouts against Leonard Bennett of Detroit in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. With favorable weather, the match, which tops the 15th show held under the auspices of Irving Schoenwald since January, will be presented in the outdoor arena.

Despite Motisi's fine record, Bennett is confident he will win.

Bennett, who has met some of the best boxers in the game, will rely on a left hook to the body to achieve victory. It was this weapon which knocked out Tito Taylor in Marigold and Indian Billy Lee in White City. The Lee accomplishment was the Detroit veteran's third consecutive triumph.

Jimmy Bivins, 1939 Cleveland sectional Golden Gloves welterweight champion, hopes to extend his string of victories to seven straight in an eight round semi-final against Paul Frazier, a former intercity Golden Gloves middleweight champion. Frazier has agreed to make 165 pounds, three and a half less than he carried in his three round technical knockout of Mike Krizmis two weeks ago. Other contests:

Gene Ward vs. Bobby Ryan [4], 140.
Frank Greene vs. Lou Campbell [4], heavyweights.
George Feltes vs. Benny Rooster [4], 160.

Bert Rubi, Detroit heavyweight wrestler, will encounter Juan Humberto this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Al Williams, Fox Lake vet, will oppose Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer in a secondary feature. . . . George Morelia, Detroit lightweight, will arrive tomorrow for a 10 round fight against Willie Joyce in White City Friday. . . . The Illinois Boxing Officials' association will conduct a meeting tomorrow night at 58 East Delaware place, President William M. O'Connell said yesterday.

Jack Fish, amateur protégé of Jack Elle, featherweight slugger of 15 years ago, has been matched to meet Harold Perry in the Johnny Coulon club Wednesday. . . . Lou Ambers' defeat at the hands of Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden last Friday has spoiled plans to arrange a bout between Ambers and Pete Lello in Mills stadium June 5. . . . Johnny Paycheck, who recently received an offer to box Bob Sikes in Hot Springs, Ark., in June or July, is being sought for an event against Eddie Simms in Des Moines May 27, the winner's reward to be an outdoor engagement against Lee Savold. Paycheck also is wanted against Tony Musto or Buddy Knox in the Coliseum June 5.

Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong, declines to answer Matchmaker Jack Hurley's invitation to have Armstrong defend his welterweight title against Milt Aron in Comiskey park next month, probably because Promoter Mike Jacobs is negotiating for a clash between Henry and Lew Jenkins for New York July 17. If Armstrong fails to sign for a match with Aron by May 28 the National Boxing association likely will vacate his championship. On the same day Al Hostak may be dethroned as middleweight champion by the N. B. A., which would give the association credit for having relieved five title holders of their honor in recent months. The others were Lou Ambers, Joey Archibald, and John Henry Lewis. Loss of his belt by Hostak would clear the way for a championship encounter in Comiskey park July 9 between Ceferino Garcia and Tony Zale.

Mrs. George De Bray, wife of the amateur boxing promoter, died yesterday in North Chicago hospital following a short illness. She was 34 years old.

CLAYTON BISHOP WINS OUTBOARD MARATHON RACE

New York, May 12 (AP).—A bitter following wind that whipped sprays of water into his craft from behind and kicked up dangerous white caps ahead failed to stop Clayton Bishop of Onset, Mass., from winning his third Albany to New York outboard marathon on the Hudson river today. Bishop climbed out of his class B boat, Humarock Baby, after five hours 30 minutes and 18 seconds of constant buffeting over the 130 mile course. His average of 23.659 miles per hour was the slowest time in the 13 years of the race.

Charles Foster of Peekskill, N. Y., was second, coming in half an hour later in his class F boat, Caprice. Charles Keough of Saranac Lake, N. Y., pilot of a class B outboard, was third, and the veteran Fred Jacoby of North Bergen, N. J., who has started in every race since 1929 and was first in 1935, was fourth.

Bishop's first prize was $125, while Foster received $75. Keough drew $50, and Jacoby $35.

Tom Chatfield of New York won the 132 mile Albany to New York motorboat marathon when he brought his Viper III., an inboard hydroplane of the 225 cubic inch class, to the finish line ahead of the field of about 100 starters. He averaged 44.233 miles per hour and was clocked in 2 hours and 56 minutes.

Strong Winds Prevent Frostbite Dinghy Races

Frostbite dinghy competition by both Columbia and Chicago yacht club fleets was postponed yesterday in Grant park harbor because of the gusty west winds. Several of the craft capsized while tuning up and the race committees called off the series. Aside from a ducking none of the capsized yachtsmen was hurt. The Columbia will race Saturday and Sunday, and the Chicago Yacht club dinghies will be sailed Sunday.

Scalzo Risks Feather Title with Covelli

New York, May 12 (AP).—Petey Scalzo of New York and Frankie Covelli of Chicago will meet for the N. B. A. world featherweight championship in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday night. It will be a 15 round bout and Scalzo's first defense of the title awarded him by the National Boxing association.

Secondary in attractiveness on the national schedule are the two welterweight contests in Madison Square Garden Thursday night, in which the winners are expected to meet for a title chance against Henry Armstrong. Tony Martellano takes on Al Davis and Vic Dellicurti faces Steve Belloise. All four are New Yorkers.

Patrick Edward Comiskey of Paterson, N. J., idle since last December when he hurt his hands, returns to the ring facing Larry Marino of Pittsburgh in an eight rounder in Jersey City Tuesday.

The program:

Never a Dull Moment in This Golf Match

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

A band blared and the gallery shouted and whistled around the greens and tees to debunk the traditional silence of golf etiquet as two prominent golf pros, a former home run king, and an ex-heavyweight boxing champion played an exhibition yesterday in Norwalk, Conn. Babe Ruth (left) is hexing the ball as Jimmy Demaret (right) starts his swing at the fifth tee. They paired together to win, 2 and 1, from Gene Tunney and Gene Sarazen (center). The man with the bass viol, lacking a caddy, quit after nine holes.

PREP CREWS WILL HOLD QUALIFYING RACES THIS WEEK

The busiest week for Chicago high school oarsmen since they took up the sport three years ago begins today.

Youths from Lake View, Lane Tech, Waller, Amundsen and Schurz will begin a test of supremacy for trips to Culver Military academy and St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis. Four preliminary heats will be held today, tomorrow and Wednesday, with semi-finals Thursday and finals Friday. The crew finishing with the highest point total will meet St. John's Saturday. The first and second place shells will row against two Culver teams on May 25.

All this is part of a training program for the second annual Chicago Interscholastic regatta June 9 on the Lincoln park lagoon. The regatta is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Lincoln Park Boat club in cooperation with the Chicago park district. Junior crews from the five schools also will compete in the regatta.

A half mile course was measured yesterday on the lagoon. Buoys will be anchored at each end of the course today.

Open Belmont 24 Day Race Meeting Today

New York, May 12 (AP).—Belmont track will open its gates tomorrow for a 24 day meeting. Its program includes some of the oldest as well as the richest American stakes—the Belmont, for example, was run at Jerome Park in 1867.

Since Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who also heads Pimlico, took charge at Belmont, the prestige of the track and the size of the purses has increased. At the spring meeting some $350,000 to $400,000 will go to horsemen in purses and $121,500 of this will be added money for 22 stakes. With the advent of mutuel betting, tried out first in New York at Jamaica, crowds of 50,000 on big days are considered quite likely and with 500 mutuel windows available a $2,000,000 handle is not impossible.

Topping the opening card is the $5,000 added Toboggan handicap, a sprint feature since 1890. The field includes William Woodward's Fighting Fox, disqualified after finishing first in the Excelsior handicap at Jamaica yesterday; Maxwell Howard's The Chief, which took first money as a result; Porter's Mite, Sun Egret, Red Dock, Eight Thirty, Great Union, and several others.

Top events on the stake program for the meeting are the Withers mile next Saturday, the $10,000 Metropolitan May 25, the $20,000 Suburban Memorial day, and finally the Belmont on closing day, June 8.

LES CUNNINGHAM SOLD TO BARONS BY BLACKHAWKS

Cleveland, O., May 12 (AP).—Les Cunningham will return from the Chicago Blackhawks to the Cleveland Barons of the International-American Hockey league under a straight cash deal which also brings another player here, President Al Sutphin of the Barons announced tonight.

Terms of the transaction were not made public. The other player involved is Joffre [Diz] Desilets, farmed by the Blackhawks to Providence last season. Cunningham scored 26 goals and 20 assists for the Barons in the team's drive to the International-American title two years ago and was drafted by the National league team.

Tunney and a Golf Tradition Take a Beating

Norwalk, Conn., May 12 (AP).—They put the old debunker on the funereal silence that surrounds a golf match today and the result was a howling success. With a band playing, a sound truck giving off what passed for music and a crowd estimated up to 5,000 chattering and whistling whenever it could forget tradition, Jimmy Demaret and Babe Ruth defeated Gene Sarazen and Gene Tunney in a charity exhibition match over the Shore Haven course, 2 and 1.

The match proved, if anything, that noise has no effect on a good golfer. Demaret and Sarazen shot their usual games; Ruth shot his and Tunney shot something as yet unidentified. Demaret came thru with a par 72 despite a sharp wind which blew steadily and musicians who blew periodically, often crowding around him on the green to pour out sweet notes very loudly. Sarazen had a 73, and Ruth and Tunney 82 each.

And They Had Fun, Too.

From the moment the four stepped to the first tee and the gallery was invited to make itself at home and chatter and whistle, and the corps of musicians blared forth with "Are You Having Any Fun" as Tunney hooked his ball out of bounds, all was confusion.

For a time it seemed there were two or three Ruths on the course. Everywhere you'd look you'd see the big fellow off in the rough somewhere or fighting his way out of a trap. Tunney, out of practice and playing grimly, took his own misplays in good spirit, even grinning wryly as the Bambino shouted, "Run it out, anyway," after Gene had dribbled a tee shot 40 yards down the fairway.

Tough on Bass Viol Player.

From tee to green the usual silence was observed save for the distant rumblings from the sound truck. Around the tees and greens, however, the musicians really went to work. Even the bass viol player who forgot to get a caddy to tote his oversized fiddle managed to make the grade for nine holes.

Thru it all the Babe, who fouled off many a ball during the afternoon, stalked down the fairways like a Gulliver, shoulders hunched and sweat leaking down his bronzed face. Sarazen grinned impishly, only expressing concern when a sudden silence would descend over the countryside. Demaret was as unconcerned as if he were dropping peanuts into a barrel. His drives were long and straight despite the many distractions.

Fred Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament manager who originated the idea of the golf-with-sound experiment, was so enthusiastic he promised many musical matches in the future.

"Just wait until I get my swing synchronized to that swing music," said Sarazen.

P. G. A. TO HOLD PRO-AMATEUR TOURNEY TODAY

Members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, who tomorrow night take up their teaching duties in THE TRIBUNE'S eighth annual free golf school, will hold their first pro-amateur tournament of the season today at Pickwick. Member Joe Roseman will be the host professional. For the last two Mondays, the Illinois P. G. A. men have devoted their "days off" to their second annual clinic. They will conclude that project with a final session in the Morrison hotel a week from today.

FREITAG TAKES TOP SPOT IN TWO PEORIA EVENTS

Peoria, Ill., May 12 [Special].—Herb Freitag of Chicago who, with Joe Sinke, is present A. B. C. doubles champion, took the lead in the singles and all-events of the Central states bowling tournament today with scores of 731 and 1,890, respectively. Ned Day and Paul Krumske of Chicago went into the lead in the doubles with 1,244. All are members of the Pabst Blue Ribbons.

The Mineralites of Chicago are in first place in the five man event with 3,127.

SPARTA'S RALLY TIES BALTIMORE IN SOCCER, 2-2

Eastern Team Refuses to Continue Play.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Spartas rallied in the second half in Sparta stadium yesterday to score two goals and earn an extra period 2 to 2 tie with the Baltimore, Md., club in the second game for the national soccer championship.

The first game, played in Baltimore last Sunday, ended in a scoreless tie. Inasmuch as the championship is decided on total goals, the national cup commission will meet this week to decide whether another game shall be played or whether Baltimore should be disqualified for leaving the field yesterday after playing a 30 minute extra period. Referee Phil Fox of New York had ordered the game continued after the extra period.

Baltimore Scores Early.

Baltimore scored 23 minutes after the game opened when Joe Silovsky, Sparta goal keeper, rushed out to fist the ball into the air. Charley Ernst promptly headed the ball into the empty goal for the first score. The visitors continued to press and scored again when Joe Finnerty sent a high one to William Schwanke, who headed past Silovsky from three yards out.

Favored by a strong wind, the Spartas evened the score in the second half. Tom Armhein, Baltimore left back, handled inside the penalty area and Billy Fraser shot past Gil Schuerholz, Baltimore goal keeper, to make the score 2 to 1. Seven minutes later Frank Trimmell made the tying goal on a pass from Al Waldron.

Sparta Seconds Win.

Baltimore had the benefit of the strong wind for the first 15 minutes of the extra period, after which the teams switched goals. Each eleven drove hard in the extra period, but superb defensive work prevented further scoring.

The league All-Stars defeated the Sparta seconds, 3 to 2, in a preliminary game.

AURORA BOWLER TAKES LEAD IN 3 STATE EVENTS

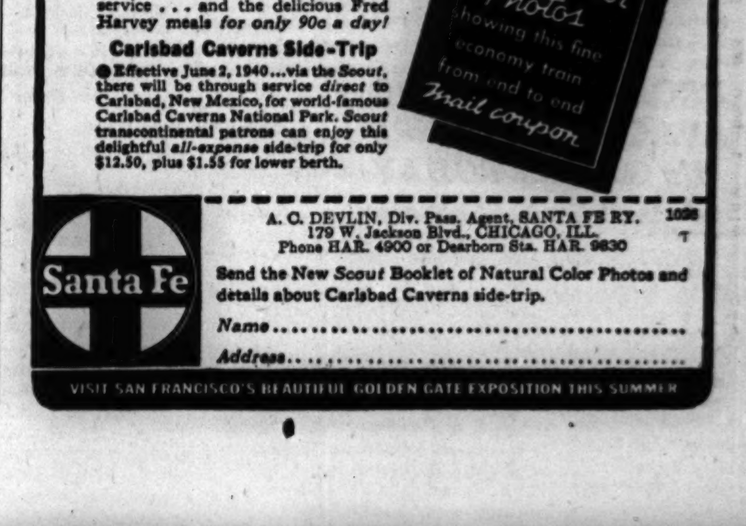

Art Hower of Aurora averaged 223 for six games on the Schueneman-Flynn Recreation alleys yesterday, which, coupled with a 219 average in previous team competition, zoomed him into first place in three divisions of the Illinois state bowling tournament.

Hower took the singles lead with 712 on games of 227, 260, and 225. He added 236, 189, and 202 in the doubles to take the lead with Louis Hansen of Aurora with a total of 1,317. Hansen rolled 236, 176, and 278 for 690. Hower's score in the five-man competition was 658, giving him the all-events lead on an aggregate of 1,997.

Previous leaders, who fell to second position in the respective events, and their scores, were: L. Frank of Decatur, 696 in the singles; C. Steinke and S. Keegan of Chicago, 1,295 in the doubles, and George Rudy of Chicago, 1,977 in the all-events.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 12 (AP).—Archie Henderson of Chapel Hill, N. C., conqueror of Bobby Riggs in the semi-finals yesterday, won the Tennessee valley invitation tennis championship today, beating Billy Talbert of Cincinnati, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1. CINCINNATI WINS DOUBLE HEADER FROM CARDINALS

Derringer Victor by 7 to 1 and Turner by 13-4.

St. Louis, Mo., May 12 (AP).—The champion Cincinnati Reds topped off their 12 to 5 victory over the Cardinals yesterday by sweeping a double header today in equally convincing manner, 7 to 1 and 13 to 4. The Cardinals had somewhat of a makeshift lineup on the field, both Terry Moore and Martin Marion being out with injuries, but used first line pitchers who were hit hard.

Ival Goodman hit a home run in the first inning of the opening game, and three Cincinnati players—Frank McCormick, Lonnie Frey and Harry Craft—made home runs in the second game.

Four singles were all the Cardinals were able to make off Paul Derringer in the opener, while in the second game they pounded Jim Turner for 16 hits, but couldn't group them to score more than four runs. Bill McGee started the first game for the Cardinals and Lon Warneke the second, but both were batted out. Cardinal pitchers have had only two complete games this season.

DODGERS, 5; PHILLIES, 3.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 12 (AP).—The Dodgers pulled out of a two game slump today to beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 3. Freddy Fitzsimmons got credit for today's triumph, his second.

Chuck Klein hit his second home run on successive days in the second inning to send the Phils away in front, but Fitzsimmons' knuckle ball stymied the Phils thereafter until the eighth, when they pushed across an unearned run. In the ninth Fitzsimmons grew wild, letting in a run and loading the bases with two out, but Tot Pressnell came in and snuffed out the threat. Score:

GIANTS, 3; BEES, 2.

Boston, Mass., May 12 (AP).—Effective pitching by Hal Schumacher for seven innings and a costly Boston error gave the New York Giants a 3 to 2 victory over the Bees today and extended their winning streak to five. In the first seven innings Schumacher struck out eight and allowed only one Boston batter to reach third base. He weakened in the eighth, but Walter Brown came in to halt a Bee rally. Eddie Miller's error in the fourth gave the Giants what proved to be the winning run. Score:

MOON MULLINS—MY! HOW MONEY GOES!

At Long Last! Yankees Win a Ball Game!

New York, May 12 (AP).—The world champion New York Yankees got back in the groove today, after losing eight straight games, and shut out the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 0, on the six hit pitching of Red Ruffing. With perfect support Ruffing earned his second victory against two defeats, striking out eight, walking only two, and never letting a Boston runner get past second base. He made two hits and a run himself.

Red Ruffing.

It was the first defeat in seven games for the American league leaders and their first shutout. Twice Yankee double plays wiped out Boston threats. The game was won in the third inning when an error by Joe Cronin and singles by Bill Knickerbocker, Red Rolfe, and Joe DiMaggio accounted for two runs.

In the seventh inning Ruffing doubled and scored on a two bagger by Tom Henrich. In the eighth Joe Gordon doubled, Ruffing beat out a hit to Cronin, and Doc Cramer dropped Knickerbocker's fly to let Gordon score.

The victory, charged against Fritz Ostermueller, snapped a long streak of ill luck against left handed pitching for the champions. Every man in the New York lineup except Buddy Rosar and Babe Dahlgren hit safely at least once as the Yanks accumulated nine hits. Score:

Home Run by Herman Beats Pirates, 7 to 5

filling the bases. P. Waner's gentle poke forced Gustine at the plate, but Vaughan singled to right, Sewell and Handley scoring. Fletcher then bounced to Herman.

Our Cubs Retaliate.

Olsen opened the home third with a high fly that dropped for a double in short right and the Cubs used this as a means of putting together a three run rally. Hack was thrown out, Olsen taking third. Herman slapped a slow roller toward third and beat it out for a hit, Olsen scoring. Gleeson's bit was a double to right, Herman halting at third. Leiber sent them home by singling to left. Both Dallassandro and Russell flied out.

The Pirates were pretty nice to the Cubs in the fourth. They fixed up the Chicagoans with a full house. But the Cubs did nothing about it. The presentations began after two were out. Davis tipped Olsen's bat and the batter was awarded first base. Hack bounced to Vaughan, who fumbled. These incidents disturbed Sewell to the extent that he walked Herman and was yanked in favor of Lanahan, who induced Gleeson to poke a liner to Vaughan.

Olsen Escapes Trouble.

Olsen and Lanahan survived the fifth and sixth innings without embarrassment, but in the seventh Rookie Olsen's number appeared to be up. After Hack had thrown out Handley, P. Waner bounced one to deep short and beat Mattick's throw for a hit. Vaughan then blasted a shot to second that bounded off Herman's glove for another single. Fletcher rolled out to Russell, whereupon Olsen was ordered to walk Van Robays and take a chance with Vince DiMaggio, the all-American strikeout. DiMaggio struck out for the third out, leaving three mates stranded.

The Pirates got a man to second with two out on Gustine's single and Lanahan's sacrifice in the eighth, but were subdued on Handley's grounder to Herman. Then the Cubs took charge with their four run blast.

Raffensberger gave the Pirates a chance to get back in the contest in the ninth when he walked Vaughan and Fletcher, putting the tying runs on base with only one out. But Passeau quickly cleaned up the situation by getting Van Robays and Deb Garms, who batted for DiMaggio, on fly balls.

Cubs, Without Gabby, Go East to Meet Bees

The Cubs, excepting Manager Gabby Hartnett, who will be a pallbearer today at the funeral for Danny Cahill, veteran Cub fan who died Thursday night, headed east immediately after the game and are scheduled to arrive in Boston late this afternoon. They open a three game series with the Bees tomorrow, afterward visiting New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh.

The Cubs will have their first 1940 taste of night baseball during their present tour. They're booked to play the Phillies under the Shibe park electric lights on May 22.

Thus far four Cub pitchers, Lee, French, Passeau, and Dean, have had starting assignments, but this arrangement probably will have to be broken up shortly. Who else does Hartnett have to take over a vacancy unless he wants to gamble?

pling grounded out, Rosenthal walked and with Wright executed a double steal, but the maneuver was in vain as McNair fanned.

McNair Cuts Off a Run.

A great play by McNair kept the Tigers from scoring in the third. Trout walked, but Dick Bartell was called out on strikes for the second time. Barney McCosky forced Trout and after Gehringer walked, Averill aimed a single toward center, but McNair made a great diving stop and the bases were loaded. The trouble was over when Bruce Campbell forced Gehringer.

York got Lyons' third pass at the start of the home fourth, and Pinky Higgins promptly drove him home with a homer. The next three went out in order.

Lyons again escaped a jam in the sixth after Campbell drew his fourth pass. Then York fanned on four pitched balls, and Rosenthal went to the screen to pull down Higgins' fly. After Bill Sullivan singled to center, Red Kress batted for Trout and on the second pitch Campbell reached third and Sullivan second on a passed ball. Kress then lined to Wright.

Averill Keeps On Hitting.

Bartell opened the seventh with a homer into the left field stands. McCosky and Gehringer were retired, but Averill knocked his third hit, a single to right, and went to second on Mike Tresh's second passed ball. Lyons then tossed out Campbell.

The only Chicago hits after the third were a single by Tresh in the fourth inning and an infield hit by Kuhel in the seventh. The only other Sox player to break thru in the last six innings was Rosenthal, who walked at the start of the ninth.

White Sox Idle Today; Open with Boston Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—The White Sox will arrive home early tomorrow morning and will have the entire day to unpack their satchels, no workout being scheduled. On Tuesday they will greet the league leading Boston Red Sox in Comiskey park. John Rigney, who whipped the Bostons, 9 to 4, on April 30, will pitch the opener. His opponent will be Bob Grove.

The Sox spent last night gurgling about yesterday's 1 to 0 victory over the Tigers in which each team was held to two singles. Taft Wright, who failed to get a hit for the first time since the season opener, said, "I was shut out by a great little pitcher [Tommy Bridges] and am not ashamed." Said Luke Appling, "It's a great pleasure to play in a game like yesterday's. I don't worry about getting no hits when we can win games like that one."

Harold Newhouser, 19 year old Tiger southpaw who was slated to pitch today, was withdrawn when it was found a finger blister hadn't healed.

The Sox will be home thru May 26. They are scheduled to play two with the Red Sox, two with the Yankees, three with the Senators, two with the Athletics, and three with the Tigers before they go to St. Louis to play the Browns three days and then proceed to Cleveland, Boston, New York, Washington, and Philadelphia.

AMERICAN SHIP BUILDING HOLDS AT HIGH LEVEL

281 Vessels Under Way or Ordered.

New York, May 12 [Special].—Merchant shipbuilding in the United States continues to exceed the million ton mark. The American bureau of shipping announced today that on May 1 a total of 281 vessels aggregating 1,387,635 gross tons was under construction or contracted for, compared with 265 vessels of 1,311,985 tons on April 1, or a gain of 16 ships of 75,650 tons. The figures cover merchant vessels of 1,000 gross tons or more.

Of the big fleet of vessels now building or under contract, 155 of 1,294,560 gross tons are seagoing vessels; 117 of 48,085 tons are miscellaneous craft. Among the others, one of 6,000 tons will be operated on the Great Lakes.

All Districts Are Busy.

The latest report shows that nearly every shipbuilding section in the United States is participating in the program. High speed modern vessels of various types and sizes are in various stages of construction. When they join new vessels that entered service last year the American merchant marine will be well on the road to rehabilitation, it was said.

Largest and fastest of the vessels listed by the bureau is the United States Lines' new flagship America, now receiving her finishing touches at Newport News. A vessel of 24,800 gross tons, with a speed in excess of 22 knots, she is expected to be turned over to her owners in July. The company has applied to the maritime commission for permission to operate her between New York and Italy, one of the few trade routes left open to American ships of her type.

Includes Many Kinds.

The list of ships now building also includes six combination passenger-cargo liners for the Mississippi Shipping company; eight cargo vessels for the American Export Line; six cargo vessels for the Seas Shipping company [Robin Line]; 15 C-3 type passenger-cargo liners ordered by the maritime commission for various operators; 18 C-3 type cargo vessels ordered by the commission, and 40 C-2 cargo ships for the commission. The commission also has ordered 34 C-1B cargo vessels, and four C-1A cargo ships.

Also included in the list are 20 oil tankers of various sizes and speeds.

Diamond Price Rise Expected as War Result

New York, May 12 [Special].—A big rise in the world prices of diamonds is expected by New York gem dealers as a result of the invasion of Belgium and the Netherlands, where most of the world's diamonds are cut. The increased war threat to London, which has long been the distribution center for diamonds, also is an influence.

The New York diamond market was so confused at the week-end that nearly all offerings were withdrawn. Most merchants withheld dealings in the precious stones because of uncertainty as to where the price of diamonds would go, it was said.

Prices Already Higher.

The price had already risen 12½ to 25 per cent above the pre-war level, it was said, because of the limited British embargo on diamond exports and the war-inspired labor shortage among diamond cutters.

Several dealers believe that New York is likely to become the world diamond trading center because of the disruption of business affairs in Antwerp, Amsterdam, and London.

May Make Direct Shipments.

L. H. Sterne, head of the largest American concern of importer-cutters, admitted there was a possibility that large amounts of raw diamonds may be shipped directly to the United States from South Africa for the first time.

William E. Marcus, head of another large diamond firm, said that the depreciation of European currencies would spur the buying of diamonds for investment and trading purposes. These activities doubled the price of diamonds in the late stages of the world war, he recalled.

JAPANESE SHIPS TAKE BIG OIL LOAD AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, May 12 [Special].—Almost 500,000 barrels of petroleum will be loaded aboard five Japanese tankers at Los Angeles harbor, much of which is destined for the imperial Japanese navy, it was learned today.

Leading the vessels is the whaling factory tanker Itukusima Maru. She went today to Estero bay to load 147,000 barrels of high gravity crude oil.

FOREIGN DOLLAR BOND DEFAULTS REPORTED LARGE

New York, May 12 [Special].—Of the $6,091,667,044 of foreign dollar bonds publicly outstanding on Dec. 31, last, $3,745,501,598, or 61.49 per cent, received debt service in full; $2,322,068,146, or 38.12 per cent, was in default on interest, and $24,097,300, or 0.39 per cent, was in default on sinking fund. This is shown in a study to be published tomorrow by Dean John T. Madden, director of the Institute of International Finance of New York university.

"Latin America accounted for 54.3 per cent, and Europe for 40.9 per cent of the total defaulted bonds," the report says. Almost 74 per cent of outstanding Latin-American bonds and about 58 per cent of outstanding European bonds were in default on interest.

HOUSING LOANS DECLARED WAY TO MANY JOBS

Washington, D. C., May 12 (AP).—The United States Housing authority estimated today that jobs for about a million workers in building trades and allied industries would be provided if all unfilled requests for low-rent housing loans were granted. The authority said the requests totaled $1,006,900,000 and that it could not act on them until congress authorized additional loan funds.

Rep. Voorhis [D., Cal.], renewed a request that congress create a $3,000,000,000 loan fund which he said would revive the public works program, stimulate home construction, and aid migrant families.

OIL PRODUCING COMPANY'S NET PROFIT HIGHER

Texas Gulf Producing company had net income after all charges and federal taxes of $182,765 in the first quarter, compared with $137,250 in the 1939 quarter, W. J. Norton, vice president, reported yesterday.

On the 888,146 shares outstanding the income was equal to 20 cents a share, against 15 cents a share in the first three months last year, Norton said. The company has extensive oil fields in Texas.

Net income of the company for the 12 months ended March 31 was $660,185, compared with $721,352 in the preceding 12 months.

WHEAT CROPS ESTIMATED NEAR NATION'S NEEDS

Big Holding of Loan Corn Troublesome.

Production of wheat in the United States this season will be nearly equal to domestic requirements unless there is a decided change in conditions, Chicago crop experts said yesterday. The department of agriculture last week estimated the winter wheat yield at 460,000,000 bushels.

Based on the prospective acreage to be seeded to spring wheat and an average yield per acre, it is believed that a crop of 200,000,000 bushels of that variety of grain will be harvested. This with the winter wheat yield would give an aggregate of about 660,000,000 bushels for the 1940-'41 season, or only 10,000,000 bushels below estimated needs of the country.

Concerned Over Loan Corn.

Government officials are reported much concerned over the large amount of corn that is pledged as security for loans. Grain traders assert this holding is about 550,000,000 bushels, including 90,000,000 bushels which are owned outright by the government. Chicago statisticians estimate about 675,000,000 bushels of corn will be carried over at the end of the current season, including the loan grain, the largest amount on record. The carryover at the end of the 1938-'39 season was 575,000,000 bushels.

Announcement that the government would subsidize the exportation of corn to the United Kingdom and other countries started a buying movement last week in futures which carried prices to a new high level since September, 1937. This sent the price on the Chicago Board of Trade to a level that would permit paying farmers 60 cents or more a bushel for No. 2 yellow, or 3 cents above the loan price. Offerings of the grain, however, were relatively light.

Steel Industry Expects Aid from Larger Foreign Buying

Steel interests believe that the active warfare in Europe will intensify foreign demand for steel and munitions in this country, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

"While United States exports to the Netherlands and Belgium will be affected adversely," Steel said, "spreading of the war will not only cripple steel markets recently served by the latter but also will accentuate the allies' requirements of material and equipment."

Belgium and the Netherlands had largely increased their imports of iron and steel from the United States, according to the magazine. First quarter shipments totaled 62,755 tons compared with 129,364 tons in all of 1939.

Domestic Market Improves.

"Moderate improvement in the domestic steel markets continues," Steel said, "with ingot production up 3 points to 66½ per cent of capacity in the sharpest rise this year. A further increase is indicated for this week.

"Since buyers already have fairly large inventories and unchanged prices are in immediate prospect, there is less occasion than prevailed last September for future coverage in anticipation of effects of the European situation.

"Heavier demand for sheets and strip, and small gains, principally seasonal, in sales of other products, furnish most of the impetus to the upturn in steelmaking. Output last week was nearly 20 points above the rate a year ago, when operations were at the 1939 low.

May Decline Next Quarter.

"Attempts of mills to complete shipments by June 30, the deadline on business taken at cut prices of all flat rolled steel business, are quickening production, but will result in lessened activity next quarter unless heavier demand for other products is forthcoming the next seven weeks."

A prospective letdown in automotive needs during the third quarter is another adverse factor in the outlook for the period, the magazine said.

Except for a 6 point drop to 88 per cent capacity at Wheeling, most of the districts recorded higher steelmaking rates last week, including a gain of 6 points to 65½ per cent at Chicago, Steel reported.

COAL LOADERS.

What is the business of the Joy Manufacturing company? Is it a new company? Kindly send me a report on the firm.—M. A.

Answer: The Joy Manufacturing company is a large producer of coal loading and conveying machinery used in underground mines. More than 70 per cent of the mobile coal loading machines sold to the bituminous coal industry from 1934 thru 1938 was made by this company, according to the bureau of mines.

The manufacturing process of the company consists of light machining, fabricating, and assembling of parts made for it by other companies. Plants are located in Franklin, Pa.

The company was incorporated in February, 1939, in Pennsylvania and last September succeeded to the business of a Delaware corporation which had been operating more than 10 years under the same name.

The present firm has outstanding 384,100 shares of $1 par common stock and funded debt of $529,475. The stock is not listed. A quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share was paid on the new company's stock March 15. Dividends on the predecessor firm's stock totaled 75 cents a share in 1939.

Net income of the present company and its predecessor in 1939 was $820,415, equal to $2.14 a share, compared with $364,908, or 95 cents a share, in 1938.

CURRENT POSITION.

What is meant by current assets and current liabilities? By net working capital and current ratio?—H. K.

Answer: Current assets consist of cash, inventories, accounts, and notes receivable and marketable securities which can be converted into cash within a short time without impairing a company's business. Assets which cannot be liquidated within a year ordinarily are not included in current assets.

Current liabilities are debts and bills payable within a short period and include notes and accounts payable, accrued pay rolls, declared dividends, interest, rent, and taxes. Current liabilities, or floating debt, usually refer to obligations which mature within a year.

Working capital consists of current assets which turn into cash during the normal course of business. Net working capital is indicated by deducting current liabilities from current assets. The current ratio is obtained by dividing current assets by current liabilities and is used often to indicate the liquidity of a company's financial position.

HOME BUILDING AWARDS HIGHEST SINCE LATE IN 1929

New York, May 12 (AP).—Residential building contracts awarded in April in the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains totaled $135,420,000, highest since October, 1929, and a rise of 18 per cent from April, 1939, F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

Private ownership construction, as distinct from publicly financed projects, amounted to $119,706,000, or 88 per cent of the total. This type of construction was the highest since a separate record was begun by the Dodge corporation, building statistical concern, in 1932.

In the nonresidential class commercial building rose 13 per cent from last year and manufacturing construction 35 per cent. Public construction activities, on the other hand, lagged 35 per cent, which put the total volume for all types of building 9 per cent behind 1939.

S. W. O. C. PARLEY TO STUDY UNION MERGER PLAN

Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, said last night that a proposal to dissolve the S. W. O. C. and merge its members with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will be placed before the S. W. O. C. convention here tomorrow. Both organizations are affiliates of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Murray said the merger plan has been submitted to the Amalgamated association's convention, which is in session in Pittsburgh, Pa. The S. W. O. C. has been organizing steel industry workers since 1936 under an agreement with the Amalgamated association.

The S. W. O. C. convention will open tomorrow in the Morrison hotel. John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., will address the meeting Wednesday.

PATTERN OF WAR PUTS ITS MARK ON TRADE FIELD

Nazi Blows Register on Markets.

New York, May 12 (AP).—The war pattern was stamped more incisively on American business last week as markets registered the shock of the German blow at the low countries.

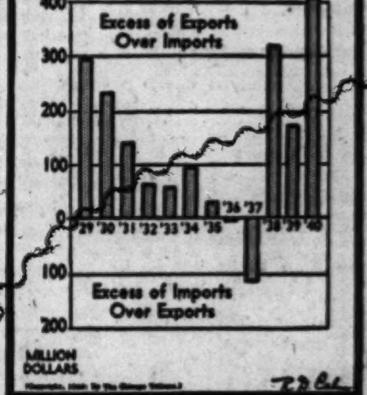

Emphasized by the spread of the struggle to the Netherlands and Belgium were these major wartime trends in trade, industry, and finance:

1. Loss of foreign markets for American farm products, contrasting with a shift of demand for manufactured goods to this country from warring nations.

2. A relatively faster rise in prices of imported commodities, like rubber and tin, which helps provide dollar exchange for purchase of United States factory products.

Much Cash Is "Frozen."

3. Freezing of many hundreds of millions of dollars in bank balances and other liquid assets in this country.

4. Stimulus to war industry in the United States as heavy fighting speeds the pace of destruction in Europe and forces the allies to step up war supply buying.

5. Widening of the opportunity for the American merchant marine to replace foreign ships withdrawn for war service or driven into port for safekeeping.

Whether the net effect of the war shifts in trade would be loss or gain for industry in this country remained Breeding Ewes Sheared.

May 12, 1940.

THE 82 ewes in the breeding flock at the Du Page county farm were sheared last week and the fleeces stored in a shed with those removed from 22 yearling ewes and a ram early in March. The 105 fleeces will be sold at the first opportunity.

Ordinarily the breeding ewes are not sheared until early in June, but it was more convenient to have them clipped earlier this year before the custom shearer who did the work left for Virginia to clip several thousand fleeces on some large sheep farms there.

4 Average Nearly 7 Pounds.

Not all the wool has been weighed, but four of the best fleeces averaged nearly seven pounds. The average for the entire flock is expected to be less. Not since 1936 have the fleeces averaged more than six pounds. That year some of them weighed more than nine pounds and the average was nearly seven pounds. All the sheep at the farm are Southdowns, a small breed that usually produces the lightest wool clip of any of the common breeds.

The sheep were kept in the barn for two days before they were sheared to make sure the wool would be dry. The flockmaster says the wool is of good quality.

Each fleece was rolled separately into a neat bundle, flesh side out, and tied with paper twine as it came from the sheep. Paper twine always is used for tying the fleeces because it seldom sticks to the wool and any that does stick is removed in the manufacturing process without injuring the fleece. Wool tied with binder twine usually sells for less than that tied with paper twine.

Fleeces tied with sisal, hemp, jute, or binder twine are said to make cloth of poor quality. These materials shed loose fibers in the wool that appear as defects in the finished products. They are considered especially troublesome in colored fabrics because they are vegetable fibers and do not take dyes to the same degree as the wool.

Prefer Clean Fleeces.

Farmers find that wool buyers much prefer fleeces that are clean and that have been handled carefully in shearing. A smooth board floor that is dry and clean is considered the best place for shearing sheep. It is virtually impossible to keep the fleeces clean when the sheep are clipped on bare ground.

The ewes and lambs at the farm have been on pasture most of the time for more than two weeks. They are getting small amounts of dry feed. Alfalfa hay is put in the racks for them when they come into the barn at night. The lambs are fed whole oats and a little shelled corn in creeps. Grass in the pastures now is getting tall enough to furnish a fair amount of grazing.

Ever pass a lighthouse in good weather? Its bulky strength seems out of place as it towers above the quiet waters at its base. But lighthouses are not supposed to be just fair weather friends. Neither is insurance. Both must withstand the severest storms imaginable ... or they are worse than useless. When everything is going smoothly almost any old insurance policy will do. However, weaknesses may not show up until serious trouble actually strikes.

Ability to meet severe strain is the acid test of insurance protection. W. A. Alexander & Company has been in the insurance business for 55 years. No company represented by us during that time has failed. That unparalleled record is the result of adherence to sound principles all of the time, not merely when storm signals are showing. Let the Alexander man provide storm-proof insurance for you before the storm. Why not call him today?

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

The Committee of The Chicago Community Trust:

We have examined the statements as to assets of the several funds created, and held by Trustees, for The Chicago Community Trust as of December 31, 1939, and the statements of income for the year ended that date and, without making a detailed audit of the transactions, have examined or tested accounting records of the various funds and other supporting evidence by methods and to the extent we deemed appropriate.

The amounts of securities and cash at December 31, 1939, were evidenced by certifications of the various Trustees. Interest and dividend income of the various funds, as shown by records of the various Trustees, were tested against published statistics, and all disbursements for charitable purposes approved by the Trustees were found to be in agreement with the recorded proceedings of the Committee.

In accordance with the established practice of the Committee, no consideration has been given to the differences between book values and present market values of real estate and securities owned. The books are kept on a cash receipts and disbursements basis.

In our opinion, subject to the foregoing, the above statements fairly present, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, the assets and principal of the Trust at December 31, 1939, and the results of its operations for the year ended that date.

PATTERN OF WAR PUTS ITS MARK ON TRADE FIELD

Markets Register Shock of German Blows.

to be seen. The stock market plainly was confused, with many stocks declining and others advancing on the chance of war profits.

Analysts awaited the April and May foreign trade figures to give an inkling of what the latest war moves mean for commerce. Foreign markets for something like 400 million dollars annually in manufacturing and farm products were blocked by the inclusion of Scandinavia and the low countries in the fighting zones.

As some authorities size prospects from today's view, the tendency may be to cement closer trade relations between the United States and its neighbors to the north and south. They believe American exporters are in line to gain at least part of the markets formerly supplied by Holland and Belgium, which exported a variety of manufactured goods in return for raw materials and foodstuffs.

Exports Are Large.

In the first seven months of the war exports from the United States rose to the highest point in a decade. Shipments of aircraft, metals, tools, machinery, and chemicals in demand for war more than made up for the loss in tobacco, fruits, and grains. Now trade quarters express doubt whether the export gains can be maintained or extended in the immediate future unless allied war buying expands quickly.

Exporters, it was said, would feel more optimistic about chances of increasing markets in Latin America, Africa, and Asia if they could figure out where those areas could obtain dollar exchange to pay for purchases.

The advance in prices of rubber, tin, cocoa, wool, and other imported materials may put many millions of dollars of additional exchange into the hands of nonwarring countries to settle trade accounts with Uncle Sam. Against this prospect, however, exporters weigh the possibilities of a shipping shortage curtailing imports.

Business Interests Confused.

Bright and dark contrasts in the American trade picture, enhanced by the German drive for a showdown on the western front, left business interests confused about immediate prospects. The shock of the war news last Friday, the most important in its trade implications since the start of the struggle last September, came as steel and other industries were showing the first real signs of a spring turn toward improvement.

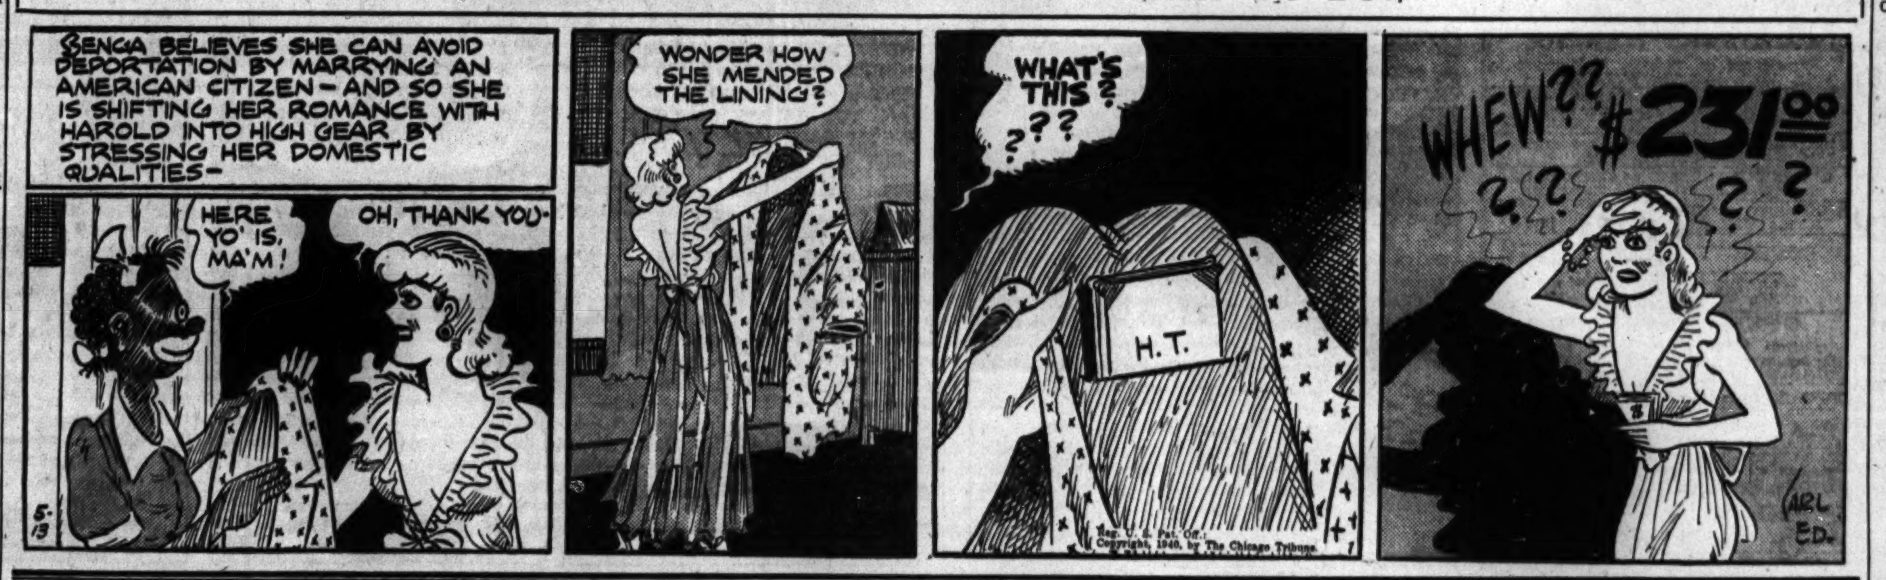

The German coup in Denmark and Norway in April nipped what appeared to be cautious adventuring in American markets and business for resumption of industrial recovery.
